A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT Little Boy of Seven Kills His Nine Year Old Sister Playing Indian

Eastport, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Mary, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Garrett of Watermill, was shot and instantly killed at her home, her seven-year-old brother, while playing "Indian," having killed her. Her father, who is a longshoreman, had neglected to remove the cartridges from his shot-gun after returning from a hunting trip and had allowed the weapon to remain standing in the corner of the kitchen. About three o'clock, when the parents were in an adjoining room, Thomas in a playful mood, said to his sister: "Let's play Indian," and after seizing the gun and stepping off into one corner, aimed it at his little playmate and pulled the trigger. A loud report followed and Mary fell to the floor, the top of her head blown off by the charge. The mother, who heard the discharge, rushed into the room and almost fainted at the sight of the harrowing spectacle. Thomas is almost insensible of the gravity of his act through grief at the loss of his sister, and sobs piteously over her death.

A FEVER HERO DEAD

Dr. White Issues Proclamation Discontinuing Rid of Mosquitoes and Fumigation—No Longer Necessary

New Orleans, Oct. 10.—Dr. White issued today a proclamation discontinuing the oiling of cisterns and all other measures for getting rid of the mosquitoes and all general work of fumigation. He gave notice that the house-to-house inspection, which has heretofore been carried on, will be abandoned after October 15. These changes are made on the ground that the fever is so well under control that the sanitary work formerly required is no longer necessary. The fever is now restricted to a very few well established foci, which can be watched by the marine hospital service, and any further spread of the disease prevented. The order throws some four hundred dollars and fumigators out of employment.

The river problem is considered the greatest obstacle, but is believed not to be insurmountable.

MONTANA WILL WAIT

State Auditor Cunningham, in an interview, said: "I have no comment to make on the action of the insurance commissioners of Nevada and Missouri, but so far as Montana is concerned I will await the completion of the examination in order to have proper foundation upon which to act. Revoking the license of a company at this time would not help matters."

McAllister, officials and directors of the American Tobacco Company, who declined to answer questions put by the federal grand jury at New York, in an investigation of charges of conspiracy in restraint of trade, and were held in contempt of court for their refusal. They based their action on the ground that the testimony might tend to incriminate them and appealed from the judgment of the federal court that that did not constitute a valid excuse for declining to testify.

MUTUAL LIFE'S CONTRIBUTION

$90,000 for Last Three Campaigns to Republican Fund

CONFIDENTIAL SERVICES

$100,000 a Year for at Least Two Years Turned Over to Mutual's Gen'l Solicitor for "Confidential" Legal Services of Whose Details Officers Professed Ignorance

New York, Oct. 10.—The Mutual Life Insurance Company contributed $90,000 to the Republican national campaign fund in the three last campaigns. This fact was disclosed today at the hearing before the Armstrong insurance committee. Of the total amount $40,000, or $8,000 less than was contributed by the New York Life, went to the campaign of 1904. The Mutual's payment in 1900 was $35,000 and in 1896 $15,000. President Richard A. McCurdy and Vice Presidents Robert A. Grannis and Walter R. Gillette of the Mutual, who were examined today, each declared that in his opinion the contributions were justifiable as a means of protecting the policyholders' interests against the free silver menace and the St. Louis platform. It was shown further today that amounts aggregating $100,000 a year had been turned over for at least two years to the Mutual's general solicitor for use in "confidential" legal services. The officers examined professed entire ignorance of any of the details of these confidential services. They had the most implicit faith in the company's general solicitor, E. L. Short, and paid him the money upon his request without any question. Mr. Short is dead now.

GOOD WEEK FOR PICKING

Little Change in Cotton Condition, But Some Deterioration Noted

Washington, Oct. 10.—The weather bureau issued today the following report on the condition of cotton: Over most of the cotton belt the weather conditions during the greater part of the week ending October 9 were favorable for picking cotton. Rains interrupted picking, however, during the early part of the week in portions of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida and in local areas in Alabama and South Carolina. The reports indicate that the general condition of cotton over most of the cotton area is but slightly changed as compared with the previous week. A slight deterioration is shown in Florida and in portions of the central and western districts, where insects have been very destructive, the boll weevils being reported in increased numbers in Texas. In central Texas and in portions of Oklahoma, Alabama, Georgia and Florida open cotton was damaged by rain, which also caused sprouting of bolls in portions of Mississippi and Louisiana. The average condition of tobacco on October 1 was 85.8, as compared with 85.1 one month ago; 85.6 on October 1, 1904; 82.3 on October 1, 1903, and a five year average of 88.1.
