FISHED UP MAN'S HEAD

Another Revolting Murder Mystery in N. Y.

Head Identified and Balance of Body Found Butchered and Packed in Suit Case—Story of a Fellow Lodger Recited

New York, Oct. 12.—The finding of a man's head in East Eighteenth street, near C, early this morning resulted in the discovery of an unusually revolting murder, the victim of which was Thomas F. Corcoran. Corcoran was killed probably last night in the house No. 149 Third avenue.

After the picking up of the head the other portions of the body were found cut to pieces in the Third avenue house. The arms below the elbows and the legs below the knees had been packed in a suit case, and the torso and remaining portions of the arms and legs were hidden in a clothes hamper in a room occupied by Frederick Bauer, an elevator operator. Bauer was arrested.

The point at which the head was found is more than a quarter of a mile away from 149 Third avenue. The head was wrapped in the Sunday supplement of a German newspaper and a blue and white shirt.

The murder was discovered through a story told by George Lanole, who had a room adjoining Bauer's and who rushed into a police station today, saying that he had lain awake for hours listening to noises which he thought proceeded from Bauer's room.

Early this morning he was awakened by strange noises in the room where the shot had been heard. Twice a man opened the door and went out and Lanole, after laying awake, listened for some time and decided that some of the sounds he heard were the noises of bones being broken. This suspicion caused him to notify the police.

Bauer was found entering his room by the police, and said to them: "I found my room like this when I awoke this morning." He said that he had brought two men to his room last night, one a soldier. Bauer fell asleep while these men talked, he said, and when he awoke the soldier was gone, leaving the other body as the police found it.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 12.—The continued crying of a ten-months-old baby caused the police to break in the door of a tenement at 249 Wickenden street today. GARVIN FOR GOVERNOR

The Rhode Island Democrats Name State Ticket

The Gubernatorial Nominee Once Carried the State and May Do So Again—Platform Congratulates Roosevelt on Tariff Position

Providence, R. I., Oct. 12.—The Democrats held their annual state convention in infantry hall today again calling former Governor Lucius F. C. Garvin of Cumberland to head the ticket as the gubernatorial candidate.

Former State Senator James H. Thurston of this city was nominated for lieutenant-governor; Frank E. Fitzsimmons of Lincoln, for secretary of state; Thomas A. Carroll of this city for attorney general; and Albert H. Olney of this city for general treasurer.

Swinging along with the Massachusetts Democrats, the party leaders' platform presented to the convention lauded President Roosevelt for his stand on the tariff question, whereupon one delegate moved that the platform be referred back to the committee, stating that the Democrats had enough heroes within their ranks without going over to the opponents' camp to laud President Roosevelt, whom he said had accomplished no reforms and had only tried to arouse sentiment against race suicide and to change football tactics.

The committee was in session about two hours, and finally the deliberation settled down to a choice between Frank Moss and Mr. Ivans. The committee picked Ivans.

Most of the members of the committee went to Mr. Ivans' office with Mr. Halpin, who, as chairman of the committee, formally told Mr. Ivans he had been chosen to run for mayor on the Republican ticket.

A FINE SCHEME THIS

An Irish Idea of Growing Cheap Cotton for Irish Mills.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 12.—Rev. James Phelan, a Catholic priest of Kansas City, Mo., and Rev. John Phelan, in charge of the Catholic parish at Marcus, Ia., after spending yesterday and last night in Dallas consulting with the priests here, departed today for San Antonio, Texas, with the object of closing up pending negotiations for the purchase of fifty-five thousand acres of land in Live Oak and San Dadrillo counties, Texas, on which to colonize Irish immigrants and engage them principally in the cultivation of cotton, the raw material to be shipped to Ireland for use in the mills of that country, which are now supplied at almost prohibitive prices from warehouses in Liverpool.

The tract of land intended to be purchased, was two years or more ago, believed to have been sold to Japanese investors for colonization, but with the result of the Russo-Japanese war was abandoned by the Japanese promoters. If the Irish colony to be established stands, others will, it is stated, be located in that part of Texas.

CONFEDERATE MONUMENT

Private Citizen Contributes to Make It More Imposing

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 12.—Special. Philip S. Henry, owner of the palatial "Zealandia" estate on the mountain crest east of the city, has again shown in material manner the interest he takes in Asheville and affairs of a public and semi-public nature.

Today Mr. Henry visited the Confederate hall in the county court house and asked permission to add to the height of the Confederate monument that is being erected on the court house green to the memory of the Sixtieth North Carolina Regiment by the Asheville Daughters of the Confederacy and the friends of the veterans. Mr. Henry proposed to build a marble pedestal under the marble design, thus raising the monument an additional six feet. He expressed a purpose of expending $20 on the work. The offer was gratefully accepted. The unveiling of the monument will occur November 8th.

General Ray is in receipt of a letter from Governor Glenn in which the governor accepts an invitation to be present at the unveiling exercises and to deliver an address on the occasion. Col. W. H. S. Burgwyn and State Auditor B. F. Dixon have accepted invitations to be present at the unveiling.
