

NEW DEAL IN FEDERAL JOBS

Rollins Slated For District Attorney Holton's Place

BUTLER FOR CHAIRMAN

Charley Reynolds After Collector Harkins' Official Shoes—But the Asheville Machine May Oppose Removal of Office From that Place. Some Interesting Political Gossip

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 14.—Special. According to information gleaned from a source which has hitherto been found reliable, some interesting things are going on just beneath the surface in the Republican household. Two or three Republicans of prominence are known to have made visits to Washington during the past few days, and while speaking of these "stall hunts" about the national capital it is noteworthy that Republican State Chairman Thomas S. Rollins is now in that city.

There is a revival of talk to the effect that a slate has been arranged for the distribution of federal patronage in the Old North State some time between now and the first of the year, or about the time congress convenes. It is now taken for granted that all the nominations for the important offices in the state will be made at the same time and a batch of them will be sent to the senate for confirmation.

The latest political gossip has it that the Hon. C. A. Reynolds, the former lieutenant governor, is slated for the collectorship for this the fifth internal revenue district to succeed Collector H. S. Harkins. This report is without a doubt given credence in some quarters, for it has occasioned no little uneasiness hereabouts. It is said that while the appointment of Mr. Reynolds to this most attractive of the federal berths in this state is altogether agreeable to Chairman Rollins, the chairman nevertheless insists that he would resist the proposition to remove the collector's office from Asheville to Winston, and in conversation with friends professes to have no fear that this will be done.

But the reporter was asked to remember that both Collectors Mott and Cooper were able to keep the collector's office in their home town, Statesville, at a time when there was no government building at that place. Furthermore, it is pointed out that when Major Rollins was appointed to the collectorship in Asheville he was able to bring the office to his home town without reference to a government building, and leased quarters from Hampton & Featherston of this city.

These things being true, it is urged that a reason more valid than the question of the residence of the collector might be advanced in the effort to secure the removal of the office to Winston, at which point is transacted the bulk of the revenue tobacco business. Now the political aspect of this situation to which some object is that the act of the state organization in conceding the collectorship to Mr. Reynolds would mean the ultimate removal of the office to Winston and leave the tenth district exceedingly shy on patronage. Such a deal as this, it is declared, would be too much like selling out the home folks.

The slate alluded to is also believed to call for the appointment of State Chairman Rollins as district attorney and the state chairman is said to have already given Mr. Holton an intimation of the program agreed upon.

This, it is asserted by at least one politician in a position to be advised, has had as much to do with bringing on Mr. Rollins' nervous breakdown as has the physical and mental efforts of that gentleman in prosecuting the revenue officers under indictment, for it is known that the district attorney has made a desperate fight to prolong his tenure of office. There is also some talk to the effect that former Senator Butler will, in the event of Mr. Rollins' appointment as district attorney, be given the state chairmanship, but this is a matter of conjecture.

In this connection it might be stated that Spencer B. Adams has been suggested as Mr. Rollins' successor. However, as has already been stated, this matter of chairmanship is still open, but it is believed to be true that the other features of the program mentioned will be found to be as stated.

Any way, the slate has already excited some active antagonism in the inner party circles and an effort will be made to break this compact even if necessary to carry the fight to the White House.

Neptism will be one of the chief points raised against this arrangement and an effort will be made to show that the distribution of federal patronage in this part of the moral vineyard has been too much of a family affair. If the candidacy of Chairman Rollins for the district attorneyship should develop it is certain that there will be a number of claimants for the office of postmaster in Asheville, now held by Maj. W. W. Rollins, father of State Chairman Rollins.

Speaking of matters nearer home, it is stated on authority, that three de-capitations will occur in the collector's office on November 1. Messrs. Grant, Chandley and Hallyburton will be the victims. These gentlemen will be succeeded by C. B. Moore of Asheville, J. Will Roberts of Madison county and Mr. Sisk of Macon county. In fact, a report is going the rounds to the effect that Maj. Grant tendered his resignation a few days ago and it is doubtful whether he will wait for the axe to fall before detaching himself from the service.

LIQUOR IN GOLDSBORO

(Continued from page 1.) even have to make the request. The railroads are willing and anxious to give the depot to which it is entitled if it can be done without creating too much friction. All three of the roads which come here—the Atlantic Coast Line, the Southern and the Atlantic and North Carolina—take on and discharge more passengers at Goldsboro than at any station on their lines, and they have the poorest accommodation. The present bad arrangement causes a loss of time. As it is now, the principal street in the town is blocked for a greater part of the time during the day with freight trains and shifting engines, and when the Southern brings its through freights through Goldsboro, as it is understood they will do, our most important street will be filled with freight cars all day. With these facts before them it would seem that the property owners who oppose the depot are simply in their own light.

TARHEELS DIDN'T SCORE

(Continued from Page One.) of Robertson was very weak, 10 to 25 yards being his average punts. That was a handicap to the visitors and also helped Pennsylvania in running up her score which she did easily. Sheble's punting was strong, he averaging 50 yards with ease. The red and blue did not work hard at any stage, but took things easy and tried a number of experiments, rehearsing some new plays and formations.

Had the Pennsylvanians exerted themselves they could have scored more points.

INDIANS DEFEAT VIRGINIA

The Univ. of Va. Team Goes Down Before the Carlisle Aggregation

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14.—Eight thousand people, the majority of them the Virginians' sympathizers, witnessed the University of Virginia go down in defeat this afternoon by the Redskins from Carlisle. The Indians outclassed the Virginians at every point of the game and forced them to work on the defensive throughout the hour of play. The Indians aggregated in weight one thousand pounds more than their opponents, which superior weight had a telling effect upon the result of the game. In the opinion of experts who witnessed the Titanic struggle the Virginians put up a masterful defensive. The resistance of the Virginians was superb throughout the game. They were never, however, at any time enabled to break through the strong line of opposition confronting them. Carlisle's play indicated that Virginia was outclassed. All of the work was in the territory of the Virginians, her opponent's goal at no time being in danger. During the first half the Indians held the ball for twenty consecutive downs without having lost an inch of ground. The ball was kept in motion continually throughout the game, with some good bucking on the part of the Virginia and with penalties against the Redskins on two occasions, but in each instance the lost ground was regained shortly by the Indians. The Virginians held strongly towards the last and met the savage onslaught of the Indians bravely, but it was of no avail. The Indians with their superior weight swept everything before them. Many sensational plays were made and the tackling and interference was superb for both sides. The Virginians are regarded as having done remarkably well to hold down the score to a fairly close figure. The final score was 12 to 0 in favor of Carlisle, half of the score being made in each half of the game. The Virginians on the whole are satisfied with the result.

The crowd which witnessed the game was one of the largest which ever attended a game in the city. While the crowd as a whole sympathized with the Virginians they did not fail to applaud the good work of the Indians. The line-up: Virginia. Positions. Indians. Norfolk, Va., Oct. 14.—Charles Sharp, formerly the most distinguished lawyer at this bar, was found dead in his bed this morning. He was 76 years old and had been in feeble health, but he was feeling fairly well when he retired last night. He was born in Norfolk and had lived here all of his life. During the war he was in the Confederate service and was on the Merrimac during her fight with the Monitor. His children are William Sharp and Mrs. Grant, the wife of Commander A. W. Grant, U. S. N., of the Annapolis Naval Academy. His brothers are Capt. William Sharp of the Confederate army and the United States army and Rev. Henry T. Sharp of the Episcopal Church, Baltimore.

VA. TECHS VS. WEST POINT

The Army Football Team Defeated by Score of 15 to 6

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The Army went down today before the Virginia Polytechnic team to the tune of 15 to 6. The visitors outweighed the soldiers and ploughed through their line for steady gains. Carpenter and Treadwell circled the ends repeatedly for long runs. In the first half the army scarcely held the ball at all, and never once threatened the southerners' goal. In justice to the army it must be said they were weakened by the loss of Erwin, Weeks, Wilhelm and Beavers. The visitors made their first score on a pretty placement kick from the twenty-five-yard line by Carpenter, who was the star of the game. The army scored in the second half, getting the ball on the fifteen-yard line by a fumble. They, by hard line work, sent Christy over, Torney "kicking" the goal. The game was delayed greatly by the continuous laying out of a Virginia man. West Point. Position. Virginia. Free Fight at This Game

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 14.—The game between Trinity and the New York University, played here today, was scoreless and was productive of the most disgraceful scenes ever witnessed on a football field. After Connell, of the visiting team, had failed in an attempt to kick a field goal in the first half, Trinity's attempts to put him out of the play resulted in a free fight in which captain Crain of New York was bitten by a Trinity player. As a result of this foul business New York University will cut off all athletic relations with the Harvard College. The game itself was poor.

IRVING'S POPULARITY

Personally One of the Most Beloved of Englishmen

London, Oct. 14.—The death of no man in England save the king himself could have made such a deep impression as that of Sir Henry Irving. This is not because he was a great actor. But his personality as a man was better known and perhaps more beloved than that of any other Englishman. The press, for once departing from its usual restraint, is extravagant and indiscriminate in its tribute to his genius. He is pronounced in almost all cases the greatest actor of his day.

In the final act of Beckett, when he fell on the altar steps of the cathedral crying: "Into thy hands, O Lord, into Thy hands," Henry was slow in rising. An attendant after the fall of the curtain went to his assistance and found him cold. He did not reply to a question as to whether there was anything the matter, but rose and went to his dressing room. On being assisted from the cab outside his hotel Sir Henry faltered in an exhausted condition and it was noticed that he leaned heavily on the arm of an attendant. On reaching the hall he said: "Give me a chair." These were the last words he uttered. A chair was provided, but as his condition became worse he died before the arrival of the doctors without a murmur or any other indication of pain. The body was placed on a train at Bradford tonight and will arrive in London early Sunday morning. A movement is on foot among the admirers of the actor to secure the burial of the body in Westminster Abbey.

The majority of women are nervous because they suffer from some form of female disease.

The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that catarrh is the main source of their illness.

Women who are in doubt as to their ailments should write to Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O. Give him a full description of your symptoms, previous treatment and age. He will promptly reply with full directions for treatment, free of charge.
