Carolina men and women, went out to the park this afternoon and, favored by bright weather, dedicated the four memorials to the valor of the regiments from the Old North State.

Special cars from Chattanooga were provided for the nine governors and other delegates attending the immigration and quarantine conference, but on arrival at the park the North Carolina party devoted itself first to the work of dedicating and afterwards witnessed the special drill of the Twelfth cavalry and attended luncheon in the gymnasium of the barracks of the Twelfth.

The memorials are of white marble, standing about five feet in height. The one first dedicated was that to the Sixteenth regiment, being in the Kelly field ,where there was severe fighting and where this regiment advanced nearer the federal troops' lines than any other. Governor Glenn and the party were photographed at this point, flanking the monument. Among those Judge Avery were Col. J. M. Ray, who commanded the regiment in the attack and who was wounded in fifty yards of the monument site; N. Buckner, M. C. Toms, H. A. Chambers, J. C. Steele, Maj. G. W. F. Harper, G. W. Hinshaw, Adjt. Gen. Thomas R. Robertson, Fred A. Olds, Thomas K. Bruner, F. B. Arendell, E. H. Crump, N. Buckner, Jr., Mesdames Junius Burt, M. C. Tous S. V. Pickens and R. M. Clayton, and Miss Hortense Toms. The party was in charge of H. A. Chambers, whose home is now in Chattanooga and who paid the North Carolinians unceasing attention. Judge Avery told the brie

but stirring story of the battle at this point. Then the marker to the Fiftyeighth regiment was dedicated, Maj. G. W. F. Harper of that regiment explaining its part in the battle, E. H. Crump being the other survivor present.

The two other markers are to the Thirty-ninth regiment, which was commanded by Col. David Coleman; one near the block-house and the other on Snodgrass Hill.

Remarks were made by Judge Avery, who during the battle was on the staff of General Hood and who is a brotherin-law of Gen. Stonewall Jackson and D. H. Hill,

The governor and party, after the review of the Twelfth, were driven several miles amidst the monuments, and the governor spoke at the luncheon, after a speech full of fervid patriotism, by reaching out and slasping the hand of Chase, commanding the Twelfth cavalry and the post, as he pledged North Carolina to forever defend the union. officers and ladies made the gymna. sium ring with applause.
