

RALEIGH IN BRIEF.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN AND AROUND THE CAPITAL.

Short Items of News Gathered on the Fly by the Chronicle's Reporters.

The first white dress of the season appeared on the street yesterday.

A merry party of picnickers spent the day yesterday out in the penitentiary woods.

It is predicted that steps will be taken toward the establishment of a canning factory within less than a month.

Sheriff Venable, of Sarr county, settled with the treasurer for State taxes yesterday, paying in $5,664.62.

The revenue collections for this, the fourth internal revenue district, for the month of April, amounted to $89,313.53.

The street sprinklers have all they can manage now in keeping the dust down. They ought to be permitted to work as continuously as possible.

The city board of aldermen will meet in monthly session to-morrow night. Will they put a fountain Nash square? is the question.

There were only twenty-two marriage licenses issued by the register of deeds of Wake county during the month of April—ten white and twelve colored.

A big excursion is spoken of to run from Raleigh to Richmond on the occasion of the unveiling of the Lee monument, which occurs on May 29th.

The managers of the festival and fair of the Governor's Guard have set aside this afternoon from 4 to 8 o'clock as "children's evening." Let all the little people come and enjoy themselves.

Capitol square presented an animated scene yesterday evening. Scores of little children were gambolling and frolicking on the green sward, and the picture was so beautiful that many people passing through the square stopped several minutes to fully take it in.

Rev. Dr. Skinner, financial secretary of the Baptist Female College, is collecting the first installment of the subscriptions to the institution. This work will be carried out thoroughly, so that there may be as little delay as possible in the beginning of the building operations.

There is great interest in the revival meetings now in progress at Brooklyn M. E. church. The services are largely attended and effective moral work is being done. The pastor, Rev. J. D. Pegram, desires the co-operation and prayers of the Christians of the city in the work he is doing.

SUPREME COURT.

The following cases were argued yesterday:

Clark v. Roush, settled by the parties, at cost of applicant.

State v. Parker, argued by Attorney-General, for the State, and Sutton & Cook for defendant.

Williams v. Walker, argued by H. McD. Robinson and Sutton & Cook for plaintiff, and N. W. Ray and Catefor & Devereux for defendant.

State v. Gray, argued by Attorney-General, for the State.

Appeals from a district, docketed at any time during the week assigned to that district, stand for argument on the call of the docket. Cases will be taken up out of order, if counsel consent in writing and file printed arguments.

THE A. & M. COLLEGE.

The Contract Awarded for Building the Mechanical Department.

The executive committee of the A. & M. College have opened the bids for the construction of the mechanical department of the institution. Messrs. Ellington, Royster & Co., of this city, were the lowest bidders, and the contract was awarded to that firm.

The "G. G." Fair.

The grand, glorious fair of the Governor's Guard will be continued to-night. It has proven to be, and now is, one of the most delightful entertainments ever given in the city. The Guard, besides meriting the liberal patronage of the city on account of its excellency as a city organization, deserve a cordial support in their fair because they are giving one that delights everybody. The hall is beautiful, and a glorious humor prevails. If you want to be pleased, go there to-night.

The Southern Christian Conference.

The annual conference of the Southern Christian church meets in Suffolk, Va., to-day. Several delegates left here yesterday to attend, among whom were Dr. Long of Graham; Rev. W. T. Herndon, of Morrisville; Rev. W. G. Clements, of Morrisville; Rev. J. D. Elder, of Alabama; Jesse Winborne, Esq., of Wake county; Mr. W. N. Pritchard, of Chapel Hill; Rev. J. L. Foster, Raleigh; Rev. B. H. Fleming, Graham; Mr. F. L. Moffitt, of Asheboro, and others.

The State Board of Agriculture.

The board held a short session yesterday morning at which the business in hand was disposed of. This meeting was specially called to consider the fertilizer tax license matter. As has already been stated the course of the commissioner and chairman of the board was endorsed. Nothing else of importance came up for consideration.

Fancy Military Drill To-night.

There will be a new attraction at the Governor's Guard fair to-night. The fire will be continued through this evening, and by special request, Corporal Crowder, of the Guard, will give his fancy drill which excited so much interest at the concert last Tuesday night.

Death, the Reaper, Still is Reaping.

Mr. Alfred I. Young, treasurer of the great Phoenix Cotton Mills, of Columbus, Ga., died on April 23th.

Governor's Guard Attention.

Meet in your armory this afternoon at 6 o'clock sharp, for dress parade.

Mr. H. E. Fries, of Salem, and Mr. Elias Carr, of Edgecombe, are here to attend the meeting of the board of trustees of the A. & M. College.

Mrs. Capehart and Miss Mila Capehart, who spent the winter in this city, left yesterday for their summer home at Kittrells.

Among the registrations at the Moseley house are: Thomas H. Sutton, H. McD. Robinson, Geo. M. Rice, and Mr. Ray, Fayetteville; W. N. Pritchard, Chapel Hill.

The Durham Globe says: It is learned with exceeding regret, that the health of Dr. A. W. Mangum, of the University, is fast failing. He is unable to fill his chair as a professor, and is confined to his room. He has made a gallant fight for life, but it is feared that the end is near.

Mr. Elias Carr, Jr., of Edgecombe, who has been on a visit of several days in Raleigh, has returned home. He is Secretary and Treasurer of the Tarboro Oil Mills and is one of the army of progressive young men who are going to make the State rich by manufacturing, and kindred interests.

A Lodge of Tontis.

Oak City Lodge No. 444, order of Tontis, was organized in Raleigh a few evenings ago with twenty-five chartered members.

The following officers were elected and duly installed for the ensuing year: W. B. Hutchings, President; Geo. L. Tonoffski, Vice-President; W. G. Sapp, Past-President; Rev. Dr. W. S. Black, Chaplain; S. W. Whiting, Secretary; G. M. Allen, Treasurer; F. M. Lampkin, Marshal; W. G. Thomas, Guard; Dr. R. M. Patterson, Medical Examiner.

Trustees.

C. G. Whiting, John E. Bridges and S. H. Crocker.

This order pays a sick and disabled benefit of twenty five dollars per week, and at the expiration of seven years one thousand dollars. All white males between the ages of 18 and 60 years, and who can pass a medical examination are admitted into the Order by the payment of a small entrance fee. Tontis has been in force five years and now numbers twenty thousand members. More than half million of dollars has already been paid out for sick and disabled benefits.

Monthly Police Report.

The monthly report of the Chief of Police shows that fifty-four arrests were made during the month of April.

The mortality report shows a very low death rate, there having been only thirteen deaths during the month.

Let some other city of 15,000 people beat this record for order and healthfulness if it can.

Barcroft-Williams.

The Norfolk Landmark says: "Miss Ida Barcroft, an attractive and well-known young lady of this city, was married yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, at the First Presbyterian church, to Mr. Edwin S. Williams, one of our popular young business men. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George D. Armstrong, D. D., the pastor of the church, and the gathering very nearly filled the spacious edifice. The chancel was the scene of some very pretty floral decorations, which had been done by the Missionary Band of the Sunday school. Mr. Edward J. Doran presided at the organ, and at the entrance and retiring of the bride party gave the happy strains of a wedding march. The bride wore a sage green traveling gown trimmed with velvet of a darker shade, and carried Marchal Neill roses and calla lilies, and the groom a cutaway coat and light trousers. Mr. W. H. Aydelotte was the best man and Miss Ida Fryer the bride's attendant. The ushers were Messrs. Russell B. Webb, William Curtis, J. T. Morris and J. B. Watts. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Williams took the Bay Line steamer for the North and will be gone for some time, during which they will visit the principal points of interest."

LATE NEWS NOTES.

The literary address at the closing exercises of the Summerfield High School will be delivered by Wallace N. Seales, Esq., editor of the Greensboro Patriot.

The Charlotte News says a reporter learned yesterday, on what he considers pretty good authority, that a force of 1,500 hands are already at work constructing the road-bed for the Richmond & Danville's new line from Danville through Winston and Gastonia.

The Abemarle (Stanley county) correspondent of the Concord Standard says: Quite a lively scene occurred on Wednesday evening of last week in the court house. While his honor Judge Shipp was in the middle of his charge to the jury before submitting the case to its disposal, a great gust of wind came, when the old house began to rock and creak, and dust rising in the air like huge clouds; then it was his honor got frightened, grabbed his cane and hat and put for the door, leaving the jurors who followed close in the rear.

MR. WALTER STILL MISSING.

Great Excitement in and Around Weldon—Large Searching Party Organized.

The press dispatches of yesterday reported that Edward D. Walker, of Brooklyn, N. Y., associate editor of the Cosmopolitan, was missing. He was last heard from at Weldon, N. C., where he had been sojourning for the benefit of his health.

A gentleman who came up from Weldon yesterday reported that great excitement was prevailing there over the missing man. The last seen of him was on Tuesday, April 26th, while fishing in Roanoke river.

Mr. Walker spent some time last winter at Southern Pines. He had a habit of paying hotel bills in advance and it is known that he frequently paid in advance for carriages and other services. He was summoned from Southern Pines to New York some time ago, and left the former place leaving his board paid two weeks in advance and also leaving his baggage there. A few days later he ordered his baggage to Richmond, and he went from that place to Weldon to fish a few days. He paid up his hotel bill in advance there also. He spent the time in fishing in Roanoke river, sporting with the rod and line. He noticed some parties fishing with nets and boats, and was heard to express a wish to try that plan. On Friday morning, April 26, he told the hotel proprietor that he was expecting a note, and asked, in case it came, that it be sent to his room. He waited in his room till about 10 o'clock, but no one came. Then he went out to the river, and was seen on the banks about noon by some parties who were on the river in boats fishing with nets. Mr. Walker was evidently watching them. This was the last seen of him up to this.

There is nothing to explain his disappearance. Some people entertain the notion that he was anxious to indulge in the boat fishing, and probably engaged some irresponsible parties to take him on the river. It is thought that according to his habit, he took out his purse to pay them in advance and showed a quantity of money. This may have aroused the cupidity of the parties and they may have dealt foully with him to secure the money.

Mr. Walker's brother-in-law arrived at Weldon yesterday morning to prosecute search. Some have advanced the theory that Mr. Walker may have become suddenly insane and wandered off, but this theory is scouted by his brother-in-law, who says that there is nothing whatever to sustain it.

Yesterday morning hand bills offering a reward for the discovery of Mr. Walker, dead or alive, were distributed. A hunting party of about one hundred men was organized and a thorough searching expedition was marked out. The whole section of country is being scoured in the hope of finding the missing man.

Later—His Body Found.

A telegram received from Petersburg last night says: The body of Edward Dwight Walker, manager of the Cosmopolitan magazine, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been missing since last Saturday, was found early this morning by two colored men in the Roanoke river, near Weldon, N. C. The money, watch and some papers were found in the pockets of the deceased, and a broken fishing pole was in his hand. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental drowning.

The Marriage Bells A-Ringing.

In Jonesboro, Wednesday, April 30th, Mr. J. A. McIver, of the firm of McIver & Dalrymple, to Miss Mary Epps Jones, daughter of the late Col. L. C. Jones, for whom Jonesboro was named.

KILLED HER OWN CHILD.

Infanticide by a Young Woman—Death—Chorus for Charlotte, &c. [Special Cor. of STATE CHRONICLE.]

GREENSBORO, April 28th.—Our southern suburbs—called South Greensboro—were shocked this morning by the announcement that a white girl, named Jane Edwards, had given birth during Sunday night to well-developed child, had caused its death by tying a string around its neck, and had wrapped it in paper and thrown it in the garden—where it was found by the gentleman at whose house she was temporarily staying. Miss Edwards is from Randolph county and was filling the place of a domestic in South Greensboro. She is poor, but has heretofore born a good name.

Coroner Gardner held an inquest late in the day and the verdict of the jury was in accordance with the facts as above recited, and the unfortunate girl is now under arrest upon the charge of infanticide.

P. D. Weaver, a respected citizen of this place, died Sunday, after a protracted illness, and was buried to-day by the Knights of Pythias, of which order he was a member.

Mr. C. H. Ireland has organized his chorus and twenty to-day promised to go with him to the Charlotte Musical Festival in June next.

The Guilford Grays have decided to attend the ceremony at Richmond, Va., of the unveiling of the Lee monument. They netted over $900 at their festival last week.

The Odell Hardware Company will spend $8,000 in improving their stores on South Elm street.

Quite a lively time is anticipated at the city election next Monday. The politics involved is not democratic or republican, but whiskey, hogs, high taxes, water and sewerage.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Some Oversights of the Members—What is Wanted of the Committees.

The Chamber of Commerce, Raleigh's engine of progress, has been carrying a low pressure of steam for two or three months past, and consequently has been losing time.

The members generally have been looking forward for some big developments, but they have been looking so far forward that they have failed to see and appreciate small obstacles lying close to them, but nevertheless impeding and in fact preventing their progress. Many of them seem to have an idea that an enterprise of almost any kind can just spring up of its own accord, and become instrumental in turning the "horn of plenty" upside down and let all the good things tumble right out. An enterprise can't do this alone, but ENTERPRISE can make an enterprise do it.

Enterprises are creatures and men are their creators. The record of two years past shows that there are a number of first class creators (or enterprises) in Raleigh, but the record of the last few months shows that they have been very quiet. They have not only rested on the seventh day, but they have rested more than seven days. They have done this when they knew it was not a time for rest.

Now, in two weeks time, the monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce will be held. It is customary to call for reports from the various committees. For the last several meetings when this call was made, every single committee has responded "No Report."

No wonder. There is no record of a meeting of a single committee, except a special committee, in the last three months. Of course they made no report. How could they? Reports don't come spontaneously.

Shall this be the case at the next meeting of the chamber? It is hoped not. Let every committee have a meeting some time during the next week, and when that committee is called at the next meeting, let it show that it is at least alive. Let it show that its members care something for their city. It's getting mighty hot, and it is pleasant to sit in the shade and talk matters easy; but such ease as that will soon dissipate everything but the shade itself. There's lots to do, and apparently nobody is doing anything. That won't do.

THE WORLD'S COMMERCE.

New York, May 1.—Messrs. Hubbard, Price & Co. in their cotton circular to-night say: The Liverpool market this morning opened quiet at 1-64 decline as compared with yesterday's prices. Sales 8,000 bales. Tenders on May contracts 25,000 bales. The delivery of this much cotton on contract seems to have been regarded as an unfavorable feature, and its effect upon the market was evident in a still further decline in Liverpool, the close being barely steady, at about three points under last evening's prices. Our cables advise us that the tenders have been for the most part taken up by the leading Liverpool bull, Mr. Steenstrand, who has for some time been preparing himself to receive them, but that they are decidedly in excess of anticipation. The market has been more or less heavy through the day, trading being concentrated mainly in August and September. The former showed the greater weakness and sold down at one time to 11-80, from which there was a reaction at the close of some three points.

The spot market steady and 1-16 higher. Futures closed 2 to 4 points higher as follows:
