There was a merry scatteration on the streets yesterday afternoon when the rain struck the town. Fayetteville street was full of vehicles and people but in two minutes everything was literally washed off the thoroughfare.

Now, will the board of county commissioners set about beautifying the court house square? It seems a pity to leave undone what could be so easily done, and would add so largely to the beauty of the street.

The german given at Henry Hall last night by the Monogram club, compliclass of the State University was an elegant affair. There were quite a number of visiting ladies and gentlemen present.

One man was heard sighing yesterday for the return of the old linen duster days. He didn't tell his age and nobody knows how old he is; but he said there was once a time when a linen duster and a palm leaf fan constituted the summer attire of a gentleman.

A big-hearted gentleman was heard pesterday expressing sympathy for the people of those towns which had no shade trees such weather as this; and his remarks suggested that the matter of shade should by no means be the least thing for the consideration of Raleigh trees now, but there is room for more.

"Speaking about hotels—" These were the words of a gentleman on the street yesterday, when he was interrupted by some one asking; "who is speaking about hotels?" The first speaker looked blank for a second and then said: "That's a fact; nobody is saying enough about building a grand hotel here, and I have just about concluded that until Raleigh builds one, she can't expect to do much else." Will somebody start the

"Are you going to Kimball?" is a popular question on the Raleigh streets. It won't be long before many people will be wishing to gracious they had never gone there. The idea of intelligent men putting themselves up to be manipulated by a syndicate with seven millions of dollars is—is—well, it looks mighty funny to other intelligent men. The sure way to make money is to invest in some business which returns a steady, city ceme legitimate income—a cotton factory or a meeting. big hotel for instance in Raleigh.

The Demorest Medal Contest.

There was a large and happy audience at Edenton Street Sunday school room last night to witness and hear the Demorest medal contest.

The contestants were: Miss Birdie Lawrence; subject-The Fallacy of License.

Mr. Joe Watts; subject - No Compromise; It Must be Settled Right. Master Telfair Horton; subject-The New Fashionable Man.

subject-A Voice From the Poor House. Miss Minnie Brown; subject-The Enormity of the Liquor Traffic.

Miss Laura Newsome; subject—Pro-hibition the Hope of Our Country. All the declaimers greatly interested the audience, and their efforts were cordially appreciated.

The medal was awarded to Miss Laura Newsome, and was presented by Rev. Dr. Cordon.

Incidental to the contest were chorus songs, some selections by the J. E. E. F. Quartette; a solo by Miss Fannie Little; a duet by Misses Laura Cordon and Gertie Thiem; a solo by Miss Eliza Moore, and other pleasant features. Altogether, the programme was very prettily and interestingly rendered.

The city board of aldermen met in regular session last night.

The street committee was authorized to consider the advisability of widening Martin street from Salisbury street to the new depot site.

Alderman Wilder, from the light committee, presented the following report: The City Lights.

The light committee, at the request of the mayor and C. M. Hawkins, Esq., president of the Raleigh Lighting, mentary to members of the graduating Heating and Power company, met at the office of the mayor on May 5th, to consider the question of settlement of the amount in dispute between the city and the said company.

Your committee recommend to the board that the said Lighting, Heating and Power company be held to the performance of their contract with the city of Mr. John Devreux, Jr., and W. N. Jones, arbitrators, to-wit:

1. That said Lighting and Heating and Power Co., be requested to furnish a 1,200 candle power light as provided in contract in said award.

2. That the city demand of said company the reduction of 425-1200 of the contract price for the light from the time people. THE RALEIGH ACADEMY.

The Closing Exercises Yesterday---An Interesting Day---Addresses by Maj. E. Harrell and Rev. Dr. J. H. Cordon.

There was quite a good audience of very representative and cultured people at Morson and Denson's academy yesterday morning to witness the closing exercises of the session of 1889-90.

The academy is one of the foremost institutions of Raleigh, and it has a record of having begun the training and education of hundreds of men whose names are now indissolubly connected with important parts of the history of the State and nation.

Commencement day here is always an occasion of interest to appreciative people. As a rule, the attendance of people is not very large, but the audiences are always composed of the very best Dr. N. McKay, of Harnett, was in element of culture, and such an audience was present vesterday.

Among the representative men present were noted, Chief Justice Merrimon, Rev. Dr. J. H. Cordon, Rev. Dr. J. W. Carter, Maj. E. G. Harrell, W. S. Primrose, Esq., Dr. V. E. Turner, Rev. Dr. L. L. Nash, R. T. Gray, Esq., C. B. Root, Esq., and others.

The exercises were opened with prayer Maj. E. G. Harrell was presented and delivered an address on the Raleigh Male Academy. Maj. E. G. Harrell spoke for some moments-not too long-but made a delightful talk which was appreciated and enjoyed by all present. He said that during the past session there had been one hundred students in attendance, and already there were indications of an increased enrollment next session. He said that he he had been at the State University during the week, and while there he was told by one of the faculty that Morson & Denson's Academy had supplied, during the last session, about one-tenth of the entire enrollment of the pupils of that famous institution. This was a fact that Raleigh should be especially proud of; but this was not all he had heard while he was there. These same students from Morson & Denson's Academy stood higher in their studies and examinations than the pupils from any other academy or preparatory school in the State. A Pretty Prophecy. Maj. Harrell made a very pleasant little prophecy in the course of his remarks. He had a vision in his mind's eye. In the near future he saw the famous Mor- | year? son & Denson school located on a magnificent lot of ten acres or more near the city. He heard the long roll beat of four? the drum, and in response to that inspiring rattie, he saw from three to four | lina. hundred boys, dressed in handsome uniforms, forming into companies and battallions on the green, and then he saw them executing drills and manoeuvres which excited the admiration and applause of multitudes of onlooking peo-

Mr. Harrell closed his remarks by thanking the principals of the school, on behalf of the city and parents of the pupils, for maintaining a school of such | years. high standing and excellence in the city

Denson stated that when a boy attained that mark in the academy, it was an evidence of earnest and genuine work. Rev Dr. Cordon's Address. The annual address was delivered by Rev. Dr. Corden. He took for his sub ject, the "Power of Intellect." spoke vigorously and earnestly and inpositions, among which was that knowlmake a settlement with said company edge was the food and drink of the soul, and prepared a man for whatever might be his vocation in life. He referred with enthusiasm to the existence of schools and colleges and universities allover the land which meant an increasing dissemmination of knowledge ter the system went into operation, it in the world. He said that it had been was tested, and itwas reported that the formerly said that "a little learning is a lights were only 775 candle power. Dr. Cordon also referred to the number and standing of the students of the academy now at various Colleges. He said that last year, there were seventeen at the State University, six at Wake Forest College, one at Davidson, three at the A. and M. College, and one at the United States Naval academy. He said he was gratified to note that the pupils of the Raleigh acad-emy had many honors conferred on them three of them had held important positions in connection with the very interesting commencement exercises. Conferring of Distinctions.

After the conclusion of the address, which was warmly and cordially applauded, Dr. Carter presented to the pupils the certificates of the distinctions they had won. Prof. Morson then announced that the Sirty Miles an Hour.

Is fast time but 100 years from to-day 100 miles an hour will not be considered fast. Those who live in the latter part of the 20th century will be whirled from New York to San Francisco and back in the same day. Time and distance will be annihilated, and what we call progressive and aggressive of today will be laughed at then and called old fogy. The most of us think the world is going fast enough now and that we are up to and some times ahead of the times. For instance, we sell a figured lawn at three cents a yard, and a good challie for five cents. These are lower prices than we have ever seen anywhere else; and yet 100 years hence it will be given away if they have any such thing at that day. We have a beautiful line of summer woolen goods which we are closing at prime cost. We take one long step of say twenty-five years ahead and imitate those merchant princes of that day and consider that the first sacrifice is always the best. We are always ahead in style and quality of our goods, and our prices are so much lower than others that they cannot 91 duplicate them in 100 years.

HE-NO TEA

The New York Chamber of Commerce. in their thirty-second annual report, publish a careful review of the tea trade, giving special attention to some gross abuses calculated to curtail the use of tea. The

"The demand for low-priced com-mon tea is growing materially, les-sening the use of good and fine teas, and the efforts of the trade to supply customers with tea for price will result in lessening the consumption of teat. It encourages the importation of common ages the importation of common tea, and must result disastrously to the business. The producing countries can supply an unlimited quantity of poor tea that is really not fit for consumption.

"Prizes which have been given away by retail stores, possibly may account somewhat for the demand for low-grade teas, but it seems hardly credible that consumers expect to get as good a tea with a prize, at a certain price, as they could obtain for the same price and not pay for the extra article."

Why will not the general public listen to a warning from so high an authority, and consider the great advantage to their own health and pocket, to be got by exercising more thought in the selection of their teas. It is also to be noted that the chief sufferers from "TEA NOT FIT FOR CON-SUMPTION" are just those who can least afford to waste their money. As long ago as 1875 all of the facts about tea and its abuses were given in the Baltimore press by Messrs. Gillett & Co. They have been untiring in their efforts to open the eyes of the OATS-June 28%; July 27%; August public to such abuses. Possibly their motive were introducing their He-No tea. All the same, the result has been a public benefit, and the favor won by a good tea such as He-No is, proves that Baltimoreans, to a considerable extent, have heeded the seasonable course.

Your Grocer can supply you with Ma-No-Tea at 75 cents per pound package; 40 cents per half pound package; or 20 cents per 1-4 pound package.

No. 9 E. Martin St. No. 10 Exchange Place. LEACH & ANDREWS -- Ice Manufacturers--

RALEIGH, N. C.

Having recently completed a plant, with the most modern and improved machinery for the manufacture of ice, we are turning out the prettiest, clearest and firmest ice that has ever been manufactured in this country.

Every block being of uniform size, it packe in the car closely, and will suffer less loss in transportation than either natural ice or that manufactured by the eld process.

As to purity, we challenge comparison. Every gallon of water we use is first evapora ed into steam under a pressure of one hundred pounds to the square inch and condensed before freezing, thus insuring water as pure as it comes from the clouds. Carload quantities on short notice. Full weights and careful packing guaranteed.
