PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD.

THE SEVENTY-SEVENTH SESSION NOW IN PROGRESS IN WILMINGTON.

Alexander Sprunt Chosen as Moderator—The Opening Sermon by Rev. J. M. Wharey.

The Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina met in its seventy-seventh annual session in Wilmington, yesterday, and the opening exercises were held in the Presbyterian church last evening.

After preliminary devotional exercises, Rev. J. M. Wharey, Moderator, gave the first sermon from the text: "I have glorified Thee on the earth; I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do." John 17th chapter. It was an exceedingly fine sermon.

The attendance of delegates and officers is large, and the people of Wilmington are greatly interested. The Officers Elected.

After prayer by the Moderator the report of the Committee on Enrollment was received and the organization of the session effected by the election of the following officers:

Moderator—Rev. Alexander Sprunt. Clerks—Rev. A. R. Snow and Elder M. Dixon.

Address of Welcome. The session of the First Presbyterian Church through the Rev. Dr. Primrose, pastor of the First church (in the absence of the pastor of the First church) presented an address of welcome to the delegates and visitors. The address embraced a request that the Synod pray for the spiritual prosperity of the Holy Spirit as a result of the Synod's work.

The Business of the First Day. Elder A. M. McPheeters suggested that religious services be held at least once a day.

Dr. Hill moved that the last hour of the morning session be devoted to public prayer exercises, which was concurred in.

Rev. W. S. P. Bryan stated that the Synod at Charlotte set aside Thursday of this session for the consideration of Foreign Missions.

It was moved and carried that the opening order placing the Communion on the evening of this day be suspended. It was then moved and ordered that this service be held Wednesday evening.

Friday was set apart for report on Foreign Missions.

The hours of meeting were fixed as follows: Meet at 9.30 a. m.; take recess at 12 m. for divine service; meet at 3.30 p. m. and adjourn at pleasure.

The Messenger's Welcome. The Messenger contains the following words of welcome:

The Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina is now in session in this city. It is a gathering of an educated clergy and an influential laity. It represents a body of Christians who are active in benevolence; who regard the Lord's Day "to keep it holy"; who are preached to by scholarly and trained men, and who are respectable in numbers, in social standing, in influence, in aims and methods. The Presbyterians of North Carolina from the beginning of religious life in the Colony have been zealous for their Church, for education, for morality, for the elevation of their fellow men, and have been true to their State, to the South and to the welfare of all sorts and conditions of men. We speak of them as a body. They can bear such testimony, and it is to the praise and honor of any people that so much can be truly said.

The Messenger cordially welcomes the Presbyterian Synod to Wilmington and its hospitality. It hopes that its deliberations will be harmonious and productive of good, and that the visit of the members may be every way agreeable. There are some able men and fine preachers among them—notably Revs. Drs. Marable, Miller, Watkins and Smith. We suppose some fine preaching may be heard this week and on Sunday when the pulpits of churches of several denominations will be filled by the representative ministers of the Synod.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Enveloped in Flames Before Assistance Could be Rendered.

(Charlotte Chronicle.) One of the saddest accidents which has happened here for some time was the death yesterday afternoon, by the burning of little Lizzie Tanksley, the 4 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Tanksley, who live on N. Cedar street.

Mrs. Tanksley, it seems, was visiting at a neighbor's across the street, and the child went to start a fire, and, it is supposed, that her clothing caught in the attempt.

She ran through the front yard enveloped in flames. Her screams attracted her mother and the neighbors, who rushed to her, but were so terrified that for a few minutes they could do but little to extinguish the flames, and by the time they could get blankets and water, the poor little sufferer was burned almost beyond recognition.

Everything was done for her that could possibly be done, but the doctor said it was impossible for her to live, and at 7 o'clock she died.

Mr. Tanksley, her father, is an engineer on the Air Line, and as his train was an hour and a half late, he only reached home just as she breathed her last.

BROWER TO WITHDRAW.

The Rumor True?—Negroes Will Not Support Him.

(Special Cor. STATE CHRONICLE.) WILMINGTON, N. C., Oct. 23, 1890.—It is rumored here upon some authority that Brower will quit the race and leave Wilmington the field without opposition. The most prominent negro here told me that all the best negroes would give Brower the go-by.

HOT POLITICS.

A Lively Solicitorial Fusillade in the Fifth District—How Mr. Barber Settles Mr. Settle.

(Special Cor. STATE CHRONICLE.)

WINSTON, N. C., Oct. 20.—Yesterday the Solicitorial candidates, Messrs. Barber and Settle, sounded the tocsin in these parts. The general opinion of those who heard them speak was that it was one of the most heated campaigns ever seen in the district or anywhere, considering the fact that they carefully avoided personal abuse. A tremendous crowd greeted them at 1 o'clock in the opera house, the gallery being filled with colored men and the lower floor with white. Mr. Barber, the Democratic candidate, opened the debate, and the audience was soon found in a regular uproar of applause as slug after slug of solid fact he would hurl at Mr. Settle. He explained the trickery of the Republican party in the National Congress, dwelt at length on the Lodge election measure and showed by the McKinley tariff how the Republican party legislated for the monopolist and the Democratic party for the masses.

Then he went for Mr. Settle and asked him if he endorsed the Force bill; if the McKinley legislation was intended to increase the price of articles for the consumer or to raise the price for the benefit of the manufacturer; for whom he was going to vote for Congress. Mr. Barber then declared that Chas. Price, the Republican candidate for Chief Justice of the Supreme court, had never voted the Republican ticket, and demanded a proof to the contrary from Mr. Settle. He asked him if he endorsed the Constitution of the State and of the United States, and charged he (Settle) endorsed no action of the Republican Congress, neither the Lodge or McKinley bills that were passed. He closed with a plea for Mr. Settle not to squirm and twist about on the question, of which he would support for Congress, Moore or Brower. His speech was a great surprise to the crowd, who had never before heard him. It was sparkling with happy political hits and hot with slugging argument. He took his seat mid storms of applause.

Mr. Settle then rose with one of those haughty airs which is common to that set of men who try to show their contempt of an audience by keeping their hat on. (He sat upon the stage with his hat on.) The same old song pealed forth in slick, greasy and easy strains; and he made of graceful action on the stage before his colored constituency, which grinned at every attempt at wit. He had a hard position to defend and it must be admitted that he did it tolerably well, not by dealing in straight cut slugs of logic, but by interesting generalities. He said to the astonishment of his constituency, that he did not endorse the Force bill; that he would vote for Chas. Price who had never voted the Republican ticket, and that he would also support Brower for Congress.

Mr. Barber then rejoined for fifteen minutes and used his time well. He said that the Democratic party had been charged with nominating a Barber for the purpose of showing Settle and that he (Barber) would not dare to deprive him of one hair of that beautiful mustache, but that he intended, if the people would do their duty, to shave his majority of 700 down to nothing and pile a majority of 1,000 upon it.

In Mr. Settle's rejoinder which followed, he accused Mr. Barber of voting against the Railroad Commission bill, but Mr. Barber quickly informed him of the fact that he was a nice man to be talking that way when every Republican in the General Assembly did the same thing. He (Barber) declared that his constituency asked him to vote against the bill and he did it because of that. He further charged Mr. Settle with being a railroad attorney and riding about on free passes, at the same time being paid by the State to prosecute all railroads who violated the law, and declared that he (Barber) would never be found as a railroad attorney and a solicitor at the same time.

The speeches were both good but everybody was loud in praising Mr. Barber's, exclaiming: "Tom has got his match now."

I asked two men from Rockingham county to-day who know more about politics over there than any men I know, and they both declared that Barber would carry that county by 400 majority.

The report sent the CHRONICLE the other day concerning a certain cutting affray near here was badly wrong. Your correspondent got the news from an officer who ought to have known better, but who did not. Riggs, the man who was badly cut, is not so seriously hurt as was at first supposed.

FIRE IN A FEMALE COLLEGE.

A Young Husband's Crime—Vance to Speak in Asheville—Death of a Goldsboro Lady.

(Special to STATE CHRONICLE.)

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 22.—Today at 11:30, fire was discovered in the fourth story of the Asheville Female college. Great excitement was produced among the one hundred and ten inmates and trunks etc. were scattered in every direction over the campus. It required two hours to put out the fire. The building cost $30,000. The damage done the property amounts to $10,000.

A horrible murder was committed near here Saturday. Mrs. H. T. Morrison, of Anderson county, S. C., was brutally murdered by her husband and her body hid in the woods. It was found to-day. Morrison was about twenty years old and his wife only 18. Senator Vance speaks here Saturday. A large crowd is expected. Two hundred and fifty horsemen will escort him from Biltmore.

Miss Annie Moore, formerly of Goldsboro, but who has been a teacher of drawing in the city schools, died last night of typhoid fever.

A BRILLIANT MARRIAGE LAST NIGHT.

A Popular Raleigh Young Man and a Tarboro Belle Married.

(Special Cor. STATE CHRONICLE.)

TARBORO, N. C., Oct. 22.—The most beautiful wedding that ever occurred in this place was celebrated in Calvary church to-night at 9 o'clock. The contracting parties were Mr. Herbert W. Jackson, of Raleigh, and Miss Annie H. Phillips, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Fred Phillips, of this place.

There was a large crowd of town people present to witness the consummation of this marriage vow, both parties being most highly esteemed and universally popular.

At 9 o'clock the church bells began to chime and heralded the arrival of the bridal party. In a brief while the sweet tones again rang out which announced the marriage of the happy twain.

The attendants came in the following order: Messrs. H. A. Gilliam, Jr. and W. M. Pippen ushers; Messrs. Henry Johnston and Jos. Phillips; Misses Mary Bunn, of Rocky Mount and Belle Bagley, of Raleigh; Messrs. Geo. Howard, Jr. and Walter E. Curtis, Greensboro; Misses Lina Battle, Raleigh, and Annie Dancy; Messrs. W. R. Tucker, Raleigh and Job Cobb; Misses Helen Fowle, Raleigh, and Agnes Cotten, Cottendale, Pitt Co.; Messrs. Jas. S. Worth and W. W. Roberts, Wilmington; Misses Anna Lewis, Goldsboro and Lizzie Porter; Messrs. H. Parker, Bingham School, and Sam Jackson, Pittsboro; Misses Mary Kerr Bingham, Bingham School, and Martha A. Dowd; and Miss Mary Phillips, maid of honor. The bride came in on the arm of her father and was met at the altar by the groom who came out of the vestry on the arm of Mr. James W. Walker, of High Point, who was best man.

After the marriage they left the church in the following order: H. A. Gilliam and W. M. Pippen, ushers; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Jackson; Jas. Walker with Miss Mary Phillips; H. Parker with Miss Mary Kerr Bingham; S. S. Jackson with Miss Martha A. Dowd; W. W. Roberts with Miss Lizzie Porter; J. S. Worth with Miss Anna Lewis; W. R. Tucker with Miss Agnes Cotten; Job Cobb with Miss Helen Fowle; George Howard with Miss Lina Battle; W. E. Curtis with Miss Annie Dancy; H. Johnston with Miss Mary Bunn; J. Phillips with Miss Belle Bagley.

The bridesmaids, save the maid of honor, were arrayed in white silk mulle, gold lace girdles. The maid of honor was most becomingly attired in yellow satin.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Cheshire.

The church was a most resplendent scene, and never before has such a brilliant marriage occurred in this place. The bridal party was composed of as handsome couples as can be found anywhere, and for attractive appearance they could not be surpassed.

It was a most sublime spectacle to observe the party marching in church to the beautiful and inspiring wedding march, and truly it can be said that "all went merry as a marriage bell."

After the ceremony was performed, the merry party repaired to the residence of Judge Phillips where a most superb and sumptuous collation was prepared for a few invited friends, and a most blissful evening was spent by the entire party.

The interest manifested in this marriage and the large crowd that attended the church fully attest the high esteem in which the young people are held.

Miss Phillips is one of the most charming, beautiful, attractive and accomplished young ladies of the place and is greatly beloved and admired. She was most exquisitely attired and never looked more beautiful and attractive than on this occasion. She possesses to an eminent degree the truest and highest types and characteristics of perfect womanhood. Mr. Jackson is considered one of the most popular and estimable young gentlemen of Raleigh, and their lives are begun under the most propitious circumstances.

Thousands of fond wishes for a blissful connubial career were extended them by their host of friends. And may their lives be one of perpetual joy and felicity is the wish of SPECTATOR.

RUTHERFORD POLITICS.

Good News From a Close Western County.

(Special Cor. STATE CHRONICLE.)

RUTHERFORD, N. C., Oct. 21, 90.—The Legislative and County candidates met here yesterday in joint canvass. A large crowd gathered to hear them, and if any importance is attached to the reports received here, then our county will be entirely Democratic next fall. Only a small proportion of the crowd went in to hear the speaking, the rest remaining outside, running to and fro, taking men aside to talk to them, electioneering for their favorites or the favorites of their party. But all their actions were politically significant. Everything is red hot and the political pot is boiling.

This county is very close. It is the home of John Eaves and is well stocked with "Reliables," men not afraid of the devil. Last year the Republicans elected the treasurer by a majority of three, and Dr. I. B. Twitty, the Senator from Polk and this county, was elected by a bare majority of twenty. Both sides claim the coming election, but we are told by Dr. Twitty that the chances for Democratic success were never better, and that the whole Republican ticket will be defeated entirely. Rutherford county has not had an entire Democratic victory since the war.

News reached here to-day from Asheville that Tom Cooper, the noted Republican leader, has repudiated Ewart and refuses to support him. This is gratifying in the extreme, and, if true, practically insures Crawford's election. Cooper is a man of great influence and can control four hundred votes in the district.

LAUNCELOT.

A GRAND TRUNK LINE

VIA RALEIGH FROM NORFOLK TO CINCINNATI.

(Special to STATE CHRONICLE.)

WINSTON, N. C., Oct. 22.—It was stated on the best authority to-day that the Richmond Terminal Company will secure a through trunk line from Norfolk via Raleigh and Bristol to Cincinnati. Monday, Col. A. B. Andrews, second Vice-President of the Richmond and Danville railroad company, attended by Superintendent R. R. Bridgers and Major Wiley and Hinshaw, prominent stock holders, went up the Wilkesboro branch of road to inspect. All returned to-day save vice-President Andrews, who went by private conveyance through the country to Bristol, Tenn., to select a route over which to run a road between the two points.

The parties who returned inform your correspondent that it means a through trunk line from Norfolk to Cincinnati. The line will start from Norfolk over the road already built to Tarboro and extended to Stanhope, Nash Co. From thence it will go to Raleigh where it connects with the regular Richmond and Danville line to Wilkesboro. From Wilkesboro the road is in course of construction to Bristol, Tenn., where it will connect with the South Atlantic and Ohio road which is being pushed forward to Cincinnati. The Richmond Terminal jointly owns the road already built from Norfolk to Stanhope, Nash Co., with the Atlantic Coast Line.

From the latter places the Richmond and Danville Company will build thirty miles to Raleigh to connect with this line to Wilkesboro. The latter place and Bristol being connected, they will only need connection between Bristol and Cincinnati, and will get that by an extension of the South Atlantic and Ohio road, which is owned by the Richmond Terminal.

Your correspondent is informed by the same authority that the extensions will be made immediately.

This will put the Pocahontas coal fields over fifty miles and Raleigh forty miles nearer Norfolk. It will bring the famous Cranberry iron mines in proximity with the world, and will be a through line from one of the finest sea ports to the west.

All this comes from officers of the road and can be relied upon.

SOME PROTESTS

From the People in the Vicinity of the Cotton Compress.

The CHRONICLE is a paper for the people to express themselves through, and below are communications which are presented by the CHRONICLE, WITHOUT PREJUDICE:

MR. EDITOR:—May I be permitted through the columns of your paper to utter in the name of the very much afflicted people, who are forced to make their homes in the neighborhood of the cotton compress, a protest.

I think Dante, when he wrote his "Inferno," must have lived near a compress, for the noise it makes could very properly be called infernal and would no doubt have been conducive to such an effort as his.

In the name of the poor women who have to stay at home and hear it during the day, I beg that the City Fathers (if they have the power) take some steps to force the person or company who own it, to at least reduce the noise so we can sleep.

If some one had placed a slaughter-pen where that compress now stands the aldermen would long since have had it removed on the grounds of its causing sickness. Now we all know that "Sleep is tired nature's sweet restorer." Deprived of that how long will tortured nerves and brain survive.

We only ask that the noise be lessened, and that we know is possible. Again I beg that some relief be granted us.

ONE OF THE VICTIMS.

MR. EDITOR: Are there no rights that citizens have that should be respected by corporations, &c? If so, the citizens living near the cotton compress have a right to assert their rights. None except the people living near it have any idea what a nuisance it is. (I refer to the noise it makes). There are two ladies near it who are sick, one of them very sick in bed, and the noise is almost unbearable to them. One family say they will move unless it can be remedied at once. Now, this is not just or fair, because if they do move the owner of the house will find no one to rent the house unless at a sacrifice. Several nights last week the compress run all night, and very little sleeping was done by those living near it. Our Board of Aldermen have other nuisances abated and why not this one? The noise is a nuisance and it is unjust that the property owners living near it are not given relief. Other citizens living in the neighborhood will be heard from unless something is done for us.

PROF. ALDERMAN AT TRINITY.

He Charmed and Instructed All Who Heard Him.

(Special Cor. STATE CHRONICLE.)

TRINITY COLLEGE, N. C., Oct. 22.—One of the most enjoyable lectures it has ever been the good fortune of the student body of this institution to hear, was that delivered last Saturday on the subject of "State Education" by Prof. E. A. Alderman. For over two hours the gitted gentleman held the attention of his audience, and when he had finished nothing but the highest praise could be said in reference to it. We were all charmed by his graceful bearing, elegant diction and appropriately expressed ideas. He so charmed us that we forgot he was binding us by skillfully wrought chains of reason, and when we found it out, we did not care if we had been bound. It was his first visit to Trinity College; we hope it will not be his last. We appreciate him, and we send our good wishes along with him as he goes on performing his noble work for North Carolina's children.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

The Democrats of Watauga have nominated Dr. J. B. Phillips for the House, J. B. Todd for clerk, C. J. Cottriss for register and J. W. Horton for sheriff.

The CHRONICLE congratulates the Democrats of Catawba upon the nomination of Mr. S. F. Wilfong for the House in place of Mr. Abel Hunt, deceased. Mr. Wilfong is President of the Farmers' Alliance, and is one of the most intelligent and successful farmers in the great county of Catawba. The mantle of Abel Hunt, as honest and worthy a man as ever Catawba boasted, has fallen on worthy shoulders.

They do the thing right in the State of Buncombe. Senator Vance speaks at Asheville, Oct. 25th. The Swannanoa Club will meet him on horseback at Belmont, five miles from Asheville, headed by Hull's cornet band, and escort him to Asheville Opera House. The Swannanoa River Club never does anything by halves. It rides in slouch black hats (the prettiest hats in the world), white shirts, dark pants tucked in boots, and coats tied to saddle, (in event of bad weather.) We have enjoyed a ride with these "invincibles" up the Swannanoa to a speaking at night. If every township had such a club, North Carolina would give a Democratic majority of 50,000.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Rev. W. B. Wingate, of Bertie county, has accepted a call to the Greensboro Baptist church. He bears a sainted name.

Married—Near Brown Summit, October 21st, Mr. James H. McNeill, of Goodwin, to Miss Minnie Walker, daughter of Rev. W. T. Walker.

Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. Robert B. Nixon to Miss Fannie Jones, daughter of Mr. K. R. Jones, in the Methodist church, in New Berne, Wednesday, October 29th.

Chairman Smith is, as we predicted when he was elected, showing himself a hustler in the management of the political field. He is directing the affairs of the campaign in very effective and aggressive way, and the result will show that he is a wise and astute politician.

Dr. L. B. Grandy, one of Oxford's most prominent young men, who recently graduated in medicine with high distinction, has accepted a professorship in the College of Medicine at Atlanta, Ga. He left on Friday to enter upon his duties. In concert with a host of friends we wish him the greatest success.—Public Ledger.

Col. Pickett in Anson.

(Special Cor. STATE CHRONICLE.)

WADESBORO, N. C., Oct. 20, 1890.—Please announce that Col. W. M. Pickett, the Democratic nominee for the House will address the people of Anson at the following times and places:

Lilesville, Friday, October 24th. New Morven, Saturday, Oct. 25th. Cason Old Field, Monday, Oct. 27th. White's Store, Tuesday, Oct. 28th. Polkton, Wednesday, Oct. 29th. Burnsville (J. W. Burns), Thursday, October 30th. Ansoville, Friday, Oct. 31st. Wadesboro, Saturday, Nov. 1st.

Col. R. T. Bennett will help open the campaign at Lilesville, and James A. Lockhart will join Col. Pickett at New Morven on the 25th. The Democratic outlook in Anson is very bright.

Four Votes for Democracy.

(High Point Enterprise.)

Four sterling young Democrats who will cast their votes solidly for the whole Democratic ticket came up from High Point yesterday and qualified themselves for American citizenship by taking out naturalization papers. They are Messrs. Fred N. Ab. E. Will, and John Tate, natives of Canada, and four of the best looking men you can find in a day's journey.

A Negro to Oppose Col. Pickett.

(Wadesboro Messenger and Intelligencer)

It is reported that Sandy Dunlap, col. of Wadesboro, has signified his intention of opposing Col. Wm. M. Pickett, the regular Democratic nominee to represent Anson in the Lower House of the next Legislature. Sandy will run as a straightout Republican-negro candidate.

THE INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

A Very Creditable Show of Handiwork &c.—A Lively Contest Between Wake and Franklin Counties—The Agricultural and Live Stock Exhibit &c.

Yesterday was the second day of the Colored Industrial Fair, and a great many colored people came into the city to attend it.

The Industrial Association did not fully decide to hold a fair this year until about five weeks ago, when the Secretary, Jno. Williamson threw his energies toward arousing an interest among his people, and the result is one of the most meritorious, if not the largest, expositions which the colored people have yet made.

The fancy and domestic exhibits occupy one of the long buildings. There is quite a large display in both departments and the arrangement is very tasty.

An interesting feature is a spirited rivalry between the negro women of Wake and Franklin counties as to which county shall bear away the palm for the best display of home-made fancy work, pantry supplies &c. &c. The Wake exhibit is on the left of the front entrance to the building, and on the right is the Franklin exhibit. Both are remarkable for elegant work and fine preserved and canned fruits, and there is merry strife as to which side shall present the most attractive appearance with the material at hand.

A Franklin county negro would decide at once in favor of Wake, and a Wake county negro would give the palm to his side, but a thoroughly disinterested party would look at both for a long time before coming to any decision.

There are other exhibits in this building in which white people are handsomely represented.

The agricultural exhibit shows some very fine specimens from the fields. In this hall is a display of leather and tanned skins from the tannery of a well known old colored man named Bookram from Franklin county. He shows bear, deer and sheep skins beautifully tanned with the hair on, and his show of leather is very good.

There is a very good exhibit of fine horses, cattle, swine and poultry, in which may be seen some blooded and high bred stock.

There are several attractions on the grounds, and altogether the fair is a creditable success.

W. C. Coleman, president of the association, makes the largest exhibit, and he is a progressive and thrifty man who could almost make a good fair alone.

The observer is struck with the work of the school children which is a very noticeable feature among the exhibits. To-day E. E. Smith, ex-United States Minister to Liberia, will address the colored people on the grounds at 12 o'clock.

REV. A. C. DIXON, D. D.

A Statement of his Work in Baltimore.

(Special Cor. STATE CHRONICLE.)

BALTIMORE, Md., October 22, 1890.—General regret prevails over the loss of Rev. A. C. Dixon, by the Immanuel Baptist Tabernacle. He goes to take charge of a church in Brooklyn. While we regret to lose him, we can say to him, God speed, and wish that he may be as instrumental in the service of God in his new field as he was here. He has by his perseverance and labor brought up his church here from a very small membership to be one of the first in the city in point of numbers. He has also built the church which they occupy at present by his indomitable energy, and unflinching zeal for the cause. North Carolina should well be proud of the work and reputation of the Dixon brothers.

NORTH CAROLINA SOLDIERS AT FREDERICKSBURG.

(Durham Sun.)

There are 164 North Carolina soldiers' graves in the cemetery at Fredericksburg, Va., unmarked. It will require $328 to mark them. The Governor desires the CHRONICLE to say that all amounts sent to Jos. G. Brown, Raleigh, will be appreciated and acknowledged in the CHRONICLE. The following contributions have been received:

Dan'l. G. Fowle, $10.00; A. M. Scales, $10.00; Thos. S. Kenan, $5.00; Theo. F. Davidson, $5.00; A. Horne, $5.00; R. E. Raney, $5.00; Col. Jno. S. Cunningham, $5.00; W. L. London, $5.00; W. A. Smith, $5.00; Miss Maggie Cooper, $1.00; J. Man S. Carr, $10.00; W. R. Bond, $1.00; H. T. Bahuson, $10.00; Mrs. M. E. Pittman, $10.00; Walter W. Watt, Charlotte, $5.00.

Rhodes Herndon Captured.

(Durham Sun.)

W. R. Herndon, more familiarly known here as Rhodes, and who is wanted here upon the charge of murder, was arrested in South Boston, Va., this morning between the hours of ten and twelve o'clock. He passed through Roxboro this morning at 8:15 o'clock. He will be held in custody at South Boston until Sheriff Markham can obtain a requisition from Gov. Fowle, which he will probably do this afternoon.
