

RALEIGH IN BRIEF.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN AND AROUND THE CAPITAL.

Short items of news gathered on the fly by the Chronicle's Reporters.

Wm. G. Hill Lodge of Masons will assemble in regular communication on to-morrow (Monday) at 7:30 p. m. Visiting brethren invited.

The boom is on. It has come. Now let all who would bar the movement stand aside, or be crushed by the masses who are determined to move forward.

Mr. Suttle, the student who attempted suicide a few days ago at Wake Forest college is well on the way to a complete recovery. He expects to go to his home in Asheville this week.

November 20th is the date for the appearance here of the Famous Thirteenth Regiment Band of New York. It has forty-five members and is the largest and most magnificent traveling organization in the country.

The Chamber of Commerce meets next Tuesday night. Now is the time gentlemen to see that full meetings of this body are held and that some important pending matters are looked after—the paved sidewalks and the extension of some streets for instance.

The case of Leach and Andrews vs. C. F. Linde, that has occupied Wake Superior court, was concluded to-day. Mr. A. Jones making the argument for the plaintiff, and Judge Geo. V. Strong for the defendant. Both of these gentlemen maintained their former reputation, and made able and forcible speeches. Judge Strong's argument was commented on by members of the bar as being one of the clearest and most lucid ever made in Wake court house. The verdict of the jury was in favor of the plaintiff.

DEATH OF MR. B. F. MOORE.

He Dies Suddenly at a Hotel in Philadelphia.

Mr. Bartholomew F. Moore, of this city, who was well and widely and pleasantly known in this State, died suddenly yesterday morning at a hotel in Philadelphia where he was stopping. Mr. Moore went to that city a few days ago for medical treatment. His health was not the best, but nothing was apparent that gave his family and friends any cause for anxiety or alarm.

On Thursday night, Mrs. Dr. P. T. Henry, of Kittrells, a sister of Mr. Moore, who was in Philadelphia, left that city. She was assisted to the train by Mr. Moore whom she left in his usual easy condition, and so reported on her arrival at her home on Friday night. No particulars are yet known. The telegram announcing his death was received here by Mr. Jas. Moore, but gave nothing but the sad fact that his brother was dead.

Orders were at once telegraphed to effect all necessary embalming and undertaking work, and forward the remains here.

The family hope that the undertaking preparations were effected soon enough to permit the body of Mr. Moore to arrive here this afternoon at 4:45 o'clock.

THE CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW.

It Will be Held Next Thursday Instead of Wednesday.

The ladies have decided to hold the annual chrysanthemum show on Thursday and Friday night of this week instead of Wednesday. This change is made in order to avoid conflicting with other matters.

The show this year will be on a beautiful and elaborate scale; and he who misses it will have something to regret. It is one of the most pleasant and successful annual fairs of Raleigh, and its purposes are the noblest—all the revenue derived from it going to St. John's Hospital.

BEAUTIFUL BUILDING LOTS.

A Much Sought for Opportunity to Secure a Handsome Residence Site.

In to-day's CHRONICLE is a full page announcement by the West Side Land Company of Raleigh. It offers such favorable conditions to secure beautiful and desirable building lots as are seldom offered and cannot be presented again. The company's property is a part of the western suburbs which is in a most desirable section of the city, and which is now being rapidly built up.

Every statement made by the company is what has long been known by people who have spent any time in the city. The industrial and social conditions of the city combined with the beauty and the location of the property, make that section one of the most desirable that can be found anywhere.

People who shall interest themselves in this property will be delighted at the many advantages it offers, and he who sees it will surely invest—if he has the necessary wherewith.

Horse Thief Captured.

Last Thursday a horse was stolen from Mr. J. R. Harp, who resides about six miles from the city. He reported the theft to Chief of Police Heatt, of this city, who at once set about apprehending the thief. A lot of circulars giving a description of the horse was sent out and police officers of various towns notified to keep a sharp lookout.

Yesterday morning Chief Heatt was notified by telegram that the thief had been captured in Fayetteville, and that the horse, bridle and saddle would be kept there till the owner could claim them. The party who had the horse gave his name as Will Royster. Mr. Harp left here yesterday morning to get his horse.

THE LOCAL COTTON REPORT.

Movement of the Staple in Raleigh for the Past Week.

The election excitement of the past week almost took precedence of business, and the cotton movement was as much affected as anything else. The receipts for the week were very light, comparatively speaking, not exceeding one-half of the receipts of some weeks of this season. But the staple is yet in the fields and gin houses and barns, and if good weather prevails during the coming week, it will come in in large quantities.

The following is the report: Receipts for the week, 1,208 Same last year, 1,593 Decrease from last year, 385

Receipts to date, 19,064 Same time last year, 8,580 Increase over last year, 10,484

Stock, 1,475 Shipments, 1,278

A Legal Wrong.

This is the name of an interesting sea drama which will be produced in Metropolitan opera house next Tuesday night.

The Baltimore American says: "Mr. George O. Morris, a manager of some prominence, produced a very interesting sea drama known as 'A Legal Wrong,' at Halliday Street Theatre, last night. The plot of the production is cleverly compiled and the author has shown his good sense in obliterating all clap-trap bluster that usually attends a drama of this nature. As it is, the story tells of a young girl who has been bitterly opposed by her enemies, and in a fit of desperation takes flight in a vessel known as the 'Morning Star.' As usual, the vessel is wrecked, and in this scene the author has made it very entertaining. The vessel goes down in a gale of wind on the rocks, and the scene of the heroine is a scene unlike any other wreck seen on the stage. The vessel dances on the water, and the hero is seen hanging from the bowsprit, with his precious charge clinging to him. 'A Legal Wrong' is interesting throughout, and is well worth seeing."

AN APPEAL FOR LIFE.

The Lawyer of Willie Davis Appeals to His Relatives and Friends in North Carolina for Relief.

The readers of the CHRONICLE are familiar with the case of Willie Davis, a native of Chapel Hill, who is now under sentence of death in Texas. He has relatives in Raleigh, Winston, near Asheville and in Orange and Durham counties. During his trial Mr. Julius S. Carr, of Durham, who is in no way related to him, sent $200 to aid in his defense. His lawyer, Brown G. Johnson, of Fort Worth, Texas, has taken an appeal to the Supreme court of the United States and is anxious and willing to do all that he can to save Davis from the gallows. The lawyer writes to Mr. Carr (the letter is published in the Durham Globe), saying that he is a poor man and that he has done all he can to save Davis, but he cannot take money out of his pocket to pay the cost of the transcript. The cost of the transcript is $125, and Mr. Johnson writes to Mr. Carr that if Davis's relatives and friends in North Carolina will pay that amount he will do all that he can to save Davis. December 5th is the last day allowed by law for Mr. Johnson to pay for the transcript and send it to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Who will help? Let his relatives and friends respond promptly to the plea. No effort ought to be wanting to give the poor man every every chance to live. The Durham Globe has started a subscription list and the following subscriptions have been sent in: B. N. Duke, $25; A. A. Andrews, $2; Mrs. M. C. Robson, $1.

Dress Plaids. A new line of beautiful dress plaids at prices less than it cost to import them.

We secured those through an importer who needed ready money to get spring goods through the Custom House. We learned of it—he parted with the plaids—we with the cash.

These lovely goods we are now showing. W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

We have Sixty-Five Cases of Boots and Shoes to Open on To-morrow.

When you see these goods and hear the prices you will think that instead of the tariff bill making them higher that any tax that might have been on them before had all been taken off and that the McKinley bill had surely been repealed. We have never been able to buy such elegant goods at such low prices in our experience. We don't believe in luck or chance, but it was surely only an accident that we secured these goods at the nominal figures we paid for them. Now you know, I know, and every one in Raleigh knows that we have always sold shoes of all kinds lower than any house in the city. Well this new stock will discount any goods we have shown you in both price and finish. We have got the best thing in boots and shoes we ever had. This is a fact for you to remember when you go out to buy any thing in this line.

THE WORLD'S COMMERCE.

New York, November 8.—Messrs. Hubbard, Price & Company, in their cotton circular to night say: "The cotton market to-day has been a waiting one. A recovery of about three points on the price of futures at Liverpool this morning induced an improvement of some five to six points here at the opening, and the trading has been of a limited character on very nearly the basis of this advance. Towards the close, the bears made a pretense of attacking it upon the announcement of a very unfavorable bank statement, and a decline in the stock market, but their success was not material nor their efforts very determined."

Receipts at the ports to date were estimated 45,000 bales, against 46,588 bales last week and 43,451 bales last year.

The spot market is steady at former quotations; middling uplands 9 5/8; sales 269 bales.

Transactions in futures to date were 51,000 bales.
