DAVIS HOTEL DESTROYED.

DESTRUCTIVE CONFLAGRATION YESTERDAY AT KITTRELL.

The Famous Winter Hotel Burned—The Guests Have Narrow Escapes—The Loss Very Large—The Henderson Fire Company Comes to the Rescue.

KITTRELL, N. C., April 29.—Special.—This morning before sun-up early risers in the town and outskirts found the centre of the Davis hotel wrapped in smoke and flame. The alarm was instantly given, and not a moment too soon. In three minutes after the sleepers in the south wing of the building rushed out, the smoke confined by the glass-enclosed porches, had become so stifling that life could not have existed in it. As it was the guests escaped in their nightwear, leaving clothes and in some cases watches and jewelry behind. Many fine guns were also lost.

Mrs. Davis' mother, the venerable and amiable Mrs. Sheppard, endeared to the community by a quarter of a century of charitable deeds, had an extremely narrow escape. A heavy trunk was thrown down, closing a narrow stairway and for a precious moment or two cutting off all escape. Madame Burb, a French lady staying with Mrs. Davis, blinded and bewildered, lost her bearings and was with great difficulty and no little peril rescued by a gentleman of the town after the dense smoke had swept like an inky torrent through rooms and corridors.

But for the prevalence of a steady southeast wind, which carried the heat and sparks clear of all other buildings, the whole town must have been destroyed. As it was, a house belonging to Mrs. Henry and close to the railroad property, caught repeatedly and was extinguished with great difficulty. Henderson was wired for help and responded with great promptness. A strong detachment of the hook and ladder company, under command of Mr. J. D. Cooper, made the run in eight minutes on a heavy freight train, arriving in time to have saved the railroad property had the Henry building caught, as long seemed inevitable. Major Winder, being in Henderson, gave all necessary orders as to transportation, and came in person to the scene.

Praise and gratitude are due Mr. J. W. Pleasants, C. I. Moore, R. M. Person and others, white and colored, for activity and daring in keeping the fire in bounds. The hotel, 250 feet long, with a wing of 75 feet, all two, and in part three stories high, besides billiard-room, concert hall, ten-pin alley and several outbuildings, were reduced to ashes within an hour. A very small part of the furniture and equipment was saved. The origin of the fire is unknown. Mr. Davis has been carrying $26,000 in insurance, but owing to the recent introduction of every appliance to prevent or extinguish fire, had reduced it to $16,000. Even $26,000 would have been far under the actual loss. In buildings alone he must have first and last expended $50,000. Besides this, the house was at great expense furnished and equipped to suit the highest class of hotel patronage. Fortunately he is a man of ample means, and can rebuild, or convert other buildings, which he owns here, into a hotel. By good fortune Mrs. Davis saved her valuable diamonds. The safe, containing deeds and other valuable papers, went through the fire and has not yet been opened.

For nearly twenty five years Mr. Davis has been in our midst. Great enterprise, uprightiness and generosity have characterized him from first to last. Socially and politically he has been in full touch with us. His family have always been prompt in charity and all good deeds. Boundless sympathy, is expressed and felt for their misfortune, and every door in town was thrown open to them and other guests.

COLUMBUS' ASHES.

An Attempt Made in Chicago to steal Them.

By Southern Associated Press.

Chicago, April 29.—The Herald this morning has the following: "An unsuccessful attempt to steal Christopher Columbus' ashes was made last evening. The glass containing them was broken and the priceless remains lifted from their resting place by an unknown thief, whose presence desecrated the sacred convent, La Rabida, at Jackson Park. The ashes were carried from a dark corner to the light of the window and carefully examined that no mistake might be made. But the delay for the examination proved disastrous to the purpose of the vandal and saved the exposition and posterity all that is left of the mortal remains of the great explorer and benefactor.

The Baby Show.

The baby show will be held at the store formerly occupied by Moseley and McGee Tuesday afternoon, May 2d, from 4 to 11 p. m. In the afternoon all the prettiest Raleigh's tots will be there, and at night some charming young ladies have promised to take their place. Some attractive girls who have not yet left school and a number of this season's debutantes will be there in quaint baby dresses, and the older and dignified members of the Whatsoever Circle, in their nurse's caps and aprons, will take good care of the babies of all ages and see that all our friends are served. Admission ten cents, ice cream and cake ten cents. The liberality and kindness of the Raleigh public in the past justifies us in expecting a large patronage on Tuesday.

A Remarkable Feat of Strength.

The other day in Washington a gentleman invited Mr. Walter R. Henry to the Athletic Club, of which there are four hundred members. There is a very heavy dumb bell there which the athletic professor in charge said could only be raised up from the shoulder by but one man in the club and the professor himself could only raise it three times successively. Mr. Henry grasped the bell and, without unbuttoning his coat, raised it at arms length from his shoulder nine times. The professor expressed great astonishment and said there was not another man in the District of Columbia who could do it. Any one who looks upon Mr. Henry's magnificent physique need not be surprised.

THE LEASE VERBATIM.

THE TEXT OF THE DOCUMENT SIGNED BY THE JAMES CITYVITES.

Some Interesting Facts About James City and Incidents Connected With the Recent Events There.

Below we give a copy of the lease made by Mr. James A. Bryan with the tenants on his land at James City. Originally Mr. Bryan offered substantially the same terms, freely offering that the darkies might move their buildings, and some eighty odd of the best families on the place at once expressed their purpose to accept the lease, and many others would undoubtedly have done so had it not been for a lot of agitators who interposed and stopped the proceedings.

Later quite a number of colored ministers asked Mr. Bryan to modify his terms and he did so meeting in part their suggestions. The settlement at James City embraces 557 families and about 2,700 persons. They are extremely religious, and are devoted to their churches. But although the ministers recommend the acceptance of this modified proposition, the business committee of the people declined it. This business committee, composed of a dozen or more of the leaders, appear to have had the matter chiefly in charge.

Upon the rejection of the terms recommended by the negro ministers, Mr. Bryan withdrew his offer entirely and informed the sheriff that there was no reason why the writ and order of the court should not be executed. The sheriff finding that he could not execute the order of the court without military aid, called on the Governor, who, when certain that it had become his duty to take such action, ordered the military to aid the sheriff. On his reaching New Bern the business committee of the negroes invited the Governor to come to James City, and the proceedings were had there which have heretofore been published. That night the business committee, acting for the whole settlement, agreed to the terms of the lease as proposed by their lawyer, O'Hara, and the next day the leases were printed, but the heavy rain prevented their immediate execution.

Since then the work of signing the leases has steadily progressed. When O'Hara drew up his proposition it provided that the negroes might remove their churches and school houses, but Mr. Bryan refused that, saying that he proposed that those quasi public buildings should remain for the use of the residents of the place hereafter. This being agreeable, the matter was considered closed.

That there was unusual expense attending the execution of the writ and order of the court is to be regretted; but the expense is small, compared to the benefit to that entire section of the object lesson, teaching the people that the orders of the courts are to be obeyed and not resisted. The feeling that people need not concern themselves about obeying the orders of court, but can resist them at their will and pleasure is entertained by some people of whom better sense might be expected. And the benefit which will come from the action of the State authorities in this instance, we hope will be great throughout the entire State.

The Governor was personally treated with much courtesy by the people at James City, and he appreciated the spirit they manifested towards him. They listened with attention when he told them that the sheriff was bound to perform his duty to put the owner of the property in possession. In fact the great bulk of the people there knew that from the first, and had it not been for a few agitators, there would probably have been no trouble at all. Mr. Bryan had told the people on the land, that those who wanted to do so, might move their houses off at any time within a year; and that those who desired to remain might continue there, paying a very small rent, running from 25 cents to a dollar a month for the premises occupied.

That proposition was so liberal, that had it not been for a disposition on the part of some to defy the law, we do not doubt that the whole thing could have been settled without a fuss. When however, this offer was refused. Mr. Bryan told the sheriff that he had no directions to give about the writ issued by the court, and that the sheriff must do what the court had ordered. Now that the leases have been made, we suppose the sheriff will make return that the defendants and the plaintiff have agreed and that by consent the writ is returned to court.

The following is a copy of the printed form of lease used. This indenture, made this—day of—, A. D. 189—, by and between James A. Bryan, and both of the county of Craven and State of North Carolina, witnesseth; that the said James A. Bryan doth demise and lease unto the said—the lot or piece of land in James

CLEVELAND AT CHICAGO.

HE HAS ARRIVED THERE READY TO OPEN THE WORLD'S FAIR.

By Southern Associated Press.

Chicago, April 28.—Fresh from the splendors of the naval display President Cleveland was welcomed to Chicago with shouts of the multitude, booming of cannon, and the hearty greetings of the official representatives of the State of Illinois and city of Chicago. The welcome was inaugurated away down in the sister State of Indiana, where the special train was boarded by the composite delegation comprising Governor Altgeld and members of his staff, Mayor Harrison and his cabinet, Director-General Davis and Collector of Port John M. Clark. The President, who was personally acquainted with the majority of his visitors, received them cordially.

The scene enacted at the Union depot on the arrival of the President's party were in the main a repetition of those that greeted the Duke Veragua and his suite only that the throng in waiting was larger and infinitely more exuberant. It packed public portion big shed from one end to the other and massed itself solidly on steps, while outside there was a sea of heads for two blocks in either direction. President Palmer and vice-President Peck were in waiting at the depot to express words of greeting in behalf of the exposition.

When they reached Lexington Hotel there was a brief halt and President Cleveland, who stood upon the roof of the veranda surrounded by members of the Cabinet, made a short address. Upon the arrival of the procession at Jackson Park it proceeded up Fifty-seventh avenue to the Pennsylvania State building. The formal exercises were then inaugurated.

The duty of turning over the bell to the temporary care of the Chicago and World's Fair officials devolved upon Mayor Stuart, of the Quaker city. Mayor Harrison responded in a speech of acceptance on behalf of Chicago. President Palmer replied in the name of the National Commission and President Higginbotham for the local directory. Several other short speeches were made by visitors from Pennsylvania, and then with the singing of America and a final three times three for the Liberty bell, the exercises were brought to conclusion.

A Suggestion.

It has been suggested that since Mr. Davis has been so unfortunate as to be burned out of his fine hotel at Kittrell that inducements be offered him to rebuild in Raleigh and run a similar hotel here. This would bring the Northern people here and at the same time would not come in competition with our hotels.

Accommodations at Chicago.

As announced elsewhere, Mr. John O. Plank, who was well and favorably known in connection with the management of the Atlantic Hotel at Morehead City last season, has thrown open to the public three large, elegant and sumptuously appointed hotels at Chicago for the World's Fair, the Sutcliffe, the Carnell Avenue and the Park Gate. These hotels will be headquarters for North Carolinians. They are to a considerable extent served by North Carolina caterers and waiters. They are within easy reach of the Exposition and convenient to everything. Mr. Plank will make everybody comfortable at a low figure. We shall have full descriptions of these hotels later.
