God to remove from earth Captain Octavius Coke, a member of the Ad-Visory Council of the Ladies' Memo-rial Association, therefore be it Resolved. That in the death of Capt. Coke, Secretary of State, and a brave and efficient officer in the late Conferate Army, the people of North Carolina lost a public servant of ex-aited patrotism, and unflinching de-yotion to the duties devolving upon him, and to the welfare of the commonwealth.

Resolved, That the Ladie's Memorial Association mourns the departure of a trusted counsellor, a sympathetic friend of the veteran soldiers of the South, and a gallant soldiers of the South, and a gallant hero whose life illustrated in peace and war, the finest qualities of the statesman and the patriot.

2. That these resolutions be forwarded to the Press-Visiros of the city, with a request for publication, and a copy of the same he transmit ted to the family of the deceased. C. B. DENSON, J. B. BATCHELOR.

THE EXPOSITION A SUCCESS.

The Exhibits are Fast Assuming Shape and the Grounds are Truly Beautiful SCO

Mr. Potter, formerly in the Reve-nue office here, arrived in the city this morning from Atlanta and talked interestingly to a reporter of the Southern State's Exposition. He says that the indications at present are that the Exposition, as such, will be an unqualified success. The exhibits are not all in place as yet, but are being rapidly prepared by large numbers of workers.

Speaking of the grounds them-selves, Mr. Potter grew enthusiastic:

and flashing like varie-colored star from the mammoth Phoenix wheel give the grounds a fairy-like appearance, as charming to the eye as it is unique. Nature seems to have done all that she could do for the fair.

The most striking part of the programme was a military drill by soldiers representing the regular armies of four of the leading autions of the world. There were eighteen men in each of the four squade, all of them dressed in showy uniforms and superbly mounted on horseback. The United States soldiers were members of the seventh envalry, from Fort Riley; the British detachment were uniformed as the Fifth Royal Irieh Lances; the French were dragoous, and German's detachment from the Garde Cuirassiers of Emperor Wilhelm. As a contrast to these graduates of the best schools of riding in the world there were erabbilious by Jonagh rusts. "Consepts, indians, Western company, Araba and Merican vaqueros. The Mericans did wonders with the lascoes, the Consacks areated amasement by the case with which they rods ir difficult, seemingly impossible positions, and the cowboys created fun by riding bucking bronches and showing other stamples of cowboy fun. The Araba dismounted from their horses and grouped themselves in pyramids.
