A Russian Fleet at Port Arthur Would Mean War.

THE BRITISH EXCITED.

The English Press declares that England will resist to the death. United States is affected.

By Cable to the Press-Visitor.

London, Oct. 25.—Official business circles are excited over the report from Hong Kong to the effect that Russia has obtained the right to anchor a fleet at port Arthur and also to construct railroads on the Liaoning peninsula.

The fact that the Japanese fleet has been recalled from Formosa and several English warships ordered to Korea, indicate a re-opening of the eastern question in its widest sense. The Times says that the situation is so grave, if true, that it will make war which several nations will take part in. The afternoon papers all agree that British intervention in the far east is necessary. The Globe says: "Neither the United States, Japan or Germany will sanction the partition of China, which virtually renders the Pacific ocean a French and Russian lake, and the seal markets of China turned against their commerce. The Gazette says Japan will refuse to leave Port Arthur and that England will resist to the death, as the treaty also means Russian war ships off Vancouver and Sydney.

By Telegram to the Press-Visitor.

New York, October 25.—Liverpool opened in consequence of New York's decline yesterday 3 to 3-64 lower, but rallied and advanced 6-64 above the lowest. Towards the close the market eased off again, but closed quiet and steady about 3-64 above last night.

Spot business was good; sales, 10,000 bales, of which 9,000 bales were American; 1,000 bales for export and speculation; middling, 4 5-8; firm.

Interior receipts are very light. It is impossible to buy actual cotton on futures basis in the interior. Holders are firm and confident of higher prices. There is more demand from Europe.

The estimated receipts for today are 41,000 bales.

Next week we shall have to compare with the heaviest receipts on record. Saturday, 54,000 bales; Monday, 92,000; Tuesday, 74,000; Wednesday, 82,000; Thursday, 50,000; Friday, 76,000; total, 488,000 bales.

The Southern has decided to take this step in order that they may have close business relations with the Raleigh public and afford their patrons the most direct facilities for doing business with the road. It is another step forward by the Southern which will be appreciated.

Mr. Munson, who will have charge, is well liked and has great popularity in Raleigh, and will represent his road here with ability and satisfaction to the public.

ARM BROKEN IN COLLISION.

Mrs. Teague, of Burlington, Suffers a Painful Accident.

About noon yesterday when the travel to the fair grounds was heaviest, there was a collision between two street cars on the switch beyond St. Mary's. A lady passenger, Mrs. Teague, of Burlington, suffered a painful accident, her arm being broken.

The two cars were running in the same direction up a grade, at quite rapid speed. Both were packed with people and the momentum was something awful. Suddenly the current gave out; the brake was applied to the front car, but the chain broke and it commenced running backward. The other car was whirling on at a rapid gait. The motorman of the rear car saw that a collision was inevitable. He stuck to his post and reversed the motor. Had it not been for his prompt action some one would have been fatally hurt.

The passengers became panic-stricken and many of them jumped from the cars. One of these, Mrs. Teague, of Burlington, broke her arm in the fall. She was carried to Prof. Massey's house and the arm set. Last night she returned to Burlington. Several others were slightly bruised.

The track was blocked by the disabled car, and passengers had to walk from the A. & M. college to the grounds. The car management told the crowds nothing of the trouble.

STOLE HIS OWN SEIL.

Thus This Oute Distiller Bought to Cheat the Government.

The revenue office here was informed today of the seizure of a supposed illicit distillery, near Hope Mills and the arrest of D. D. Stewart, who it is alleged is the owner and operator. Seized in the woods were found various still adjuncts and quite a quantity of spirits of various sorts. Deputy Collector U. W. Troy made the capture and arrest.

The way in which Mr. Stewart laid his plans for defrauding the government were original, and indicate that he would be moonshiner possessed at least a great head. It was no defect in his scheme that caused him to get in limbo, but a defect in his moral character which caused him to be regarded as a suspicious character, to much, then, for the advantages attendant on a good "rep." This was the scheme:

A day or so before the seizure there was a wedding and sorrow in the house of Stewart. The wife and father and the little Stewart all wept loudly, and in concert for their whiskey still, daily registered, had been stolen; and with the still went their means of support. And so there was sorrow in the house of Stewart.

But Deputy Troy looked askance at the tears of the Stewarts; there was too much noise, too little moisture in the weeping. So he went to work and watched. And a man who had a grudge against Stewart came and told him of the latter's wild night work in the place.

So there is again sorrow in the house of Stewart.

In the fourth heat when Mosqueton was given the decision, 99 hundredths of the people said that it was an unfair decision. Mosqueton came under the wire in a gallop, while Clipper trotted under the wire. The decision of the judges caused much comment. The race will be completed today.

Waddill-Eckles.

(Norfolk Landmark.)

A brilliant wedding was solemnized at 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening at McKendree M. E. Church, the contracting parties being Mr. Thompson Burroughs Waddill, of Richmond, Va., and Miss Bennette Rebecca Eckles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Eckles, of this city.

The sacred edifice was crowded with a large audience, and the chancel was handsomely decorated with palms and ferns, while the wall in rear of the pulpit was gracefully festooned with trailing ivy vines. Numerous colored lights added to the beauty of the scene.

The wedding party entered the church, the ushers and bridesmaids leading the way, followed by the maid of honor and the bride, who was leaning on the arm of her father. At the chancel rail the groom and his best man, Captain E. A. Shepherd, of Richmond, met the bride, while the attendants formed a semi-circle around the altar. The Rev. J. T. Martin, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony in an impressive manner, while the organ, under the skilled touch of Mrs. Claude Carr, in subdued tones, poured forth the melodious notes of De-Koven's beautiful ballad, "O, Promise Me."

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of Duchesse satin, en traine, with pearl trimmings. She wore a bridal veil, fastened with orange blossoms, and carried a cluster of Bride roses. Her maid of honor wore a handsome evening costume of white silk organdie, and carried white roses. The bridesmaids were similarly attired. They were Miss Percy Bradley, of Richmond; Miss Helen Potiaux, of Richmond; Miss Maggie Waddill, sister of the groom, of Richmond; Miss Turner, of Petersburg; Miss Chapman, of Norfolk; Miss Flossie Barbour, of Norfolk; Miss Ethel Farley, of Christiansburg, Va., and Miss Annie Eley, of Norfolk.

The groom, best man and ushers were attired in full dress suits. The ushers were Messrs Joseph Wright, Charles Jones, Frank Matthews, Arthur Jay Howard and Dixon Eckles, of Norfolk; Mr. Charles C. Waddill and Mr. Walter Thompson, of Richmond and Mr. Edward Jones, of Raleigh.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party were driven to the residence of the bride's parents, in Clay avenue, where an elegant reception was held, during which Mr. and Mrs. Waddill received the congratulations of their many friends. The reception ended, they repaired to the Seaboard Air Line depot, where they took the train for Atlanta, Ga., and other Southern points of interest.

The Committee Goes to Thomasville.

The Alliance Executive Committee which has been in session several days adjourned last night without having reached any agreement as to the location of the proposed new show factory. Many towns made bids for the factory.

The committee decides to go to Thomasville and inspect the location and buildings sites which had been offered them in that place. They left this morning.

It is said that the location of the factory is between the towns of Thomasville and Cary. Greensboro was one time in the lead.

Cary it is said stands a good chance.

"HOOCHY-KOOCHY" NO MORE

The Dancing Women on the Midway Have Been Stopped.

The "Hoochy Koochy" dancers will dance no more on the midway at the State Fair. This was decided upon last night at the meeting of the Agricultural Society.

The crusade against the midway has been anticipated for several days and many expressions of surprise have been heard because there were no young Parkhursts in the city.

What do the dancers care. The Fair has come and gone and they have reaped their harvest.

Mr. N. B. Broughton was the first gentleman to take steps to stop the performance of these dancers at the grounds. He brought the matter before the meeting of the Agricultural Society last evening. He said "The 'Hoochy-Koochy' dance, as these fakers call it, is, I am informed, so outrageously indecent as to make necessary a protest from the decent people of the State. In making this protest, I do not reflect upon either the President or the Secretary of this society, neither of whom knew until this afternoon the excessively indecent nature of these vulgar performances."

Mr. Broughton said they were demoralizing. He thought that they ought to be closed today, this being children's day.

Col. Julian S. Carr, Col. John S. Cunningham, Maj. J. W. Wilson and others seconded Mr. Broughton's motion.

Col. Carr said neither he nor the Secretary knew the character of these exhibitions. He stated that he had already entered his protest. He went to see the show, and it was positively disgusting. He had spent several hours in trying to regulate the evil, and had stopped as much as he could of the indecent talk on the outside. Col. Carr said: "We must keep the morals of the young people, if we would preserve the morals of the State."

Mr. Broughton's motion was made to include all the gambling schemes on the grounds.

Anderson Lewis Misses the Fair.

A tale of a nigger, a bale of cotton and a creditor.

A modern setting, truly, but hark to the lay. Yesterday morning Anderson Lewis, a colored farmer, road proudly into town. His seat was a 426 bale of cotton; and he sang in his glee. The cotton was sold, a check given by Mr. Lee and happy Lewis started, whistling, to the bank.

But Mr. Bob. Parham came in the tragedy. He claims that he had a mortgage on Lewis' cotton. So when he heard that the latter was in town, he "got out papers." The negro heard this, carried back the check, got his cotton and went back home. Last night Deputy Brooks seized the bale.

So that is why Anderson Lewis missed the midway's charms.

Sells Brothers' Great Three Ring Circus.

"The times change and we have changed with them," said the Roman philosopher. It may be also said that these changes are not always for the better, but often brings retrogression and decay; and this is particularly true of the circus of today. In fact, since the great ring-master, Death, gave Adam Forepaugh and P. T. Barnum their final cues, it may be remarked that but one truly great and legitimate circus remains, that of Sells Brothers, which is to exhibit at Raleigh Tuesday October 30th. The only big tented exhibition that will visit the city this season, introducing Grand Triple Ring Circus, Hippodrome Races, Mammoth Menagerie, two Elevated Theatre Stages, Australian Aviary, Arabian Caravan, Tropical Aquarium, Spectacular Pageants, Trans-Pacific Wild beast exhibit and Free Street Parade. Sells Brothers present a more than abundant feast of everything which appetizes to the most popular entertainments. In exclusive features, such as their monster pair of Hippopotami, a whole flock of Ostriches, Trained Seals and Sea Lions, and a host of the rare curiosities too numerous to mention completes a wonderful performance.

Miss Winnie Thornton, of Littleton, is visiting in the city.

Mr. W. C. Dowd, editor of the Charlotte News, is in the city.
