TODAY'S MARKETS.

New York Closes Seven Points Up and Steady.

New York, Nov. 7.—The markets are again disappointing in character, a sharp advance in Liverpool having been quickly lost and the improvement in this market has been lost also. As soon as the covering demand was satisfied, that cotton should show such weakness is a surprise to the trade. They simply don't know what to think of such a condition in the month of November, with the movement on a sale of a $3,000,000 bales crop. It would appear on the surface that the change in sentiment all over the country regarding business was of such a character as to stop the speculative demand for cotton and bring the demand for contracts to a limited scale.

New York Cotton Market.

New York, Nov. 7.—Liverpool opened fully 2-64 down, but advanced 4-64 with a steady undertone. Later on the market gave way and the close was steady at a net decline of 1-64. Spot demand moderate; sales, 8,000 bales, of which 7,000 bales American; 500 bales for speculation and export; middling 43-4, firmer.

New York opened about 5 points up an improved further. Afterwards the market became easier and lost almost the advance. Towards the close there was a better undertone and futures recovered nearly the loss closing at an advance of 7 points, steady.

Liverpool closed that bears were covering, sentiment buying, political outlook better, that the outlook for trade is more favorable; Lancashire is said to be bare of cotton, and will soon be compelled to buy freely. Besides light receipts are causing some uneasiness and it is predicted that the movement in November will indicate a very small crop.

Options closed as follows: November, 8.59 to 8.61; December, 8.62 to 8.63; January, 8.63 to 8.65; February, 8.73 to 8.74; March, 8.77 to 8.78; April, 8.81 to 8.82; May, 8.86 to 8.87; June, 8.90 to 8.91; July, 8.94 to 8.95; August, 8.97 to 8.99; October, 1896, 8.42 to 8.45.

Sales, 319,900 Receipts, 30,987, against 30,000 last year. Tomorrow we shall have to compare with 86,000 bales last year.

Chicago Grain Market.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Grain quotations closed to-day as follows: Wheat—December, 68 1-8; May, 68 3-8 to 68 1-2. Corn—December, 37 7-8; May, 39 3-8. Oats—December, 18 5-8; May, 20 5-8.

Raleigh Cotton Market.

Thursday, November 7th. Strict good middling, 81-3 to 81-5. Good middling, 81-3 to 81-2. Strict middling, 81-4. Middling, 81-8 to 81-4. Tinges, 8. Market steady. Receipts, 75 bales.

RATIFICATION MEETING.

Colored People Organize—The Meeting Last Night.

A few days ago a call was made for a ratification meeting of the negroes of the State to endorse the action taken at a conference held here last September on matters pertaining to the welfare of the negro race.

Ed Johnson, the lawyer, has kept his aide hot in past issues of the State Republican. Johnson has denied that Democrats or anyone else were connected with the move, but insists that the purpose of the conference is to establish business enterprises and to advance the educational interests of the colored race.

Jim Young is talking for Buncombe when he asserts that it is a Democratic move. Last night the ratification meeting was held in Metropolitan Hall. A fairly large audience was present.

The meeting was called to order by Rev. R. H. W. Leak, who also made a short address. Letters were read from Col. Thos. B. Keogh and Mr. James E. Boyd, of Greensboro, advising harmony above all things.

Pres. Chas. E. Meserve addressed the audience. The Professor is a talented speaker and his address contained many practical thoughts. Ex-Congressman O'neatham and others also spoke.

A resolution was passed urging the colored women of the State to organize for the promotion of the interest of the colored race. The plan of organization adopted by this meeting provides for the organization in the different counties of branch associations, auxiliary to the State Association. A section of this plan says: "At all these meetings of the councils the main idea should be to urge the people to educate their children; second, to patronize negro enterprises, build manufacturing establishments, and cooperate in all ways for the best interest of the race."

MURDERED IN COLD BLOOD.

D. W. Justice of Richmond, Shoots Down a Negro.

Sheriff Smith, of Richmond county, is in the city today. He brings news of what he characterizes as a cold blooded murder, which occurred in his county last Saturday night.

It seems that D. W. Justice, a white man, was on a regular old-fashioned jag. There were several fights in each drink he took and he got into several difficulties. Finally he met a negro named Madison Quake. It is not known whether Justice had any grudge against him or not. But to the horror of those with him he pulled his pistol and fired point blank at the unoffending negro.

The deed must have sobered Justice, for when Quake fell he broke and ran; he has not since been heard from. Quake died in a few minutes after he was shot.

Sheriff Smith this morning went to see the Governor in order to get a reward. As his Excellency is in Atlanta, this must wait awhile.

SHE MADE THE TRAIN.

A Poor Woman's Exciting Race—Her Boy at Burlington Dead.

A little after nine o'clock this morning people on Fayetteville street were surprised at the queer behavior of a street car, which came dashing at full speed where usually the rate is five or six miles an hour. Every now and then a passenger hung from the step, made a wild leap and went about his business. But the car was not stopped; it scarcely slackened its speed.

For in the car was a grief-stricken woman, whose boy at Burlington lay dead. The train left at nine five o'clock; it was nine five then; so that is why the lever was pushed over and the cog wheels whirred and trolley hummed as the car dashed down Fayetteville street; it was to save a poor, heartbroken mother whose angel.

The woman, whose name could not be ascertained, boarded the car at the corner of Polk and Blount streets. She got on alone, and the passengers as they looked at her were surprised to see that she was weeping. All the way down to the switch, she moved nervously, anxious grief written in every line of her sorrow-pined face.

"I have just received a telegram that my son at Burlington is dead," she said to a sympathetic passenger, "and I'm on my way to catch the train now, if it isn't too late. Oh! if it is! if it is!"

And it looked as though she would miss it, for it was nearly nine o'clock; and the train left at 9:05 o'clock.

So when the car came to the switch and the poor mother waiting in the slow-moving car from Hillsboro street in an agony of suspense, the kind-hearted passenger bestirred himself. He explained the matter quickly to the conductor and motorman. It was no time for delay and the car moved. How it did move!

The passengers got off or stayed on according to their nerve, but nothing stopped the car. When the last of five hard curves had been turned, the train was leaving the depot. But frantic shouts and wavings pulled it down.

So the poor mother reached the spot where her boy lay dead and this little story explains the phenomenon of a "Flying Dutchman" car this morning, whose every pulsation of cog told of a story of love and death.

Mrs. S. E. Northington at Holly Springs.

Correspondence to the Press-Visitor.

HOLLY SPRINGS, N. C., Nov. 7. Quite a surprise to the many friends of this refined and highly cultivated lady was her entertainment here on the evening of the 4th inst., as she has added, since she left North Carolina, education to her other accomplishments. Her selections are the latest, and while they teach valuable lessons in morals and religion, they are also interspersed with the laughable. She made the evening one of genuine delight to all who were fortunate enough to witness the grace and elegance with which she adorned her work. Her closing address to her friends and the love she expressed for them and her native State, North Carolina, thrilled them all and "brought down the house," as she had frequently done before during the evening.

She will carry back to her home in Kansas, to her husband, Dr. Northington, the tenderest love of her many, many friends and their fondest hopes that life will continue to be all joyous to the end. Would that the Doctor and she could have remained in the Old North State. We claim them and do need them.

Dr. Hatcher will do the Paying. Dr. Wm. E. Hatcher of Richmond will not allow Mrs. Todd to pay the amount of damages obtained against her in the suit brought by Miss Gibson. Dr. Hatcher according to a previous understanding will pay the damages and cost. The damages are $3,900. It is not known whether an appeal will be taken. According to a rumor reported in the Richmond papers a lady has been found who says that she made the remark, which was attributed to Miss Gibson. She was accused of saying that Mrs. Dr. Hatcher was a kleptomaniac.

Smiling Republicans, These.

All the local Republicans look like they have just become heirs to large fortunes, judging from their countenances. Their faces are wreathed in smiles. The possibility of the pie counter being revived next year is quite welcome news to some people. Very little sympathy is expressed for Democrats in Maryland. Mr. Gorman and Friday Huret have come in for a deal of censure. As a certain State officer remarked, "It wasn't our day."

PRETTY WEDDING LAST NIGHT

Mr. J. R. B. Carraway Weds Miss Louise Elgie.

At nine o'clock last evening Miss Louise Elgie, of Raleigh, was married to Mr. J. R. B. Carraway, of Newbern. The ceremony took place at Christ Church, Rev. Dr. Marshall officiating.

Many friends filled the church long before the party arrived. The ushers were Messrs. J. S. Wahab and J. D. Gaskins, of Newbern; Messrs. F. P. Haywood Jr. and Thos. Pescud, of Raleigh.

The bride came in following the maid of honor, and leaning on the arm of her brother, Capt. W. I. Elgie. She was dressed in white satin, en train, trimmed with lace and orange blossoms, with diamond ornaments, including a brooch, the gift of the groom.

The groom and his best man, Mr. T. D. Carraway met the bride at the altar. The ceremony was performed by Dr. M. M. Marshall, assisted by Rev. T. M. N. George, rector of Christ Church, Newbern.

The groom is teller of the bank of Newbern and a highly esteemed and popular young man; the bride is a daughter of Mrs. Julia Elgie and has many friends to wish her a happy married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Carraway left this morning for a bridal trip to New York.

AVERA-ALLEN.

The Marriage of Two Popular Young People Yesterday at 2:30 P. M. Yesterday at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in the southern part of the county at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Allen, Mr. Will D. Avera was united in marriage to Miss Carrie Allen.

The ceremony was beautifully performed at the mansion home of the bride's parents. The parlors had been decorated before hand for the event, presenting a scene of rare beauty.

The ushers were Miss W. H. McCullers and Donnie Creech. The bridesmen and groomsmen preceded the bride and groom in the following order: Mrs. Avera and Miss Kate Westbrook, Dr. J. M. Ayer and Miss Mattie Johns, Charles W. Horse and Miss Bessie Belvin, Allen K. Smith and Miss Alice Johns, D. O. McCullers and Miss Katie Fort, Fred Howle and Miss May A. Young, Sam Honeycutt and Miss Mayme Gulley, Fin Bowen and Miss Jessie Ellington.

Mr. Ed. Egerton, of Selma, was best man and Miss Mary Avera, sister of the groom was maid of honor. Miss Minnie Barbee presided at the organ. Mr. Avera, for many years a resident of Raleigh, and son of our well-known townsman, is well and favorably known in this city. His popularity is no less great in Johnston county, which place he has made his home. The bride is a charming woman. She enjoys a wide spread acquaintance, and is held in high esteem by a large number of friends.

Decisions in Two Important Cases Awaited.

There are two very important cases in which arguments have been made, but no decisions rendered. The cases are of State interest because they involve the right to the possession of two State offices. One is the case of Stanford vs. Ellington, in which the plaintiff seeks to get possession of the State Library. Arguments were made in the case several weeks ago, before the Supreme Court.

The other is the Kitchen case, where the only Buck is contesting for the management of the Penitentiary. Arguments were made in this case in the Superior Court some ten days ago. Judge Coble has as yet rendered no decision. It is expected that decisions will be forthcoming in both cases at an early date.

The Seaboard $5. Rate to Atlanta.

The Seaboard announces that the remarkably low rate of $5. for the round trip to Atlanta will be in effect on the 13th. This is the lowest rate yet offered and it will no doubt induce many persons to take advantage of it.

On that date Mr. F. K. Ellington will take a personally conducted party. Ample preparations have been made for caring for a large number.

Parties desiring to go to the Atlanta Exposition should avail themselves of the opportunity offered by the personally conducted excursion under the supervision of Mr. F. K. Ellington. The date is November 12th. Further information can be obtained of Mr. Ellington or Mr. Leard at the uptown office.

Sheriff Smith today expressed simply the average belief of Republicans on the financial question. Asked by adjor Telfair how he stood as to silver, the Sheriff replied: "Well I'm a silver man, as long as that don't conflict with my party." This stalwart partisanship is refreshing to say the least, here in North Carolina. If all Democrats were as thorough partisans as this Republican there would be little danger of one, or twenty newspapers like the Sun, giving away a State.
