ulist Committe.

Bryan and Watson Will Be the Candidates of the People's Party 'Till the Polls Close in November-Will Not Be Notified.

The Washington Times of yesterterday says:

The Populist Executive committee decided last night that there would be no notification call upon the candidates for the Presidency and the Vice Presidency.

It was also given out officially by the committee that it recognized Bryan and Watson as the candidates of the Populists, one as much as the other, and that one would not be sacrificed to the other.

As to the plans at the proposed new headquarters, for the present they will be at the Shoreham and will be under charge of Senator Butler and Mr. J. A. Edgerton, of Nebraska, the secretary of the executive committee.

Senator Butler and whatever assistance he may obtain, will distribute literature and otherwise conduct the campaign from this point. There will be no confusion as to the consignees as the list of the people to be supplied by the Democrats and the Populists will be different, but they will get practically the same kind of reading matter.

No Notification Meeting.

The committee has decided to have one head for the two committees, the Executive Populist and the Congressionional, Mr. Butler to be the chairman.

Senator Butler was asked if the conference held between him, his committee and Chairman Jones had anything to do with the determination that the Democratic candidates should not be formally notified of their nomination. The reply was at it had never been the custom of the People's party to formally notify its candidates and that there would be no departure in this in-

As to the nature of the interview between the committee and Chairman Jones Mr. Butler would not be interrogated with a view to getting answers, although he is as courteous as he is shrewd. He would say, however, that it was of the Populist executive committee. satisfactory.

He was asked if the statement given out to the effect that Bryan and Watson would be regarded as the candidates of the People's Party would have any retroactive effect on fusions already made in the West. He said that it would not, and that he regarded it as good politics to have made combinations for the good of the party where success was to be obtained in no other manner.

Sewall Not Recognized. The executive committee of the Populist party gave out an interesting statement last night in response to a question, which is construed in divers ways by divers Republicans, Democrats and but which all parties and partisans regard as important and significent.

The committee was in session vesterday morning and afternoon for some hours, the two questions not decided being the location of Populist headquarters and the expression of an attitude toward Mr. Sewall. This latter question has been denied as forming a part of the conference proceedings. It was, on the contrary, stated that the executive committee was employed most of the time discussing the "general situation."

It is a fact, however, that both Senator Faulkner and Chairman Jones had conferences with the committee day and night. One of the conferences was possibly of so urgent a nature that Chairman Jones met Mr. Butler and Mr. Washburn of Massachusetts and conferred with these gentlemen while they were at dinner at the Shoreham.

The question was asked Senator Butler after the adjournment of the committee last evening if they would take any action with regard to the withdrawal of either Bryan or Watson from the Populist ticket. To this Senator Butler dictated the following:

Bryan and Watson.

"The People's party ticket as in the business for named by the St. Louis convention Greensboro Record.

is Bryan and Watson, and that will be the People's party ticket until WATSON AND GUTHRIE the polls close in November.

"Mr. Bryan is as much our candidate as Mr. Watson is, and as far as Issued on Behalf of the Pop- this committee has the power it will Chairman Manly Consents to strive just as hard to elect one as it will to elect the other, and will leave nothing in its power undone to help either or both; but it will not help TOSTAND BY WATSON- one candidate at the expense of the RUSSELL HAS GONE.

"You may say," added Mr. Butler, to the press, "that this is the unanimous opinion of the com-

At Democratic headquarters the general comment on this was to the effect that Senator Butler could not have said anything else consistently with the fact that Bryan and Watson were the nominees of the Populist party. Other opinion was that, if this executive committee had spoken in this way long ago, that fusion by which Watson was sacrificed wholly or in part in some States would have been impossible. The statement as read literally means but one thing, and that is the Populists in States which have not yet fused are expected to stand by Watson without any dicker, giving Sewall electors a place on their ticket.

States that Are Affected.

One of the States which will be affected by this manifestto will undoubtedly be North Carolina. It is well known that the straight out Democrats of that State, under the leadership of Mr. Joseph Daniels, former chief clerk under Hoke Smith, have made an offer for fusion to the Populists. This fusion has been in abeyance, but it would appear that if the statement of Mr. Butler means anything at all, there will now be no fusion unless the Democrats accept Mr. Watson.

Mr. Daniels was in the city yesterday and left for home last night. A reporter for The Times asked him what would be the result now that this statement had been made by Senator Butler, Mr. Daniels said if it was necessary to have three tickets the faction he represented would win. He places the strength of the Populists in North Carolina at 50,000, that of the Democrats at from 120,000 to 125,000, and that of the Republicans at 110,000, gold Democrats at about 3,000.

"We, however,' 'he said, "don't want to make any division, and it was for this purpose that we proposed to the Populists to give them five electors, we to take six electors. The Populists ceased nominating their electors after having chosen one, the matter is now in the hands They have not yet given us an

Silver Above Party.

Mr. Daniels is of the opinion that fully 90 per cent. of the people of North Carolina are for silver and that their desire is for the election of silver nominees. He doe's not think that the people for silver will follow any lead that may burt the chances of Democratic success.

Assuming as some Democrats do that the Populist Excutive Committee means that there can be no compromise on Watsow, which they are bound to assume, as he is their candidate, there is nothing left for the Bryan-Sewall combination but to run its own ticket and take the chances of what the Populists will do and also taking into consideration that the Populists have heretofore won by the aid of Republicans.

Senator Butler's attention was called to the statement that the Populist vote in North Carolina was about 50,000. He said substantially that if this were so it would appear strange that the Democrats, claiming from 120,000 to 125,000, should have though it prudent to have made an offer for fusion with the Populists.

He was asked to state the Populist strength. He did not give this numerically, but said that any party that could command 100,000 votes in North Carolina could carry the elec-

If then, he was asked, there are three tickets in the field in North Carolina this election, will the Populists win? He said that if he did not think so he would be unfit to hold the position he now does.

Butler Said he Gave his People What they Wanted, But in a Different Way From What They Expected.

There will in all probability be oint discussion between Hon. Cy Watson and Maj. Wm. A. Guthrie nominees of the Democratic and Populist parties respectively.

Chairman Manly will at an eary date address a letter to Hal W. Ayer in reply to his proposi tion for a joint discussion during the campaign between Messrs. Watson and Guthrie. This course was decided upon this morning by Chairman Manly after a full consultation with members of his advisory committee and the campaign committee.

The details of the joint debute are with the future, though it is expected to commence soon after Major Guthrie's present engagements expire. All this will be arranged at a subsequent time by the two chair-

Judge Russell has not undergone a change of opinion recently, and he will steer clear of joint debates in the interest of William McKinley. Judge Russell left this afternoon for Hendersonville where he opens the campaign Saturday. Senator Pritchard will speak first. Judge Russell says his speech will be short that

A well known Republican makes the statement that Senator Butler told him in Goldsboro while on his way home from the Populist State Convention that he gave his people what they wanted, only he gave it to them in a different way from what they expected.

This was an honest assertion and one which every citizen in the State will assent to, in so far as it relates to the Populist State Convention. Senator Butler certainly handed out to the delegates such little crumbs of encouragement as they received. he made the statement to make it appear that he had come out of the scuffle with a victory, when really he had his pins knocked from publican Executive Committee.

There is little doubt but that the Republicans phased Senator Butler by their action, and those who talked to him Saturday morning say that he showed evidences of it.

When told that Col. Dockery would support McKinley, Maj. Hiram Grant remarked, "Why of course he will. If he did not, we would pull him off our ticket pretty quick. "Mr. Grant said that the Republicans did not propose to monkey with Senator Butler, and moreover they intended no dealings with him whatever

In confirmation of our story yesterday that Col. Dockery would sup port McKinley and Hobart, a member of the Republican Executive committee tells us that Col. Pockery was never put on the Republican ticket until Mr. Claude Dockery came before the committee and gave assurance that his father would sup port the national ticket.

Mewborne Not Enthusiastic.

State Senator Mewborne, of Lenoir, was here today. Mr. Mewborne was conspicuous by his absence from the Populist State Convention. being the only Populist of note who asked today what he thought of the State ticket put forth. His reply was that he guessed it was all right.

Mr. Mewborne was told that Dockery was for McKinley and he was asked if he would support a McKinley man for office.

"Under some circumstances might," he replied.

The Washington Post of vesterday contains the following: The chief anxiety at Democratic headquarters, so far as the South is concerned, relates to North Carolina and Kentucky.

Josephus Daniels, member of the Democratic national committee from North Carolina, came here to try to patch up party difficulties in that State. He was in conference with Senators Jones and Butler yesterday, but without much result, as Senator Butler seems entirely satisfied with the political situation in his own State. He says the 11 electoral votes of North Carolina will be cast for Watson. Mr. Daniels left for home last night. Nothing, he said, has been accomplished thus far. He said that the Democrats had offered the Populists five electors out of the eleven. He thinks Mr. Butler's statement will prevent the possibility of a Populist-Republican fusion such as was feared, but that it may town in the evening. He esult in placing three electoral tickets in the field.

When Senator Butler was informed that Mr. Daniels had stated that the Democratic vote in that State is 125,000, the Populist vote 50,000 and the Republican 100,000 he said: Did you ask him why it is that a party with 125,000 votes wants to fuse with a party having 50,000? It go via the Burlington railway to is generally admitted that the party polling 100,000 votes in a threecornered fight in North Carolina will carry the State. The only inference is that Mr. Daniels knows as well as anbody that the last vote in North Carolina is something that his party cannot afford to rely on, as there has been a new election law enacted

Mr. Butler added that his party would undoubtedly put up Bryan and Watson electors, which of itself insured there being three tickets in
