yesterday and took to the bushes. The new committee wanted fusion and no power could stay them. The Republicens knew this fact a week ago and that accounts for the fact that they exercised no undue anxiety or alarm as to the result. And when one comes to look at the complexion of the Populist committee no surprise should be occasioned. The committeemen are direct from the rank and file of the Populists, having been elected by districts. The action of the Populists in a majority of the districts plainly indicates that that they were rantankerous for fusion

Zack Garrett, Populist elector-atlarge, says Bryan must be elected and that the question of fusion between Democrats and Populists in this State must be settled. Mr Garrett thinks that the Democrats should allow the Populists to name all eleven electors.

Chairman Holton says the curtain has fallen and there will be no more fixing of tickets. He expressed the opinion that the Democrats and Populists would not be able to get together on electors. "If the Populists fuse with the Democrats" he says, 'they will have to takeGuthrie down.' Chairman Holton predicts the election of the combination ticket by 75,000, He says the Democrats stole 30,000 votes last time.

Otho Wilson says the fusion ticket will win by from 50,000 to 70,000.

Claude Dockery announced before leaving yesterday that he would support McKinley and Hobart.

Pat Massy is one Republican who is displeased with yesterday's action. The Republican committee gave Pat the marble heart and the gentleman feels much burt. He had packed his grip to goto Nash, where he announced Wednesday that he would begin his canvass. Where are the Republicans now who so loudly claimed that Massy would not be taken down?

The Republican Executive Committee is going to send Jim Young out to campaign. He speaks at Winston Wednesday; Salisbury Thursday and Statesville Friday.

Terrific Cyclone in Paris.

PARIS, Sept. 11 .- A hundred and blossoms. One is in full bloom this fifty were injured yesterday in a is not significant, and the campaign cyclone, forty seriously.

The theory was at once advanced that the open switch was the work of some miscreant, an enemy to General Manager St. John, who did the work with a view to taking the life of the railroad man. It was positively known that Mr. St. John would be on the train, and the train wrecker (and there is no doubt that the defection in the track was caused by a train wrecker) was evidently aiming at the passenger train, as according to schedule, it was the first to pass the place. But for the accident of its being late the train would have dashed into the defective switch and a frightful loss of life would have followed. There is no doubt that the wreck was the work of train wreckers. The spikes were drawn from the two switches connecting the sidetrack with the main line. The spikes were thrown down by the side of the track, where they were found just after the wreck. The stables holding the switch in position had also been drawn and cast aside. Then the switches had been opened and left in that condition. The north-bound passenger Thursday night passed Hull at 11 o'clock. All was safe with the switches then. It is believed firmly that the intention due at Hull yesterday morning. The villiain's work was evidently done about fifteen minutes to 1 o'clock vesterday morning. The conductor of the freight signaled the passenger in time to prevent any accident to it. There are several rumors as to the guilty parties, but none suffici ently backed up as yet by evidence to warrant a charge. It is rumored that some dissatisfied employee of the road was at the bottom of the affair. Another rumor attaches the guilt to an other employee.

Mr. St. John offers a reward of $250 for the arrest of the guilty party.

Pleasant Weather.

The conditions are very indefinite this morning. There are no decided features on the map. The preseure has fallen over the south and over the northwest, but is still relatively high over these sections.

The pressure is low over the central portion of the country, but the "low" seems to be of very slight force.

Weather continues clear east of the Mississippi.

The "high" and area of the cold weather noted in the northwest yesterday has partially disappeared; the preasure has fallen and temperature has risen. So there is no immediate prospect of cool weather. And, on the whole, there seems to be hardly any chance for rain during the next 36 hours.
