TELEPHONE No. 168. FRIDAY, OCT. 9, 1896.

George B. McClellan, honored son of an honored and historic sire, has won a Congressional nomination in New York on a gold platform, after a hot fight with the Tammany Silverites.

According to a voracious chronicler of Danville, Ky., the Rev. Peter Vinegar has prepared a sermon entitled "Hell at the Toll Gates," and the people of excitable Washington county demand that he prove the identification.

Following the report of the distillers' efforts to advance the price of whiskey, comes the announcement from Springfield, Mo., that a great horde of three-cornered green bugs passed through there, just after an army of big grasshoppers had abandoned an encampment around the city.

Justice as it is dispensed, officially and otherwise, in Arizona had an illustration the other day at Phoenix, when a man who had thrashed a Peeping Tom went to Justice Johnston, and wanted to plead guilty, but was told to go back home and drub the offender again upon any provocation.

Two troops of cavalry have been dispatched to Tuscarora, Indian Territory, to settle an election row between two Choctaw factions. It seems to be a slow and poky business to elevate the red man to the level of the Caucasian elector, but troops at the polls may finally achieve this difficult task.

Lieutenant Joseph E. Maxfield, chief signal officer of the department of the Missouri, is to make an ascent at Chicago by means of a man-carrying kite. The kite is to be built by Octave Chanute, and will have an arm chair fitted to the frame, and will be for the purpose of testing the efficiency of a flying kite for observation purposes as an adjunct to the balloon service.

Extensive advertising costs too much to be profitably based on misrepresentation, and it has been well said that "all successful advertising is honest advertising, and almost all advertising is successful." The qualification "almost" is necessary. Honesty alone will not fill the bill. The Jeffersonian standard applies as well to the trade-seeker as to the office-seeker; he must be capable as well as honest. The combination makes the winner.

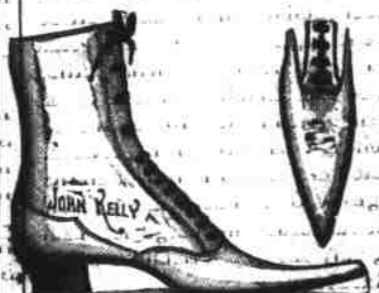

Boston and Baltimore, long ago clasped hands over the bloody chasm of the civil war, and the Baltimore Sun remarks that the graceful and touching tribute paid yesterday by Colonel Walker and his comrades of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery to the memory of the Confederate dead, who rest at London Park, shows that the chasm itself has entirely disappeared, and that the brave men of both sections are now united in heart, as well as in outward seeming. Our own Fifth Regiment many years ago set the generous example to which the representatatives of Boston yesterday as an appropriate memorial to the city of the Sun in honor of the Confederates. The Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Massachusetts is animated by the true spirit of chivalry and patriotism. The noble pilgrimage of members of the organization to London Park will be remembered as the most notable and significant incident of their visit. The flowers which they placed upon the Confederate monument will not fade and die, but will continue to bloom with sweet fragrance in the memory and heart of Maryland as long as bravery and magnanimity arouse the admiration and excite the emulation of Americans.

Talk

With Hood's Sarsaparilla, "Sales Talk," and show that this medicine has enjoyed public confidence and patronage to a greater extent than any other proprietary medicine. This is simply because it produces greater cures than any other. It is not what we say, but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. All advertisements of Hood's Sarsaparilla, like Hood's Sarsaparilla itself, are honest. We have never deceived the public, and this with its superlative medicinal merit, is why the people have abiding confidence in it, and buy
