KITCHEN AND WHITAKER

Read Out of the Populist Party by the Caucasian.

The Caucasian reads Capt. Buck Kitchen and Ex-Judge Spier Whitaker out of the Populist party this week in an editorial headed, "Jump, Gentlemen, Jump." The paper says: "Of course the motives for Capt. Kitchen's course is clear. He has one son nominated by the Democrats of Halifax county for the State Senate. He has another son nominated by the Democrats of the Fifth district for Congress. His paternal instincts and natural family pride inspire him to appeal to all people to stand by the Democrats. But when he does this he ought to go the whole hog." He ought to call himself a Democrat.

We are somewhat frustrated at Judge Whitaker's course. He is posing as a Populist. He is a "new recruit" to the Peoples Party—so new that he has never yet had an opportunity of voting a Populist ticket; and we all know that elections are held every two years. I therefore mystified as somewhat to hear and see that he is declaring himself as being "confounded by the recent action of the Populists in going into a deal with Republicans, etc., etc., and still claiming to be a Populist. Why does he not join a party that will not make or try to make such deals—if he can find one in this State?!!! Ah!

Judge Whitaker is taken to task for making public a Populist secret circular.

"Gentlemen you are in the wrong pew. Your course declares that there is some party somewhere with which you can affiliate with more satisfaction than with the Peoples Party. We beg you to go on a hunt for that party and fall into its ranks. Yes, go at once and take every blessed thing you can with you. The Peoples Party organization does not care to have in its ranks members as cannot be relied upon to come to its support when it calls for help to carry out its policy. You had better go where you can find less party and "more principle" than you seem to think exists in the Peoples Party.

"But where will you go? Back to the Democrats? The Democrats have been saying all sorts of hard things about the Populists—calling them traitors, dishonest tricksters, goldbugs, &c., because Populists entered into an agreement with Republicans. But haven't you heard that the Democrats have made a proposition for fusion with the Populists?—these dishonest tricksters and goldbugs?—and if Populists are dishonest tricksters and goldbugs and the Democrats seek to make a deal with them, are the Democrats any less dishonest and goldbuggy than the Populists?

"We do not wish to be harsh, but we may be permitted to remind you that when it was understood that you had left the Democratic party, the Democrats snickered and openly said they had not lost much. And by the great Horn Spoon we—well! the Democrats need help now and if you will go back, maybe they won't talk that way any more. Jump, gentlemen jump. Now is your time.

Numbers of people who want good government have not registered. Tomorrow is the last day.

HON. E. W. POUHERE.

Much Gratified With the Canvass—Many Expected Today.

Hon. E. W. Pou, who will represent the metropolitan district of North Carolina in the next Congress is in the city.

Mr. Pou is much encouraged with the result of his campaign so far and indeed he should be. Wherever he has addressed the people in joint canvasses with Uncle Stroud good reports have invariably followed. Mr. Pou has made a brilliant canvass and it has not been without gratifying results.

Mr. Pou says the party is in much better condition in Chatham, Johnston and Nash than two years ago. In Johnston the Democrats are very enthusiastic and they can be counted on to do their part to elect our gallant young nominee.

Pat Massey and his letter of withdrawal are expected here today. All these circumstances will not work the defeat of Mr. Pou.

Do you want to defeat Russellism. Tomorrow is the last day in which to register.

Mr. L. A. Carr, one of Durham's most progressive citizens, was here today.

AN ADDRESS BY MANLY

To Be Issued to Democratic Voters in the State.

ALL LINES DRAWN.

Says Ayer: The People Must Elect Their Tickets—Adjutant Otho Thinks Russell Will Be Elected Governor of this State.

Chairman Manly, of the Democratic State Executive Committee, is preparing an address which he will issue to the voters of the State. The address will summarize the situation as it exists and will set forth the position of the committee in proposing fusion with the Populists. The address will be quite an interesting document.

Adjutant Wilson is prepared for four years of Russellism and his equanimity does not appear to be perturbed in the least. Otho made the statement today that Russell would be elected Governor if conditions continued as they exist today.

"Instead of 'watch Guthrie' we would suggest 'where is Guthrie?'" The Adjutant could tell.

Chairman Manly announces that he will make no reply to the Populist ultimatum. "It needs none," was his jocular reply. Mr. Manly said his committee would not be convened again.

Chairman Ayer stated today that the show was over, the lines had been finally drawn and it remained for the people to choose their ticket.

"You will fight the Democrats from now on?" Mr. Ayer was asked.

"I will fight for Populists," he said.

The Populist Chairman thinks that the Democratic committee made a grave mistake in leaving the city before his committee met, or at least he thinks they should have been here while his committee was in session.

"It looked very bad," Mr. Ayer said, "to see them leave before we assembled. I think that is a poor way to transact business, at least I would not do that way."

It is learned upon authority that Chairman Ayer told a number of members of the Democratic committee as early as last Monday that any proposition looking to fusion would not be accepted on account of lateness of the day. Adjutant said the same thing. No doubt exists that the committee was duly informed of the course which the Populists would pursue. The committee acted knowingly.

TO LOOK FOR A BULLET.

Mr. W. C. Stronach Goes to Wake Forest to Be Examined by X-Ray.

Thirty-two years ago Mr. W. C. Stronach received a wound in his shoulder while in the thickest of an engagement during the recent difficulty with our northern friends. The wound was the result of a bullet striking Mr. Stronach's shoulder after rebounding from a musket lying on the ground close by. Since that time the ball has caused Mr. Stronach some inconveniences at occasional periods.

When the cathode rays came into use in medical surgery and as a means of detecting bullets located in the body, the idea struck Mr. Stronach that he might have the slug in his shoulder removed. While in Baltimore recently Mr. Stronach made a visit to the famous Johns Hopkins laboratory for the purpose of locating the ball in his shoulder by application of the X-rays, but they were in use there.

Recently the department of physics at Wake Forest has been equipped with X-ray apparatus. Today Mr. Stronach went out to Wake Forest upon an invitation from Prof. Laneau of the Department of Physics in order to locate the piece of lead which has been in his shoulder for more than 30 years.

The experiment is the first of the kind performed here and will prove very interesting.

TO THE RALEIGH.

The Souvenir Punch Bowl Presented to South Port.

The Wilmington Star of yesterday gives the following highly interesting account of the ceremonies, incident to the presentation of the testimonial to the citizens of North Carolina to the Cruiser Raleigh:

A perfect day blazoned forth on our people yesterday for the presentation of the handsome gold-lined silver punch bowl to the United States cruiser Raleigh, named for North Carolina's capital city.

Gov. Elias Carr and wife, Miss Carr, Mrs. T. J. Jarvis, Mrs. Herbert Battle, Col. N. F. Alston, Maj. E. M. Hayes, U. S. A., Maj. S. F. Telfair, Capt. S. A. Ashe and Dr. V. E. Turner arrived on a special train about 8:45 a. m. The party were met at the depot by a committee of the Naval Reserves, consisting of Commander G. L. Morton, Lieut. W. R. Morrison and W. P. Robertson, and Engineer E. H. Danforth, and were escorted to The Orton, where breakfast was served. After partaking of refreshments the party repaired to carriages in waiting and were driven to the steamer Wilmington. The officers of N. O. Naval Battalion, consisting of Commander Geo. L. Morton, Junior Lieut. W. L. Morrison, Ensign W. F. Robertson, Chief Engineer Walter F. Furlong, Second Assistant Engineer Ed. Danforth, Ship's Writer W. W. Vick, also the gig's crew, Messrs. Morris, Huhn, Baggs, Barber, Lane, Hodges and Rankin, and Messrs. J. H. Chadbourne, Jr., J. Wilder Atkinson, Iredell Mears, W. E. Worth and F. L. Heggins, as committee from the Chamber of Commerce, Aldermen T. D. Meares and J. Maudr. for the city, joined the party on their arrival at the Wilmington and escorted the gubernatorial party aboard the boat. Quite a large crowd had already assembled to take the trip and when the lines were cast off Capt. Harper's magnificent steamer was crowded, prominent among whom were some of Wilmington's fairest daughters. The gallant Wilmington left her dock shortly after 10 a. m. and the trip then begun. The Nantuxet's gig was towed down behind the Wilmington. The trip to Southport was an uneventful one, except the opportunity afforded for every one to become acquainted.

On nearing the Raleigh at Southport the Wilmington slowed down in order to give the Governor an opportunity to telegraph to Capt. Miller of the Raleigh, an address of welcome to our waters, which was "wig-wagged" by the naval battalion's chief signal boy, F. H. Baggs. Upon reaching the Raleigh the Wilmington's engines were stopped. The Raleigh's steam launch immediately came alongside the Wilmington and the gubernatorial party and the naval battalion officers were quickly transferred to the cruiser.

The Raleigh's small boats, through the courtesy of Capt. Miller, were also sent, and with the Nantuxet's big crew, transferred ladies and gentlemen from the Wilmington to the Raleigh. The visitors were all conducted through the ship and witnessed "Pipe Side" and grand parade. Immediately afterward Governor Elias Carr made a short speech introducing Capt. S. A. Ashe, who then made the presentation speech, which abounded in historic facts and was full of interest to every one. On conclusion of Capt. Ashe's speech, Capt. Miller on behalf of the Raleigh, made a happy response, accepting the punch bowl. At the conclusion of Capt. Miller's speech two Japanese of the crew bore the punch bowl below, and the jolly tars gave three cheers for the Governor and party, and also the Raleigh's yell. The party were then invited below, where luncheon was served, the newly arrived punch bowl, full to the brim, forming one of the prominent features. Loud calls were made during luncheon for Mr. McNeill, of the gubernatorial party, who made the hit of the day in a witty speech.

At 2:30 p. m. the gubernatorial party bade the officers of the Raleigh farewell, wishing them all the good luck possible for mortals to be in possession of, and the party were quickly transferred to the Wilmington. The Raleigh fired the Governor's salute of seventeen guns, and Capt. Harper steamed the Wilmington around the Raleigh in order to afford everybody a last look at the gallant cruiser, so dear to the hearts of every true North Carolinian. The officers and crew of the Raleigh lined up on the port side of the ship and gave a parting cheer for the Govern-nor, his party, the North Carolinian battalion and the State.

The Wilmington made the trip to the city in a short time, arriving about 6 p. m. The Governor's party were met by carriages and escorted again to The Orton, where supper was served and a general handshaking took place.

The Raleigh will remain at Southport until three o'clock today and Capt. Miller extends a cordial invitation to citizens to visit his gallant ship.

FOR THE GOLD TICKET.

Mr. J. P. Leach of Littleton Declares for Palmer and Buckner.

Mr. J. P. Leach, of Littleton, is out in a circular in which he announces that he will canvass the second district as a candidate for elector in the interest of Palmer and Buckner, and will speak at Littleton tomorrow. In his card Mr. Leach says:

"Having been truly devoted to the principles of Democracy since I cast my first vote at the age of nineteen while serving as a private in the Confederate army and still hoping to find in the ranks of that party, and among all classes of my fellow citizens—men of my section—who will resolutely stand together for the support and integrity of American institutions and labor to prevent the irreparable evils, which demagogues are striving to inflict upon the nations commerce and industry, particularly the endorsement of the platform adopted in the name of the Democratic party by the late Chicago Convention, which in its menaces of bankruptcy, repudiation and anarchy matches the wildest vagaries of populism and threatens to degrade the laboring men of America to the common level of those helpless human beings who toil without hope in Mexico, China, India and other countries employing degraded silver money. I announce my purpose to canvass the district as Democratic elector in the interest of Palmer and Buckner, the nominees of the National Democratic party and I invite professional men and wage earners, who value money because of its usefulness in supplying their wants—all tradesmen whose business depends upon a sound and stable currency. All men who have acquired or hope to lay up a dollar for a rainy day and particularly the toilers of the soil, who are the most defenceless victims of unsound money to attend and give an ear to the doctrines that it will become all to endorse at the approaching election."

The Robinson Opera Company.

It has been a long time, nearly ten years, since our theatre-goers have had the pleasure of hearing first-class comic opera, but the opportunity is now afforded them to do so at the Metropolitan Opera House. Beginning October 19 and the entire fall week the Robinson Opera Company will inaugurate a short season of comic opera, commencing on Monday with Andraus' Olivette, to be followed successively by Fra Diavolo, Chimes of Normandy, Mascotte, Girafe-Giraffe, Bohemian Girl, Pinafore and Mikado. The Wednesday and Saturday matinees are intended for the ladies and children. At the Wednesday matinee Chimes of Normandy will be sung and at the Saturday matinee, Pinafore. The company is an excellent one and numbers forty people. In the cast are Miss Isabelle Sargent, Miss Frankie Brosch, Miss Minnie Stella, Messrs. Charles N. Holmes, Henry C. Peakes, Tom Martin, F. J. McCarthy, Phil W. Nares and a chorus of thirty well selected and youthful voices under the direction of Signor Carlo Torrioni. Nothing will be left undone by Manager Meares and the management of the Robinsons to make fair week at the opera house at least a gigantic success. The sale of seats for this splendid organization began Thursday, Oct. 15, at 9 o'clock at W. H. King & Co's drug store.

Judge Melver Recovered.

The Greensboro Record of yesterday says: Col. Staples returned Tuesday night from Durham where he had business before Judge Melver at chambers, and brings the gratifying intelligence that the Judge is all right, that he had no paralytic stroke as was reported, but a severe attack of biliousness, from which he has almost entirely recovered.

A week's rest will restore the Judge, and he will be ready for Alamance court.

New York Cotton Letter.

By private wire to G. E. Leach.

New York, Oct. 16, 1896.
The market today has been very quiet, with the trading up on a small scale. The same firm undertone which characterized yesterday's market has again been in evidence today. At the opening prices were unfavorably affected by rates. As the sentiment, locally, continued rather bullish, operators took advantage of the decline to buy cotton, which, in conjunction with a small demand from outside sources, started the narrow market on the up track till at 1 o'clock prices were steady at from 3 to 4 points over last evening's final figures. A decrease in receipts of 2,000 bales at the fourteen interior towns which have thus far been reported acted as a stimulant to prices. Port receipts were also relatively lighter, today's arrivals being estimated at 42,000 bales, against 53,197 last week and 34,586 last year. It begins to look as if we are about to experience the decrease in the movement which is generally expected. The effect of lighter receipts has not as yet been discounted. New Orleans has bought quite freely here today, which is the only feature worthy of mention. The South is reported to be offering spots quite freely here today, generally at unchanged prices. However, this is doubtless due to the growing nervousness as to the political outcome referred to in our letter of yesterday. The near future of the market will be largely dependent upon receipts and now that they give evidence of decreasing the chances would appear to be in favor of an improvement.

Do you want to defeat Russellism. Tomorrow is the last day in which to register.

Fortunate Selma.
Thursday morning witnessed a scene in which many fond hearts were interested, when at the residence of Mr. W. W. Wynne in this city, his daughter Miss Alma L. Wynne was led to the hymeneal altar by one of Selma's most esteemed and popular citizen's Mr. N. Edward Edgerton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Norman, pastor of Edenton Street Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. B. B. Culbreth.

Mr. Victor Graves of Selma was best man—and Miss Lizzie Wynne of this place, now attending Greensboro Female College, was maid of honor. There was a profusion of beautiful and costly gifts, tokens of the love of numerous friends. Miss Wynne is much beloved by a large circle of friends throughout this community. She has for some time been the accomplished organist of Edenton Street Methodist Church, of this place, where her services were so faithfully and efficiently rendered and so warmly appreciated, and the entire congregation join with Miss Wynne's many friends in expressions of regret in having to give her up from our midst. After the marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton left for an extended tour through Northern cities, after which they will make their residence in Selma their future home.

You can't register after tomorrow. Go from the breakfast table to your place of registration.

Light Registration.

White Voters in the City Have Been Backward Up to Date.

An inspection of the registration up to date shows that a large number of white voters have still neglected that duty and they should bear in mind that tomorrow is the last day. Among those who have not registered are many prominent citizens who should not neglect it longer.

All good Democrats should turn out tomorrow and make the registration exceed that of 1895, which was the heaviest on record. The registration books close at 4 o'clock p. m.

He Will Address the Public in the Court-House on the Financial Question.

The Hon. G. B. Alford, sound money candidate for Congress in this district, will address the public in the court-house tonight at 8 o'clock on the great financial question. Mr. Alford has made a study of the great issue which is now absorbing the interest of the American people and, it may be said, of the entire world, and he will have some interesting thoughts to present. Mr. Alford is one of Wake county's best and most esteemed citizens, and is entitled to the hearing of all intelligent people.

He has been a life-long and staunch Democrat and his sincerity and his honesty of purpose is known to all. His record is above criticism and his character above reproach. He is a successful and influential citizen and the people of Raleigh will be glad to hear him.

We bespeak for him a good audience and have no doubt he will have it.
