Millinery Opening Week.

With this fall opening we ask your judgment. It is our masterpiece, the culmination of a busy business life. Think of the preparation. Think of the resources involved. Think of the modern spirit—ever moving, never content. We have grown by natural evolution into the perfect store. Yet, we have not stopped growing. Far from it; we shall progress up and up; we shall go ever higher. This is but the start, the end is far distant; the present alone can be considered, and by the present we will be judged, fearless of fair, discriminating criticism.
