THURSDAY, February 3

Firemen had a hard time Tuesday in New York. There were a dozen or more fires in that city, a smaller number than usual, but the high wind made some of them most dangerous and hard to fight. For the first time in years the chiefs of battalions responded to alarms in sleighs.

A phenomenal railroad run was made Monday between Cheyenne, Wyo., and Omaha on the Union Pacific by a special train of an engine two mail cars. The record was 517 miles in eight hours flat, the fastest long-distance run on record. The run from North Platte to Omaha, 290 1/2 miles, was made in 246 minutes.

Plans for the spring training season have been perfected by almost all the National League baseball clubs. With but few exceptions the clubs will call their men together on March 1st and keep them at practice until the championship schedule begins. The Giants will train at Lakewood, Boston and Philadelphia will also seek quarters in New Jersey. The Quakers have settled on Cape May, and the Beaneaters will be at Princeton. Brooklyn's team will probably train at Eakewood. The Baltimore will be the only eastern team to go South, as the Washington team will, as usual, train at home. Ted Hanlon and his Orioles have all plans made to spend March down in Thomasville, Ga., and will probably play a series in Richmond. Hanlon has always been an ardent advocate of southern trips in the spring, and ridicules the pretensions of the Jersey resorts. Still the success achieved by the Giants last year has tended to shake his convictions. The western clubs are more liberal. The Cincinnati Reds will go to San Antonio, Tex., and will play exhibition games in Texas and Mexico. Pittsburgh and Cleveland will go to Hot Springs, and Chicago will probably go there also, especially if Anson continues as manager. The Louisville players may go South, but are more likely to train at West Baden Springs, Ind., where they practiced last year. The Browns will have to hustle at home to train off the winter's accumulation of flesh.

A few figures given to the World by the governor of North Carolina illustrate the rapidity with which the industry of cotton spinning and weaving is migrating from New England to the south.

In 1886 North Carolina had eighty cotton mills; in 1897 it had 1,010.

In 1886 it had 4,071 looms. In 1897 it had 24,517 looms.

In 1886 it had 199,433 spindles. Now it has 1,044,385 spindles.

North Carolina is only one of the cotton growing states in which the spinning and weaving industry is increased at this rate. The others are not far behind, and some of them show an even greater increase.

With abundant water power, with cheap coal, with extraordinary cheap labor, and with the cotton fields at their very doors, the southern cotton mills will assuredly "take the business."

But they have not taken it yet. Their competition is only in coarser yarns and the ruder fabrics. Until they learn to do the finer work and very greatly multiply their mills their competition will afford no good excuse for the cutting of the meagre wages paid in New England, as the bosses there contend that it does—N.
