

SEARCHING FOR HER BOY

Who She Thinks Has Been Crazy by Cigarettes.
Mrs. Walter Lassiter arrived in the city from Winston on the early train this morning. She is here looking for her son, who she has reason to believe is in Greensboro. During the performance by the Cora Van Tassel Co., in Winston, Rommie Lassiter and Dick Wilder got into trouble for hissing or raising some kind of disturbance while the play was going on. Warrants having been taken out for the boys they became frightened and have both fled from home. Mrs. Lassiter thinks that smoking cigarettes has almost undermined her son's reason. Parties have notified the police of having seen two boys in Greensboro this morning who filled the description of the truants, and the mother thought she saw them up about the coal chute as the train came by. Mrs. Lassiter succeeded in finding her son and went back to Winston at noon a happier woman than when she reached Greensboro this morning. The lad did not return with her, but will be sent to the eastern part of the state, where his uncles live.

Anti-Chewing Gum Crusade.
Bishop John H. Vincent, of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Topeka, Kansas appearing before the state temperance union, appealed to his hearers to take up the chewing gum habit, and to persevere until it is eradicated out of Kansas. He asserted that the chewing gum vice had made millionaires out of a few, men in a few years, and instead of doing any good whatever was encouraging dangerous habits among the people. He argued that the foundation of temperance reform should be laid at the chewing gum age of childhood, as the habit was a sort of self-indulgence that should be restrained. If the child's will was educated to resist the habit, it could be easier trained to resist other habits.

The bishop was particularly emphatic in his criticism of the chewing gum habit, and urged that she should be given to understand that the eradication of the habit was to her desire.

To cure a cold the best way is to take Laxative Bromine Quinine Tablets. All drug stores get the money if it fails to cure. Each genuine has L. B. Q. on each tablet.
Hold Up.
"Your money or your life?" I cried. "My quest there is no stopping. You're richly paid and well known. That you are going shopping."
She handed him her purse. He found car tickets—but not many. Some dry goods samples, chewing gum, a hatpin, and a penny. —Washington Star
