ACCUSED OF LIBEL

A Warrant Served on Ed. tor Rams y

A CRIMINAL ACTION

Ex-Judge W. R. Allen Accuses the Editor of the rogressive Farmer of Unlawful, Wilful and Malicions Libel in That Paper.

Rev. Joyful Laughter Ramsey has again assumed his ante-ple-day name and his friends must again address him as Jeremiah Lamentation Ram-

Mr. J. L. Ramsey, editor of the Progressive Farmer, is now in the custody of the sheriff of Wake county, at least the sheriff is responsible for his appearance at Goldsboro this afternoon where the noted editor and politician is defendant in a criminal action.

This morning a deputy sheriff was seeking high and low for Dr. Ramsey. He could not be found at his deak in the commissioner of agriculture's office, in the editorial reoms of the Pregressive Farmer or in any of his usual haunts. However, later in the day he returned to his office in the agricultural building and a deputy sheriff found him there and served the warrant on him. The warrant was sworn out before a justice of the peace in Goldsboro by ex-Judge William R. Allen of Golcsboro. Judge Allen sets forth that Ramsey is editor of the Progressive Farmer and that this paper on April 5th, in an editorial, stated that the so-called oyster claims were s fraud and that the attorneys who represented the claimants were parties to the crime. Judge Allen, an attorney in these oyster cases, is called by name in the editorial.

Mr. Ramsey told the deputy that he would go to Goldsboro this afternoon and, his promise so to do was regarded as sufficient, so he will not be accompanied by an officer.

Dr. Ramsey's absence this morning from his usual baunts has been satisfactorially expalined. The Doctor is one of the judges at an oratorical contest at Elon college tomorrow night and it is not improbable that he was in the woods today practicing his speech of presentation for the above or casion.

Dr. Ramsey denies that he telegraphed to Eon, "I am under arrest and cannot come.

Judge Allen brought criminal not civil action against the secretary of the agricultural department and the justice of the Peace will probably place Dr. Ramsey under a bond for his pearance at the next term of the criminal court in Wayne county It is whispered that Mr. J. W. Dan mark, clerk in State Treasurer Worth' office, was the instigator if not the au thor of the editorial in the Progress v Farmer which got the distinguided

SUPPORTS RUSSELL

The Caucasian Comes to the Recou of the Governor.

The Caucasian says editorially The Caucasian has not agreed with Governor Russell as to the wisdom of his recent position with regard to the lease fight, but we wish to state that we believe he is acting from honest and conscientious motives, and therefore do not endorse or have any sympathy or tolerance with some of the false statements and malicious misrepresen tations made against him by certain newspapers. Some of these papers w are not surprised at because they have long since shown that they have little or no regard for the truth. But w must confess that we are greatly sur prised at an editorial in the Biblical Recorder which not only misstate facts but grossly and what seems to us unwarrantedly misrepresents and the time or space in this issue to reply to its very unjust attack but in the interest of truth and justice will do so in our next issue.

MR. FORD TAYLOR DEAD.

He Passed Away Unexpectedly This Morning at 8:45 O'clock.

The whole community was shocked this morning at the news which was passed from lip to lip that Mr. W. F. Taylor, familiarly known among his many friends as "Ford" Taylor, had died at his home on Cabarrus street at 8:45 o'clock a. m. Yesterday afternoon at the office of Bar bee & Co., for whom he had for 15 years been book-keeper, he was taker sick and went home very ill.

A physician was summoned, and last night his condition was thought not to be serious. This morning, however, at 6 o'clock there was a change for the worse, and he passed quietly away at the hour as above stated of heart failure. He died quietly and without a

Mr. Taylor was of delicate constitution, but so full of will, energy and nerve that those nearest to him least suspected his frail physical infirmity of body. He did not know what it was to flinch from pain, and he died as he lived, with that calm manhood which meets the tragedy of death as it does the untold and hidden trials of life. Those who knew him, knew him but to respect and admire his traits of sincerity, courage and noble manhood. He was brave and true to his friends and for his enemies he had never a word but that justice which comes from the honesty of the heart. The most striking characteristic of his nature and life was his freedom from duplicity. He never knew how to find it in his heart to deceive and his fidelity and loyalty to his friends was such as to weld their friendship to him in a bond that nothing could sever. As a business man he was efficient, faithful and industrious, and few men in similar capacity have ever enjoyed to so great a degree the absolute confidence of his business associates. He was a loving father and husband and his death has cast an untimely pall of gloom over a stricken household. He leaves a wife prized his friendship. A peculiarly noticeable fact about his association with those who came in contact with him in business was that all his comrades in the office in which he worked were most fond of him. He held the esteem and confidence of every man who worked in the same employ with him, and there was not one who knew him personally and intimately, who was not his warm and staunch friend.

CHILD SHOT BY ACCIDENT

Negro Poy Shot and Killed His First Cousin in Jonesboro Last Night. There was a sad affair in Jonesdone last night. Simon Lee, or Simon Share picked up a shot gun, and pointing it at the head of his little cousin. Forling Clay Shaw, pulled the trigger and emptied the loaded shell into his head, spattering his brains upon the floor. The shooting occurred at a few minutes before five in the afternoon, and the child died at ten last night. Dr. Bullock was first summoned and afterwards two white physicians, but the child could not be saved.

Fonley is the child of Brown Shaw who is Andrew Lee's brother. Fonley was only six years old. His father, Brown Shaw, is a brother to Simon's father, called Andrew Lee. The shooting took place in the latter's house. A negro boy who had been hunting with Andrew's gun, had thrown the gun across the bed, and with it four cartridges. Simon is nine years of age. It is not known whether he took one of these shells and put it into the gun, or whether it was already loaded. Anyhow, be pointed the gun at his cousin and it fired, making an ugly hole in the top of the child's Medical aid could be of no avail.

BLOODY SPANIARDS AROARD.

There were half a dozen or more bloody Spaniards aboard the southbound verticale this morning. A train official informed the reporter that they were returning home, having been ordered by the government to report for service They looked very much like Turks. Each one had his, grip, with his sword thrust be-neath the strap. While the train stood here they were engaged in a lively conversation in their native tongue.

ANOTHER FROST.

Heavy Frosts Occurred Over North and South Carolina Last Night. The forecast of the weather bureau for Raleigh and vicinity says: Fair tonight and Friday. Heavy frost Friday morning.

The entire central valley is occupied by an extensive high pressure area, with clear and cold weather. Heavy frosts occurred this morning over North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and at Memphis.

A storm has appeared in the northwest which is causing rising temperature west of the Mississippi, so the end of the present cold map is in sight.

MORNING MARRIAGE.

Mr. J. S. Allen, Jr., and Miss Shively Pronounced Husband and Wife.

This morning at half after ten the Edenton street Methodist Episcopal church was the scene of an artistic marriage, Miss Eleanor Catharine Shively and Mr. Jacob Stiner Allen. Jr., two of Raleigh's popular young people, being the contracting parties.

The church altar was beautifully and profusely decorated in palms and easter lilies. When the appointed hour arrived the spacious church was well filled with friends and admirers of the bride and groom. Mr. Samuel Parish presided at the organ and while the beautiful strains of 'The Sweetest Story Ever Told" penied forth the bridal party entered.

The ushers, Messra. Junius D. Turner, William T. Harding and Oscar D. Green, entered in country from the right and left. The flower girls were little Misses Augusta Landis and Helen Brown. Mrs. Samuel M. Young, sister of the bride, preceded the bride as bride's maid. The bride who was attired in a going away gown of covet cloth trimmed in cut steel, entered leaning on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Samuel M. Young. who gave the bride away. The groom, Mr. Jacob Allen, Jr., entered with his best man, Mr. Edwin G. Nichols, from a door to the right of the pulpit, and met the bride at the alter. Her Dr. W. C. Norman, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. The vows of the bride and groom before the altar were solemnized with the ring ceremony. After the conclusion of the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Allen went immediately to the Union station to take the northbound S. A. L. Many friends went to the depot to extend their hearty congratulations. The wedding presents were handsome and profuse The bride is a popular young lady of this city whose many graces have made for her a warm place in the hearts of all her acquaintances. The groom, a progressive young hardware merchant and a member of the firm of Allen and Nichols, is the son of our esteemed townsman, Mr. Jacob Allen,

Mr. and Mrs. Allen left this morning for Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, where they will visit relatives. On their return in May they will be at home at the residence of Mrs. Bain, corner of McDowell and Tennessee's Anti-Plirting Statute Falled to Bring Expected Punishment. Knoxville, April 6 .- Tennessee's antiflirting law, known far and wide as the Johnny law." was made inno here today by circumstances which law was no control. Some time since the first arrest under the statute was made, and the event was liberally commented on all over the country. Several states legislatures endeavored, in imitation of Tonnessee, to pass a law similar to our "Johnny law," for the benefit of the school girls. The young man arrested was named Lin Chamberlain, and the warrant was sworn out by the father of Maggle Alderson. The grand jury took the case under advisement, and found a true bill against Chamberlain. The trial was engerly awaited by brilliant legal talent, those engaged by Chamberlain averring that the right to fiirt was inherent and coals be abridged by no statute. Yesterday Lin and Maggie hled themselves to a justice of the peace and had the marital knot securely tied. No doubt the indictment will be quashed. The "Johnny law" must find another victim.

PASSOVER FESTIVAL. The Pasach or Passover began at sunset yesterday afternoon. This fertival is commemorative of that greatest epoch in the history of the Jews when the Lord commanded the Angel of Death to pass over the houses of the Israelites and to smite the first born in every Egyptian home. This was the tenth and last of the Egyptian plagues, and only after this devastating curse was plainly manifested did the stubborn heart of Paraoh yield and the Jews were allowed to depart. In their hurry to leave Egypt on time was allowed to bake their bread, and the partially prepared dough was taken and afterward baked in the sun, and it is because of this fact that the Jews eat Matzos or unleaven bread. For seven days the Jews abstain from eating other than the Passover cakes or crackers.

The feast continues for seven days, during which period only unleaven bread is eaten and prayers of thankfulness are daily uttered. This is one of the most interesting and inspiring of all Jewish festivals and its observance needs to be witnessed to be justly appreciated.
