SPOKE TO VIRGINIANS

When His Special Train Stopped a Selma This Morning a Large Crowd Had Assembled at the Crossing.

The ovations which Consul General Lee is receiving on his journey from Tampa, Fla., to Washington, are almost without parallel in the history of this country. Even at the stations which the special passed with lightning sped, crowds collected with the hope of catching a glimpse of the hero of the hour. The train went through North Carolina this morning. When it reached Selma at 6 o'clock a crowd had collected at the crossing where it was known the train would have to stop. A gentleman from Selma said that Gen. Lee was up and sitting on the rear platform, when the train made the momentary halt at Selma. He was cheer ed by several hundred persons and he gracefully returned their salutes, bowing to them as the train pulled out. He will reach Washington about 2:30 this afternoon, and it is expected that the Senate committee on foreign relations will hold a session tonight in order to

LEE AT RICHMOND.

By Telegraph to the Press-Visitor. Richmond, Va., April 12.-Governor Tyler, his staff and delegations of thousands of wildly enthusiastic Virginians met General Lee here and forced him to speak. He said: "This is not the time to speak; the time for action has arrived. What are you yelling for? Do you want to fight"

Ten thousand voices rent the air with a tumultous "Yes."

General Lee continued, "This is the day I long have sought and mourned because I found it not. It makes me happy when I have to come to you to render an account of my stewardship to see that you all, with one accord, so enthusiastically commend it."

LEE WILL TESTIFY.

By Telegraph to the Press-Visitor Washington, April 12.-Arrangement have been made for Consul General Lee to appear before the Committee on Foreign Relations upon his arrival, and testify as regards certain information in his possession concerning the perpetrators of the Maine horror.

Dr. Scruggs reports that the Sanitarium is taxed to its utmost capacity to commodate patients, and that recently fifty-six deserving applicants have been denied admission, owing to the crowded condition.

Dr. Scruggs goes to Durham today to see Col. J. S. Carr and Mr. Washington Duke, both of whom have promised to donate a building each for the acupon them the importance of having the buildings erected at once. Dr.

TOUR OF INSPECTION.

Wilmington Review. Three officers of the United States

Navy, Lieutenants C. B. Moore, C. R. Roelker and J. B. Hoover arrived here this morning on the early train from the North. The main object of their visit is to inspect the appurtenances of the Naval Reserves and orders were given early this morning to get up steam on the monitor Nantucket. After dinner the three officers accompanied by Commander George L. Morton, were taken to the Nantucket in one of her small boats and she was thoroughly inspected.

The officers remained aboard the monitor for some time and the result of the inspection could not be learned. It is likely that the officers will con tinue their tour tonight. No orders have yet been received to put the monitor in trim for service.

The slayer, Wynne, was arrested shortly afterwards by Deputy Sheriff Hodge Krider, and Sheriff Monroe was wired of the murder. He and Capt J. F. Pace went up to Cleveland and returned last night bringing the prison er. Wynne was given a preliminary hearing before Esquire Rosebro and was bound over to court in a $500 bond

The prisoner's statemennt is substantially this: That he was solicited by deceased to play cards with him for money, and that they played three games, he winning one and the deceased two. That the prisoner had one dollar which deceased demunded and attempted to take from him, prisone protesting and telling him that he would have to take it over his dead body. That an altercation ensued, deeased taking the money and firing all in his pistol, one or more of the balls going through the prisoner's clothes The prisoner fired two shots, all he had took deceased's pistol from him, when they clinched, and prisoner knocked deceased odwn, and went back to camp whre he was shortly after arrested without resistance. The disputed dollar was found on the person of deceas cd. Both were young negroes. Wynne is said to be from Virginia and Peeler from Alabama.

WORKING ON A DEAD ISSUE.

The Issue of the Progressive Farme ontains an article this week which states that the fight against the lease of the North Carolina Railroad to the Southern Railway is to be the issue in the coming campaign.

It is charged that Governor Russel is the author of the editorial. It is further said that the Governor will attempt to make the fight on the lease the square issue that he will take the

The editorial in question says: "Every man who comes out as a can didate for the Legislature has got to say whether he is in favor of the leas or against it. He has got to say whether he will vote for a law that will compel the Southern Railroad to pay 16 per cent. for the North Carolina Railroad or give it up. The Seaboard offered 10 per cent.; the Southern got it for 6%. The license law which passed the House in the last Legislature said to the Southern that they should not operate the North Carolina Railroad without a license, and that they could not get a license until they paid what It was worth. "Let the people see to it that the candidates answer this question: Are you in favor of letting the Southern have this property at 61/2 per cent. when other people offer 10 per cent? Are you in favor of throwing away out of the State Treasury $140,000 a year for the benefit of the Southern Railroad?

"When this next campaign is on and the candidates are out for the Legislature, we will see whether the question is settled. "The Governor simply gave up a law suit which he did not bring, and gave to the Southern a decree which they virtually already had, and by doing it saved big money to the State. There was no surrender about it. The whole thing is just where it has been all the time, that is for the people to decide through the Legislature."

At pearance of General Lee. oon the Republicans on the foreign affairs committee were not readyto reeive the Democrats. The Democrats have decided to support resolutions declaring for Cuban independence and armed intervention. The Senate committee on foreign re lations is hopeful of reporting today. but the report may be delayed to hear Consul General Lee. There is now ess uninimity than when the commitee first met and decided to support Senator Foraker's resolutions. Many proposals have been made covering all lines of possible intervention. Indications now favor a compromise propsitition made prior to the receipt of the message. Senator Gray, of Delaware s the only Democratic Senator who is willing to join the Republicans in eliminating the recognition of the Cuban republic and, if the Republicans can be lined up, his vote will be decisive. If this compromise is accepted the resolution will be short and sharp, simply a declaration for immediate intervention. COMMENT ON THE MESSAGE.

Washington Post Says McKinley Contents Himself With Generalities, Today's Washington Post says editoially concerning the President's mes-

"From one point of view the President's Cuban message is an entirely satisfactory document. Barring one o two features, to which we shall refer hereafter, it is everything that cauld have been reasonably expected. Mr. McKinley gives us a masterly and graphic picture of the conditions now prevalent in the unhappy island. He shows, beyond controversy, that they cannot be tolerated in any scheme of nodern civilization, and he leaves us no room to doubt that it is our duty as an enlightened nation to insist upon and, if necessary, to enforce their termination. So far, no one can complain of the President's attitude as indicated by his utterances. He carries with him the approval of all rational and respon sible men in chalenging the barbarism and desolation that reign supreme in 'uba. He says the situation before us with its sinister and abhorrent meaning, and he commands our sympathies

when he says that the limit of endurance has been reached. But Mr. McKinley disappoints thoughtful men in failing to recom mend a definite and intelligible method by which that much-desired consummation may be realized. He mentions n a general way the proposition Spain has made, and says that if the acheme is successful it will accomplish everything that a civilized nation could reasonably ask, yet he does not explicitly say that he does notshrdlu vbgkjqbgk say that the scheme should be put to the test, and that we should await the result with patience and good will. Had he done this, we do not doubt that Congress would have sustained him. Had he formulated any plan. peaceful or otherwise, for introducing order into the island and replacing the existing anarchy with a secure and stable government, it is our opinion that the legislative branch would at once have bestowed upon that plan us enthusiastic sanction and approval.But the President has proposed nothing definite. He contents himself with glittering generalities, and leaves the practical solution of the problem to the taste and fancy of the individual."
