The Daily Evening Visitor.

LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

In and Around the City.

Yesterday was a lovely day. Dull times in the city today—everybody who could get off has gone fishing. The fire companies were on the scene in about two minutes from the time the alarm was sounded. Remember that the fair of the Capital Hose Company commences to-night.

A large number of ladies and gentlemen spent today at the various mill ponds near the city. Many went out on picnic excursions.

A fertilizer license was issued last Saturday afternoon to Messrs Slingluff & Co. of Baltimore, to sell "British Mixture" in this State.

It is now said, that the west wing of the penitentiary will not be fully completed and ready for occupancy before the coming fall.

The County Commissioners are in regular monthly session today, all the members being present. They transacted only regular routine business.

Mr Jube Emory, on East Martin street reports that on Saturday night a burglar entered his kitchen and eat up his Sunday dinner. We are glad to say no other damage was done.

The roof of the dwelling occupied by Mrs David Carter, on Hillsboro street near St Mary's School, caught on fire yesterday afternoon. It was extinguished with but little damage.

Rescue Fire Company: you are hereby ordered to meet at your hall tonight at 8 o'clock. Important business. Let all attend; by order of the foreman, R E Lumsden.

Regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Union Mission will be held in their hall at 5 o'clock tomorrow evening.

S M PARISH,
Secretary.

Weather Report.

For Raleigh—fair weather, colder.

L. A. 3606.

Every member and non-affiliating member are earnestly requested to come to the Assembly rooms tonight. The State Secretary has some encouraging and profitable news to communicate.

Mammoth Easter Egg.

Mrs J J Hall, of this city, has an egg which was laid last Friday by a one year old pullet, belonging to her, which, by actual measurement, is seven and one quarter inches in length and five and one half round. Who can beat this?

China Silks.

In consequence of the promised great popularity of China silks this season, W H & R S Tucker & Co. have secured the choicest collection, of as pretty, dainty and practical styles as can be found anywhere in both plain and printed effects. The prices commence as low as 45 cents, and for a real good article at that, full 32 inches wide, and in new and attractive colorings.

Wants Turnip "Sallet."

A few days ago a prominent citizen of this city, was coming up the street and met a colored woman who was weeping bitterly. He asked her what was the matter; she said she had a daughter in Kansas and that she had written her to send her some turnip "sallet." That she had fixed the "sallet" up to send to her and these folks here charged her five dollars just to carry her daughter a little turnip "sallet." It almost broke her heart to think they would do so.

Moral—there is no land that is better than the old North State, in which the turnip "sallet" grows; where it is abundant and cheap.

Officers Elected.

Raleigh Commandery, No 4, has elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

William Simpson, Em. Commander; M Bowes, Generalissimo; Wayne Allcott, Capt General; Eugene Grissom, Prelate; H M Cowan, Sr Warden; E M Uzzell, Jr Warden; S D Wait, Treasurer; Thos W Blake, Recorder; D L Adams, St Bearer; C B Edwards, Sw Bearer; Chas Wallen, Warden; R H Bradley, Guard.

State Museum.

Thos C Harris Esq., Curator of the State Museum, is making quite an attractive display of articles sent to the museum, classifying all the articles, and, when completed, the display will be a credit to the State and a source of pride to our citizens generally. Mr Harris is, in our opinion, the right man in the right place—polite and courteous to all—taking great pains to please those who visit the museum.

The Right Spirit.

We copy the following from our sprightly contemporary, The Day, of Oxford:

Now that the location of the Baptist Female College has been determined, let us hope that it is for the best interests of the institution that it was located at Raleigh. We differed with the board, and while we cannot endorse its action in every particular, we think it would be the part of magnanimity, now that its location is established, for our people to endorse it by their influence and their purse. Let us dwell together in unity, and work for a common good to a common people—the education of the girls of North Carolina.

Personal Mention.

Mr B F Lawrence, a prominent farmer of New Light Township, Wake county, is in the city today. He reports the farmers well up with their work, and encouraged with the prospect of the crop for 1890, although the wheat and oat crops are seriously damaged by the fly.

Mr S W Ferrell, of Rolesville, was in the city today and reports the old town as doing well; business lively for the hard times.

N B Broughton, Esq., left the city this morning to enjoy a picnic at the Falls of Neuse today.

Mr T K Bruner, secretary of the Board of Agriculture is confined to his home with sickness.

Dr J A J Penny, of Barton's Creek Township was in the city today. The Doctor is one of the best physicians in the county and is doing well, having a very large practice in his vicinity and surrounding country.

Edenton Street M E Church.

At the 11 o'clock services yesterday, two persons were received into membership by certificate. The text of the morning was the 15th chapter, 1st Corinthians and the 20th verse: "But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept." The pastor, Rev Mr Cordon, made it plain to the large and attentive congregation that Christ did rise from the grave, and that he was not stolen away as was accused by those of his enemies. This was one of Mr Cordon's finest efforts. The pulpit was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens, and the choir gave the congregation some very fine music. After the sermon a thanksgiving offering was taken up, and the amount received was $510, which was considered a fine collection.

At 8 o'clock the Bright Jewels had a good time, many being present to witness the exercises of the little folks, which were pronounced very fine.

At 8 o'clock in the evening Mrs Barney, from Rhode Island, held a Bible reading which was very interesting; everybody who was present retired from the church pleased with the evening services.

Death of Mrs Mary Royster.

It becomes our painful duty to announce the death of the above named lady, which took place, at her residence on West Morgan street, last night at 8:30 o'clock. During the morning, and up to 2 o'clock, she seemed to be much better, and the attendants at her bedside were buoyed up with hope, but soon a change took place and she gradually sank into the embrace of death.

Mrs Royster was the relict of the late James D Royster, who preceded her to the tomb just two months and two days since. At the time of her decease she was about 78 years old, and had for a long series of years, been a consistent and devoted member of the First Baptist Church of this city. In all the relations of life she was a most estimable lady, and possessed all those characteristics tending to adorn the female character. She goes down to the grave amid the sorrow of a large circle of relatives and friends. She leaves five children—three boys and two girls to mourn her loss, with whom the VISITOR deeply sympathizes in their sad affliction.

The funeral will take place from the First Baptist Church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Friends and acquaintances of the family invited.

Heard in one of the Dress Making Establishments in the City.

In a cosy and well furnished room in one of the fashionable dress making establishments of Raleigh, one might have heard the following conversation on last Saturday: There had gathered eight or ten ladies awaiting their turn to fit their new Easter Dress. Said Mrs. A. W., why, Mattie, what a pretty dress that you are going to have. Where did you get it? I got it from Mr. — on Fayetteville Street, and paid enough for it 90c. per yard. Just at that time Mabel — came into the room, saying: Ladies how does my new dress fit? All exclaimed in a breath, why Mattie and Mabel have dresses just alike. All concluded they were both the same. Said Mattie to Mabel: Mabel, where did you get yours and what did you pay for it? I bought mine at Swindell's Racket Store and paid 55c. a yard. Just then, Mattie swooned and when she came to consciousness, Oh she said to think of it, Mabel bought her dress for 55c. a yard and I paid 90c. for the same good. A saving of $5.25 for fifteen yards. Now I don't mind the money but I don't feel that I am smart, when anybody does so much better than I do. Then the ball opened, among the dress makers said one. Swindell is laying out those Fayetteville Street merchants in dress goods. All the nice dress goods I have seen this spring comes from Swindell's. Said another: It is getting to be known all over the city that Swindell is keeping these nice dress goods, and selling them much cheaper than other merchants in the city, said another lady who had just brought in a new dress to be made. I started to Swindell's this morning to buy this dress, but I stopped on the way and found something better than Swindell keeps. I paid $1.89 per yard for this. All looked at it and all the dress makers began to laugh, saying, there is a dress in the house to make just like that from Swindell's Racket Store, cost 80c.

An Experienced Bribe.

Lewiston Journal.

President Hyde, of Bowdoin College, tells a good story of the first marriage ceremony at which he officiated while occupying a pulpit in Jersey City. The bigger half of the interesting couple was timid and nervous. The bride was remarkably cool and self-possessed. As the couple presented themselves before President Hyde there seemed to be some misunderstanding in regard to the side on which the lady should stand. The groom hitched about nervously, but the bride was equal to the occasion. Quickly changing place with her bashful fiancée she remarked confidently: "There, I am sure this is the side on which I have always been accustomed to stand." This solved the difficulty, and the timid groom and the young widow, who knew all about it from experience, were speedily united.

Programme of Concert.

TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 8, '90
1. Music by Orchestra.
2. The Waking of the Lily.
Listen! the fairy bells sweetly are ringing,
And soft shines the moon over mountain and sea,
And hither, while mortals are silently sleeping,
Come all the young flow'rets to dance on the lea.
Then join in our revels,
La, la la, la,
The sun is asleep in the clouds of the West
And the hearts that lightest,
And eyes that are brightest,
Love the pale moonlight to dance by the best.
Hark! how the breeze is with melody laden!
The rose and the jessamine are met in the glade,
The lily alone 'neath her great leaves is sleeping,
Oh, come fairy! come! and awake the sweet maid.

Thanks! thanks! gentle fairy! the lily awakens!
All radiant and fair as a bride she is seen,
Then come sisters! come! and ere morning appeareth,
The beautiful lily we'll choose for our queen.
