The Daily Evening Visitor.

LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

In and Around the City.

Leaves growing fast.
All quiet in police circles today.
The woods now look beautiful.
Yesterday felt like a midsummer day.
Straw hats have put in their appearance.

The street cars done a good business yesterday.

A warm, gentle rain is very much needed.

Regular meeting of Wm G Hill Lodge, No 218, tonight at 8 o'clock. Visiting members invited.

And now the Dukes, of Durham, are thinking about building another cotton factory at that place, with a capital of $300,000.

Reports from the eastern section of the county are all good for the growing crops. There is a fine stand of corn and cotton planting is progressing with the usual activity.

The Superior Court for Wake county convenes in this city next Monday, Judge MacRae presiding, which will be his last term here.

D P Partin, of Panther Branch township, who was sent to jail some time ago for cost, took the insolvent debtors oath on last Saturday and was released.

R S Smith, of Apex, was in the city today. He reports the corn planted and coming up with a fine stand. Will commence planting cotton next week. Prospects good for this year's crop.

A collection for the Thomasville Baptist Orphanage was taken up in the Tabernacle church of this city yesterday morning after the sermon amounting to $37.96. This collection was taken up after the regular church collection had been taken.

Mr M A Parker informs us that last week he planted seventy five acres in cotton, and that the farmers were now planting in earnest. The prospects were never better at this season.

At a regular meeting of McKee Encampment No 15 I O O F held on Friday evening last, Geo L Tonnofski was elected representative to the Grand Encampment which meets in Wilmington May 13 and 14.

Rev J J Hall has received an invitation to deliver the address at the commencement of Judson College. This is a most admirable selection, and the students and faculty can be congratulated, if Mr Hall accepts.

One of our policemen said yesterday, that there had been fewer cases of drunkenness reported during the past week or so, than he had known for the same length of time since he has been on the force.

The amount realized at the concert of the King's Daughters was $337.40, of which the special fund of Christ Church received $75; the special fund of the Church of the Good Shepherd $24.40, and St Johns Hospital $40. The balance will be given to the special object of the "Whatsoever" band.

The date for the next meeting of the North Carolina Press Association has been fixed for July 23d. The Executive Committee will select the place at their meeting in May. Editors having preferences should inform the Secretary as soon as possible. All fees must be paid in by July 15th.

The Visitor would suggest that a certain day in the week be set apart as a regular sale day at the court house door, for many people would be glad to attend these sales who do not know on what day they occur. We would suggest that Monday of each week be set apart as regular sales day at the court house door. We believe it would be helpful and a great convenience to all concerned.

A Romantic Marriage.

Mr W Charles Mayner, aged 53, was joined in the holy bonds of wedlock this morning to Mrs Eliza J Bowers, aged 48. The ceremony took place near the city limits.

Both of the contracting parties are from Morrisville and the marriage was the result of an elopement, evening that even in the meridian of life. "The course of true love does not always run smooth." May they live long and prosper.

Personal Mention.

F B Arendell, of Salisbury, is in the city looking after his business interests.

Mr Alex Hardie is still very sick at his residence on Newberne Avenue.

Mr Geo Hardie is quite sick at his residence on Newberne Avenue.

Miss Maude Harris has returned from a most delightful trip to the western part of Wake county.

Mrs Osborne Holt is very sick at the residence of her daughter, Mrs E E Glenn, on East Martin street.

Thomasville Orphanage.

Mr J H Mills superintendent of the Thomasville Baptist Orphanage, is in the city in the interest of the institution, and we are pleased to know that he is meeting with considerable success. Mr Mills is indefatigable in his attentions to the noble charity over which he presides, and can be considered "the right man in the right place." We most earnestly hope that our people will aid to all the extent in their power in supporting an institution so worthy in all respects. There is no class that has better claims on our sympathy than the orphans.

General Impression Corrected.

There seems to be an impression among many, that Wheeler's cavalry was in Raleigh during the passage through here of Johnson's army twenty five years ago. This is wrong. Wheeler's cavalry, so far as we know, was never in North Carolina, or certainly never in this portion of the State. When Johnson's army retreated through here in April 1865, Wade Hampton's cavalry protected the rear, while the cavalry of General Kilpatrick closely pressed him, being in the advance of Sherman's army. The surrender of the city was made to Kilpatrick, on the Holleman road. The speech surrendering the city was made by the late Hon Kenneth Rayner, and Kilpatrick replied, promising protection to the inmates of the various charitable institutions and to non-combatants. When Kilpatrick rode up, in reply to the flag of truce, he was introduced to Mr Rayner, whom he said he knew well by reputation. It was hoped by the committee that Gen Blair was in the front and Dr R B Haywood enquired for him, they having been classmates at the University. Gen Sherman did not enter the city for some hours after the surrender, and was not present when the unfortunate Texan was hung. The North Carolina depot was not burned by the enemy, but is supposed to have been set on fire by some of Hampton's cavalry. This much for a bit of history, from one who took notes at the time.

Our Churches Yesterday.

The congregation at Edenton Street M E Church at the 11 o'clock services were very large. Three persons were received into the church by certificates. The text of the morning was the 6th chapter of St Mark, and part of the 50th verse; "Be of good cheer; it is I, be not afraid." Mr Cordon handled his subject well, as he generally does, to the satisfaction of all who heard him on this occasion.

At the 8 o'clock, p m services the church was well filled and the text of the evening was the 12th chapter of St Luke, 16th verse to the 21st inclusive: "The parable of the foolish man who proposed to tear down his old barns and build new ones, in order to store away his products." The Rev gentleman performed his part well, and was listened to with great interest from his large congregation. In fact, the two sermons, were of the finest order of oratory.

BAPTIST TABERNACLE.

The services at the Baptist Tabernacle were of unusual interest. In the morning there was a large congregation, and at night the church was crowded to its utmost capacity extra seats having been brought in. At the morning service Rev J J Hall took for his text 19th chapter, 1st Kings, part of 10th verse. The subject being "Jealous for the Lord." The character of the prophet Elijah was dwelt upon and the subject matter of the discourse was handled in the eloquent pastor's most masterly manner. Elijah was one of the most remarkable men who ever lived. He appeared at the time Abah ruled Israel, who was ruled by his wife and she was ruled by the devil. The great desire of Elijah was, that pure religion might return and prevail in the land. We should be jealous for the name of God, for His Sabbath, for His servants, for His truth, etc. The subject at night was "Fleeing from God," and it was handled with great ability. The attendance at the Sunday School in the morning was 404. New scholars 12.

Good Time.

The J E F F Sacred Quartette furnished the music for the Y M C A meeting yesterday afternoon. We had no idea that such a treat was in store for us, but when the young men gave their first song, things woke up. They sang four numbers and we just want to emphasize the fact that those who failed to attend the meeting missed a good thing. All the songs were good, but we think the song of the "Soldier," and the "Roll Call on High" were two of the best songs we ever heard, and they couldn't have been better rendered. This quartette is formed for the purpose of rendering music on special religious occasions. The meeting was well attended; the chapel room of the Union Mission was two-thirds full. The meeting was conducted by W L Hill who gave a splendid address. His remarks were based on the 15th chapter of Luke, "The Prodigal Son," showing the necessity of a Y M C A to look after the boys, who might be wandering. Earnest addresses were made by Mr Hardie, agent for the Daily Chronicle, Mr N B Broughton and others. A committee was appointed to arrange for a large mass meeting to be held within the next two weeks. The reorganization of the Y M C A seems to be a sure thing now.

What Would You Say

if some one was to tell you that you were weak minded, or that you had no mind of your own? You would without doubt be indignant. Still when you say that you are afraid to buy your goods here you know you can get them cheaper for fear of making some one mad whom you have been in the habit of trading with, you show that you are weak and to be pitied. What right has any one to demand of you your trade, whether they give you full value or not? The day when buying of certain persons for friendship's sake is past. We had a young lady on last Saturday to look at a hat that was just finished for a lady in town. She asked the price. We told her $4.50. We never saw any one hate anything so badly. She told us that she bought one the day before that was not near so pretty or nice and paid $5.25 for it. We asked "why did you not come and see our hats before you bought?" She replied that she would have been glad to have bought of us but was afraid that the party she had bought of for some years would be offended. On that account she paid $1.25 more and did not get so nice a hat as she would have done had she shown her independence and good judgment. Moral—Never buy your millinery or dress goods until you look at ours.
