The Durham Light Infantry will go to Richmond.

The banks of the city will close tomorrow, the 10th, it being a legal holiday.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Mr W N Jones, commissioner, in this issue.

The executive committee of the North Carolina Press Association met in this city today.

Men's prayer meeting at Central Church tonight. All men cordially invited. Let there be a large turnout.

Died at the residence of Eugene T Jones, in Little River Township, Wake county, yesterday, De Witt Stone, the infant son of Eugene T and Lolla D Jones, aged seven months and fifteen days.

O D Upchurch, Esq, clerk of Superior court has appointed S F Allen, of Wake Forest Township, Justice of the Peace, to take the place of F P Dunn, resigned.

A learned naturalist has studied the habits of the Amphibians Wonder at Whiting Bros, and made the discovery that one head is insectivorous and the other carnivorous.

Messrs Whiting Bros have secured another wonder on the same order. It has two heads protruding out together and in all other respects. It is the same as any ordinary terrapin. Go and see it, it is worth seeing.

All who will send flowers for use on memorial day exercises, are requested to send them to Metropolitan Hall next Monday morning at as early hour as they conveniently can. It will save the committee much trouble.

We hope the ladies will not wait for a special invitation on Monday morning next to assist in decorating the Hall for the memorial exercises, but will go there as early as possible. The committee will be glad to receive them and will appreciate their help.

Messrs Andrews & Grims have an important advertisement in this issue. They have added to their wood and coal department a feed store where they propose to keep on sale at all times timothy hay, rice straw, bran, oats, corn and chops. Orders received will have prompt attention and filled at the lowest cash price. They are both energetic and reliable gentlemen and will do the right thing with you. Call and give them a trial.

We learn from the best authority, says the News and Observer, that the musicale entertainment at the residence of Mr F L Mahler, on Blount street, given for the benefit of the organ fund of the Church of the Good Shepherd, will be a very recherche. The programme will be quite varied; vocal solos, piano solos, vocal duets, semi-choruses trombone solos. recitations, readings will follow each other in rapid succession, and we are sure that the audience will be amply repaid for attending. The musicale will take place this evening at eight o'clock p m.

Blooded Horses and Cattle.

At the Wake County Cattle Exhibit May 15th, Capt B P Williamson will exhibit 15 or 20 head of his high class standard bred trotting and roadster horses, consisting of colts, mares and stallions. The horse show alone will be worth coming many miles to see and the show of cattle will be the best ever made in the State. The people should not fail to come and see the splendid exhibit.

The Supreme Court and Library Building Reception Tonight.

Tonight Supreme Court Marshal Bradley and State Librarian Birdsong, will brilliantly illuminate the Supreme court and Library building, and throw it open to the public.

A general invitation is extended to all the schools of the city. It is hoped that this is the beginning of frequent social gatherings which may be held in the building. The reception will last from 8 to 10 o'clock. Marshal Bradley and Librarian Birdsong will do all in their power to make the occasion a pleasant one and will be pleased to have the public generally to come out and spend an hour with them this evening. We can promise one and all that it will be both pleasant and profitable.

Personal Mention.

Mr H T Clawson, formerly a resident of this city, but now of Newark, N J, arrived in the city yesterday and was received with many congratulations by his earnest and devoted friends of this city, where he has many. He will always be a welcome visitor in Raleigh.

Our young friend, Z Vance Harris, son of our esteemed fellow townsman, Capt W S Harris, passed through the city yesterday evening en route to Wilmington and other eastern cities, looking after the oyster and fish interest, sent out by the Census Department, of the U S Government. Our young friend, some over a year ago received an appointment from the Government Fish Commissioner's Department. He has been promoted and now holds an important appointment under the Census Department. We are at all times proud to learn of the advancement of the North Carolina boys; this instance gives us especial pleasure, for we know young Harris to be worthy and deserving, and believe he will reflect credit upon any position he may be called upon to fill.

Mr W B Hutching is quite ill at his residence on Elm street.

Miss Marriotte Betts who has been quite sick for the past few days at her home on N Person street, is convalescing.

O F King, Esq, correspondent of the Atlanta Constitution for North Carolina paid this office a very pleasant visit today. We are always glad to see our friend Mr King, and do not hesitate to say that he is correspondent for one of the best papers in this country.

The new additions to our stock of lace wraps and silk capes, gives us the most charming collection of these dressy summer overgarments ever seen in Raleigh. There are many exquisite novelties, not only in shape, but in material, and in order to close them out at once, we, today make very low prices on the entire lot.

An Old Relic.

Some years ago, J C Ellington, Esq who is now General Agent of the National Alliance Insurance Company for North Carolina, office in the Pace Building, West Martin street, visited Topeka, Kansas, and while he, in company with other gentlemen from the Southland, visited the different State departments and saw many things that would be of interest to our people. In the capitol building, on the first floor, is a large hall, set apart for the exclusive purpose of perpetuating the memory of John Brown, who was from that city, the martyr as they style him there. The room is filled with portraits of John Brown, war relics, etc, etc.

Among the many things exhibited, is an autograph letter, written by John Brown, framed and hanging upon the wall, being the last instrument ever penned by him. It was written in the jail at Charlestown, Va, immediately preceding his execution and given to his son, and by him turned over to the State department of Kansas.

Through the kindness of Mr Ellington we give below an exact copy of the letter, punctuation and all:

John Browns letter
Charlestown Va
2d Dec 1859

I John Brown, am now quite certain that the crimes of this guilty land will never be purged away but with blood.

I had as I now think vainly flattered myself that without very much bloodshed; it might be done.

The letter is without signature only at the top—John Brown's letter—and is in his own handwriting. There are not less than four employees in this room at the capitol building whose duty it is to show visitors around, answer questions, &c. An amusing incident occurred. While Mr Ellington and his friends were sightseeing, Mr Eugene Baker, who at that time was sheriff of the county of which Charlestown is the county seat and a friend of Mr Ellington's, proposed to the party to leave the room, which was devoted to perpetuate the memory of John Brown, as he had seen something that was far more interesting to him than anything he had ever seen there. One of the clerks overheard the remark and asked Mr Baker what he meant by it. He said that he saw John Brown pull the hemp. Quite a flutter of excitement ran through the room. That afternoon Mr Baker received a note from Governor St John and the other State officers asking for an interview with him. He (Mr B) met them and said he was not the sheriff who hung John Brown, but was a boy and saw it done. Those State officers told Mr Baker they believed John Brown was hung without jury trial or counsel.

A large amount of money has been spent and is still being spent every year to perpetuate the memory of John Brown. At the time of the visit of these gentlemen to Topeka, the widow of John Brown was living in Nebraska in very destitute circumstances, as a Nebraska man of the highest character informed Mr Ellington, who knew Mrs Brown and knew the statement to be true.—Would it not be well to spend some of their money to care for the destitute widow.
