In and Around the City.

Blooded stock all the talk.
Never did the gardens look better.
Now let us hear no more about Joiner.
Not too soon to talk about the 4th of July.
How to fix up the sidewalks is the question.

Large number of our country friends in the city today.

Jos T Broughton, Esq., of Garner, sold seventy bales of cotton on this market yesterday; 37 bales at 11½c. and 33 bales at 11 9-16c per pound.

Miss Chloe A Davis qualified today before C D Upchurch, Esq., Clerk of the Superior Court, as administratrix of Rev John D Davis, deceased.

Several students of the Agricultural and Mechanical College have suffered recently from attacks of dysentery, but they are improving.

We renew our suggestion for a portrait gallery of all the Mayors of Raleigh. Can't Mayor Thompson start the ball in motion?

Tuesday May 27th has been selected for a meeting of the executive committee of the 4th Congressional District, to fix the time and place for the next Convention.

The Governors Guard are drilling regularly, getting ready for their trip to Charlotte. We feel it in our bones that "our boys" will carry off the prize. All they need is a chance. They never fail—"hardly ever."

The 80th and 101st volumes of the North Carolina Supreme Court reports have been taken from the office of C D Upchurch, Esq., Clerk of the Superior Court. Those having them in possession are requested to return the same as they are of great importance to the office.

Master Robt Lawrence, one of our most energetic youths has a Remington Type Writer, and will be glad to do all kinds of copying. He can be found at the office of Messrs Pace & Holding. He deserves encouragement, and we hope our people will give him their patronage.

The Cattle and Horse Show—Fine Display and a Large Number of People in Attendance.

The annual show of the Wake County Cattle Club took place today and was carried out in accordance with the previously arranged programme. The weather was in every particular fine and the attendance of people large, as a great many of the farmers of the surrounding section took advantage of the occasion to visit the city. The entries of cattle and horses came fully up to expectation, both as to number and quality, and the street parade was one of the most imposing that has yet taken place.

Mrs R S Tucker and Mrs Jas Boylan had on exhibition splendid specimens of milk, cream and butter. The milk exhibited by Mrs Tucker was composed of one fourth cream, and that exhibited by Mrs Boylan of at least one fifth. The butter was of the purest and sweetest kind and reflected great credit upon the ladies.

Upon the whole the show has proven the wonderful success that has attended stock raising in this section of North Carolina, an industry which, if properly fostered, will become in a few years a source of vast pecuniary benefit to Central North Carolina.

Weather Report.

For Raleigh—Fair weather, cooler.

Died

In this city, this morning, at five o'clock, Willie W, infant daughter of Mr and Mrs J J W Harris. This dear little girl though scarcely two years old had been a sufferer nearly all of her short life. Her night of suffering is now over. Just as the light of day had chased away the darkness of night her ransomed spirit freed from its tenement of clay was conveyed by the angels to that beautiful home, where—

"Eternal day excludes the night,
An pleasures banish pain."
The remains will be taken to Oxford for interment.

Our University.

The catalogue of the State University at Chapel Hill, shows a most gratifying condition of the Institution. For the collegiate session of 1889-90 there were two hundred students, while the law school had an attendance of thirty three. It is stated that the medical department under the charge of Dr R H Whitehead, will be opened in September, as will also the departments of civil, electrical and mining engineering. There have been large and valuable additions to the apparatus in the departments of physics, chemistry and natural history. We are proud of our University as well as of the able faculty that constitutes it.
