BROWN & FERRELL,
Raleigh, N. C.

RALEIGH, MAY 20, 1890.

NO MORE FAMILY SECRETS.

The Census Taker Must Know More Than Your Age.

He will be abroad in the land in two weeks looking for cork legs and false teeth and past records and mortgages on your house, and lots of other things.

When the five enumerators begin their work next Monday week, there will be music in Raleigh households, the echoes thereof in all probability reaching to the courts.

The twenty six questions which are to be answered concerning each inhabitant of this city are calculated to cause rebellion, even among those for whom previous censuses had no terrors. Here is the list of queries:

Christian name in full and initials of middle name.

Surname.

Whether a soldier, or marine during the civil war (United States or Confederate), or widow of such person.

Relationship to head of family.

Whether white, black, mulatto, quadroon, octoroon, Chinese or Japanese or Indian.

Sex.

Age at nearest birthday. If under one year, give age in months.

Whether single, married, widowed or divorced.

Whether married during the census year (June 1st, 1890, to May 31st, 1890).

Mother of how many children and number of these children living.

Place of birth.

Place of birth of father and mother.

Number of years in the United States.

Whether naturalized.

Whether naturalization papers have been taken out.

Profession, trade or occupation.

Months unemployed during the census year.

Attendance at school during the census year.

Able to read and write.

Able to speak English. If not, the language or dialect spoken.

Whether suffering from acute or chronic disease, with name of disease and length of time afflicted.

Whether defected in mind, sight, hearing or speech, or whether crippled, maimed or deformed, with name of defect.

Whether a prisoner, convict, homeless child or pauper.

Is the house you live in hired, or is it owned by the head or a member of the family.

If owned by the head or a member of family, is the house free from mortgage encumbrance?

If the house is owned by head or member of family, and mortgaged, what is the post office address of the owner?

The last six questions have been added to the usual list by Superintendent Robert P Porter, and are expected to cause trouble. A refusal to answer may mean arrest and $100 fine.

There will, no doubt, be many an argument before unmarried women of a certain age will confess to defects in hearing, and near sighted people will want to be set down as having "defective eyesight." The census takers of Raleigh will earn about $35 a week while they work, not to speak of the fun they will have.

One section of the law in regard to their work provides that "in case no person shall be found competent to answer the inquiries, then it shall be lawful for the enumerator to obtain the required information as nearly as practicable, from the family or families or person or persons, living nearest to such place of abode." This may lead to trouble in the neighborhood when unpleasant questions about mortgages, and diseases, and defects and past records are not answered by the victim and the census taker goes "next" for his replies. The enumerators for this city will be made public in a few days.

THE OLD NORTH STATE.

Warrenton Gazette: The wheat is sorry. —The cotton is coming up well.

Goldsboro Dispatch: Goldsboro is to have a tannery of gigantic proportions.

New Berne Journal: All through East Carolina the crop prospects are said to be very fine.

Winston Daily: Matters are now assuming definite shape for work to be commenced at an early date on Winston's $100,000 hotel building in West Winston.

Stanley Observer: The stand of corn and cotton is generally conceded to be good.

Oxford Day: The Oxford Land, Improvement and Manufacturing Company's negotiations for the removal of several large Northern manufacturing enterprises to their property, are progressing satisfactorily, and it is likely that important announcements in this connection will be made within a week.

Washington Gazette: The well at the canning factory has reached a depth of 165 feet, where solid rock has been reached, necessitating the use of different tools. The well has passed through a stratum of shell, and some very singular specimens have been brought to the surface. We noticed one, a small, smooth as glass, with peculiar thread like lines cut on the inside.

La Grange Sentinel: The potato bugs doing great damage to the potato tops.

In less than an hour after the books were opened eighty nine shares of the cotton factory were taken, and up to the time of going to press 125 shares have been taken.

Asheville Democrat: Mr B E Hamlin, of Scranton, Pa, was in the city last week, having been to Macon county looking after some valuable timber and mineral properties with a view of investing.

Messrs Cummings and Buffin, two prominent Northern capitalists, having visited Western Carolina, inspected the inexhaustible timber supplies of the section, and satisfied themselves that the field was a most inviting one, purchased a site near Dillsboro and are busily erecting a timber plant to cost at least $50,000.

An Heir of A. T. Stewart.

New York World.
CHARLESTON, W VA, May 17.—Jas Carr, father of President Robert E S Carr, of the West Virginia State Senate, is taking steps to begin suit as one of the heirs to the A T Stewart estate.

Mr Carr was born in Bellenhinch parish, Ireland, about seven miles from the residence of "Uncle Jack," A T Stewart's father, and his grandmother was a niece of A T Stewart.

At present three of her daughters are living, all of whom are residents of this country, while a brother, James Scott, died about three years ago.

Mr Carr says he has known of the relationship all his life, but never occurred to him until recently that he had a legal claim against the Stewart estate.

He has employed able counsel, who pronounce his claim good, and who will take steps to push it at once.

This may affect Judge Hilton's grip upon the estate to a considerable extent.

Love cannot be hid any more than light and least of all when it shines forth in action, when ye exercise yourselves in the labor of love, in beneficence of every kind.

Spanish Etiquette.

In Spain, the etiquette to be observed in the royal palaces was carried to such length to make martyrs of their kings. Disraeli gives an instance, at which, in spite of the fatal consequences it produced, one cannot refrain from smiling.

Philip the Third was gravely seated by the fireside; the speaker of the court had kindled a great quantity of wood, that the monarch was nearly suffocated with heat, and his grandeur would not permit him to rise from the chair. The domestics could not presume to enter the apartment, because it was against the etiquette. At length, the Marquis de Potat appeared, and the king ordered him to damp the fire; but he excused himself, alleging that he was forbidden by the etiquette to perform such a function, for which the Duke d'Useda ought to be called upon, as it was his business. The duke was gone out; the fire burnt fiercer; and the king endured it rather than derogate from his dignity. But his blood was heated to such a degree that an erysipelas of the head appeared the next day, which succeeded by a violent fever, carried him off in 1621, in the twenty fourth year of his age.
