

Bury Me on the Field, Boys.

Richmond State.

[A Confederate officer, while leading a charge in one of the recent battles before Richmond, fell mortally wounded, exclaiming: "Bury me on the field, boys."]

BY MISS MARY S. GRASON.

Bury me on the field, boys!
When the deadly strife is o'er,
This trusty blade I'll wield, boys,
For our firesides never more;
Come, raise my head, I scarce can hear
The thundering cannon's roar.

Bury me where the countless dead
In dreamless slumber rest,
Where the charger's iron hoof may tread
O'er the sod that wraps my breast;
Here let me sleep, since victory
Our glorious cause hath blessed.

Yes, lay me here, where these pine trees wave,
In the evening's solemn hush,
Where stars may shine on my lowly grave,
Where the morning sun may blush;
And I'll be proud to rest, boys,
Where our dauntless columns rush.

Shed not one tear for me—nay, never,
My comrades, brave and bold;
I shrink not back from that dark river
Which flows so icy cold;
But wish my mother could hold my hand,
And kiss me as of old.

My sight is growing strangely dim,
I feel Death's chilly wing;
Methought I heard the cradle hymn
My mother used to sing;
Strange how such pleasant fantasies
This parting hour should bring.

Nay, pause not by my side, boys,
See where our flag on high
Floats o'er the battle's tide, boys—
Haste! to that standard fly—
And tell my dear old mother, boys,
Her son knew how to die.

Bury him on the field, boys,
By light of the dying sun,
With the sword he used to wield,
Boys,
For the conflict now is done;
Nor weep, for that warrior brave,
Brave, boys,
A double crown hath won
Queen Anne county, Md.

A NOTABLE MARRIAGE.

How a N. C. Girl Scooped in a Westerner at Long Range.

A letter from Scotland Neck, N. C., to the Richmond Dispatch says: "A remarkable marriage occurred near Lewiston a few days ago. Some two years ago a quartermaster in the United States army at Fort Riley, Kan., advertised for a female correspondent with a view to matrimony. A young lady in Bertie county named Eliza Drew jokingly answered the advertisement. She could not read nor write, but some friend wrote for her. Her letter was answered, photographs were exchanged, and it is laid that 150 letters were exchanged. The young lady was poor, had worked in the field, cooked and washed all her life, is not good looking, weighs 220 pounds, and wears a No. 8 shoe. She wrote the young army officer all these facts, but to the surprise of everybody he came a short time ago with plenty of money, stayed a few days at the girl's house, gave her money to dress herself up, and married her. He took her off on a bridal tour to Washington City. He says he will show her something of the world, bring her back to see her parents, and then take her to Kansas."

The Western Conference.

Concord Standard.

The committee appointed at the last meeting of the Methodist church for this State, to divide this conference have come to a decision and recommend the division by a line running with the Yadkin river from the South Carolina line to a point in the Northern part of Stanley, then crossing the Yadkin so as to include Randolph, Guilford and Rockingham counties. Each conference, the Eastern and Western, will have over one hundred ministers. There is said to be no doubt that the report of this committee will be adopted. We learn from Rev Mr Page that the Western conference has been invited to hold its first session—in November, in Concord, which offers many advantages, conveniences, etc. The brethren will receive a warm welcome here.
