David Rosenthal—Clothing.
N A Spence—Do You Want It?

In and Around the City.

No abatement in the heat.
List your taxes and avoid trouble.
Remember the lawn party at Brooklyn church tonight.
State Board of Agriculture in session today.
The blackberry crop is simply tremendous.
See advertisement of a tract of land for sale by Mr N A Spence.

Don't forget the prayer meeting at the Christian church tonight at eight o'clock.

Mr Johnson, of Raleigh and Miss Norris, of or near Apex, will be united in marriage tomorrow.

Read the advertisement of Messrs Bevers & Horton, who announce bargains in Golden Rio coffee. Buy a package and secure a prize.

Paint the street cars and have cane bottomed seats before the fourth of July. We want visitors to see how nice they look.

A large number of teachers and others left for Morehead City, yesterday, to attend the session of the teachers assembly.

The bonanza excursion to Norfolk the 3rd inst is growing in popular favor and will, no doubt, be a great success.

The trustees of the W T Blackwell fund, at Durham, have just declared another dividend to depositors of ten per cent. This makes ninety per cent altogether.

The average length of the days of this week is 14 hours and 36 minutes, making them three minutes longer than those of last week. The days of next week will be the same length as those of this week, but on Sunday, the 29th inst, the days will begin to grow shorter and the nights longer.

Our noted clothing merchant, Mr "Dave" Rosenthal has a most astounding announcement today. He offers the Season's Supreme Sale, and the prices he quotes are simply amazingly low. Call and see what is to be had at this foremost emporium of fashion.

It is stated on the authority of some of our best informed grocery dealers, that fish in barrels, kits, etc, will leak in the day time, but that at night the loss in leakage is marked, and can be discovered each morning on investigation. How can this be accounted for? Will some expert explain it.

A lady with two little children who live eight miles east of Raleigh left home this morning at day break, and arrived in this city at 8 o'clock, bringing with them two horse buckets filled with blackberries. They came on foot, and asked only five cents per quart for the berries, and who was it that offered her only three cents per quart?

Died.
We regret to announce the death of Mr Samuel Betts, which took place at his home in Henderson yesterday, aged 59 years. Mr Betts was formerly of this city and was a member of the Raleigh police force. The remains were brought here this morning and the funeral took place this afternoon from the First Baptist Church. They were interred in the city cemetery.

The Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias meets in Durham tomorrow.

Rev J A Whiteman, of Wentworth, has been offered by a Baltimore firm $10,000 for his patented wire.—Winston Sentinel.

Nice Outfits.

Mrs J G Burt left the city today for Henderson, where she will attend this evening the marriage of Mr Lewis Stainback and Miss Florence Bernard, of Henderson. She takes with her one of the loveliest bridal outfits that has left this city in many a day. This is the sixth bridal outfit Mrs Burt has made this season. She has on hand now other outfits for parties who will consummate the nuptial vows at an early day.

The Glorious Fourth.

A meeting of the committee of arrangements for the coming fourth of July was held at the Mayor's office last night and it was decided to have a grand celebration. Arrangements were made for a full series of firemen's contests, good races, etc. The Pyrotechnic display promises to be the grandest ever seen in Raleigh, while the music and military displays will be first class. The matter of fixing a programme has been placed in the hands of Mr G E Leach, which is a sure guarantee that everything will be well looked after.

Educational Association.

One of the most important educational meetings that has ever assembled in the South will take place at Morehead City, commencing July 1st. It will be the meeting of the Southern Educational Association, and it will draw together a combination of intellect rarely seen in North Carolina. All the presidents of the most prominent colleges, seminaries and high schools of the South will be there and much good must result to the great cause of education by their intermingling and comparison of views. It will be indeed a most important assemblage.

A. and M. College.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock the closing ceremonies of the Agricultural and Mechanical College will commence. The programme has been arranged as follows:
Mr Henry Fries, of Salem, will deliver an address on "The Value of Manual Training to Our Young Men."
Mr G W Sanderlin will follow, his subject being "The Industrial Development of North Carolina."
Mr Joseph Daniels, of the State Chronicle, and Capt. Sam A Ashe, of the News and Observer, will also deliver addresses, and short talks may be expected from others.
Two or three essays will be read by members of the freshman class. Those who attend may expect to have a very pleasant morning.

Personal Mention.

Mr A Leazer, of Statesville, is in the city.
Mrs Etta Jones, who has been quite ill at her residence on West street, is now convalescent.
Miss Laura Peterson, of Goldsboro, is visiting Misses Lovie and Mallie Crawford, of this city.
M F King, Esq, who represents the Kimball land company of Kimball, Tenn, was in the city today.
Prof W J Ferrell and Rev O L Stringfield, principals of the Wakefield High school left today for a visit to the North where they will take in Niagara Falls and all principal cities. We extend our most cordial wishes for a delightful trip and a safe return.
We learn through Rev Dr C Durham that the Hon B H Bunn, Congressman from this (the 4th) district, is now quite sick at his home in Rocky Mount. We hope his health may soon be restored.

HUMORS OF THE CENSUS.

Odd and Comical Incidents of the Enumeration.

Boston Transcript.

Enumerator. "Give your Christian name in full please."
Householder. "Moses Lazarus."
E. "Did you serve in the late rebellion?"
H. "I waited until it was all over."
E. "What's your relationship to the head of this family?"
H. "I'm her husband."
E. "Are you white or black?"
H. "Blue most of the time?"
E. "What is your sex?"
H. "Doubtful. My wife calls me the old man, and most of my friends speak of me as an old woman."
E. "What is your age at nearest birthday?"
H. "Never had but one birthday, and I was then of no age to speak about."
E. "Are you married or single?"
H. "Can't you see that I have no hair on the top of my head?"
E. "What was your place of birth?"
H. "At home."
E. "Where was your father born?"
H. "I wasn't present on the occasion."
E. "Your mother?"
H. "It was so long before my own birth that really I don't remember."
E. "How many years have you been in the United States?"
H. "It is six years since I left New Jersey."
E. "What is your profession?"
H. "I have none; I'm an agnostic."
E. "Are you able to read?"
H. "Almost anything but my own writing."
E. "Can you write?"
H. "Those who have undertaken to read my manuscript say I can't."
E. "Do you speak English?"
H. "With an ungrammatical accent."
E. "What disease do you suffer from?"
H. "My wife's headaches principally."
E. "Have you any defect in your mind?"
H. "My wife says I'm a confounded fool; but possibly she may be prejudicated."
E. "Have you ever been a prisoner?"
H. "I have been locked in the embrace of a girl, but that was years ago."
E. "Is your house free from mortgage?"
H. "Do I look like an eccentric?"
E. "What live stock have you?"
H. "Water bugs and other bugs, mice and a limited flock of rats."
E. "What do you raise in your garden?"
H. "My neighbors, hens attend to that."
E. "Do you hope to be saved?"
H. "I did before you came; but after this I expect to spend the remainder of my days in profanity such as ruin my chance for salvation."

The steamer having on board the cable that is to connect Bermuda with Halifax arrived at Bermuda on Saturday. The work of laying the cable will commence at once.

Commencement exercises at Washington and Lee University, Lexington Va, began yesterday.

A Mid Summer Night's Dream
May be pretty and nice, but we can beat any dream you have ever had by showing you some mid summer days realities in the way of cheap white goods, lawns, slippers, parasols, millinery goods, etc. Did you ever dream that you could buy a good figured lawn for 3cts a yard? Did you ever dream that you could buy grandadines for 2cts per yard? Did you ever dream that you could buy an 8cts printed challie for 5cts per yard? Did it ever strike you in a dream that you could buy all kinds of dry goods a great deal cheaper at one certain store in Raleigh than anywhere else? No we don't suppose that such real things as these ever entered your head as dreams, for nothing is real in a dream you know, and all of the above are facts. If you should visit our store and examine our summer prices, then go into some other store and hear their prices, you will ask yourself, have I been dreaming; can it be real the extremely low prices on these same goods at
