Rev J L Foster will preach at the Union mission tonight. Everybody invited to attend.

It is with deep regret we learn that Judge Shipp is dangerously ill at his residence in Charlotte, with but little hope of recovery.

The only female census enumerator yet heard of in the State is Miss M E Allison, of Cedar Grove township, Orange county.

Let us hear from the Railroads about the 4th of July rates. The time is drawing near and the people want to prepare for it.

Remember that you can go on the Norfolk Excursion and get back to Raleigh in time for the 4th of July celebration.

If the Railroads give us cheap rates we can have ten thousand visitors here on the fourth. And they should do so.

We call the attention of the readers of the VISITOR to Messrs Yancey & Stronach's advertisement in today's paper. They propose to sell their stock of buggies, carriages, carts, &c, at cost. They carry the largest stock and best assortment of vehicles in the State, having in stock now about three hundred jobs all of the best makers in the United States. This presents an opportunity to buy a nice vehicle cheap. Give them a call. You will find our old friend Lynn Adams at Yancey & Stronach's. When you want to buy anything in the produce line give him a call. He carries a full supply in this line and will sell you cheaper than any dealer in the market.

Josephus Daniels, Esq, said: That there was never greater need for educated farmers than now. He spoke of the great and grand future of the A & M College; of the grand career of the young men the college should send forth to do battle for life; how the farmers of the State were waiting for the young men to come and join their ranks and by their superior advantages help them on the road to success. He said the boys were the college and the college would be judged by them; that their lives may be such at home that the people may feel that it is their college.

The speech of Judge Merrimon was one of the finest we have ever heard that distinguished gentleman deliver. It abounded in most excellent advice and most admirable and happy allusions. He said he was exceedingly gratified with what he had seen and heard today; that man's primeval condition was labor; that no one had a right to be a drone; that drones should not be allowed by society; man's education only ended with life. Teach the boys from the beginning that labor is one of the highest duties of all men. He said he believed he had worked harder in his profession than any farmer in the county. He spoke of the excellent position labor should occupy; that labor should be educated in every calling; that this college was not, nor is not intended to teach men not to work, but to teach them how to work successfully.

At the conclusion of the exercises, Dr C D Smith, a member of the Board from Macon county, offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted by the audience:

Resolved that Agricultural and Mechanical education must and will constitute the chief point of the future glory and strength of North Carolina.

There were many of the distinguished citizens of Raleigh present, as well as some from a distance. We note (others than those mentioned) Col John Robinson, W G Upchurch, Esq, W C Stronach, G G Latta and several others.

Thus ended a most important occasion, which we hope will increase

AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL COLLEGE.

Interesting Commencement Exercises and a Large Crowd in Attendance.

The first commencement exercises at the Agricultural and Mechanical College took place today in accordance with the programme:

The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev J J Hall, D D, of the Baptist Tabernacle church, at 10 o'clock, which was followed by essays delivered by A G Smith, of Johnston county, and S E Asbury, of Burke county. Addresses were then delivered by Hon H E Fries, Hon A S Merrimon, Capt S A Ashe and Josephus Daniels.

The essay delivered by A G Smith was good. The essay of S E Asbury was most excellent in all respects. We can conscientiously state that this young man is destined to make one of our most successful farmers and most useful citizens.

Hon G W Sanderlin sent regrets that he was unable to attend.

The address of Mr Fries was fine. He alluded to the great advantage of agricultural training; that the college did not belong to the Board of Trustees, nor to any denomination but to the people of North Carolina. He urged the young men to stay in North Carolina, and said the State should do all in her power to keep them here.

Capt S A Ashe said that the study for a young man was man—that some others had added, woman also—but he would not attempt to tell young men how to study woman, for every young man must do that for himself, and that he would in some way manage to do so, but a young man should carefully study himself.

Josephus Daniels, Esq, said: That there was never greater need for educated farmers than now. He spoke of the great and grand future of the A & M College; of the grand career of the young men the college should send forth to do battle for life; how the farmers of the State were waiting for the young men to come and join their ranks and by their superior advantages help them on the road to success. Thus ended a most important occasion, which we hope will increase in interest each succeeding year, until the college shall stand pre-eminent among the Institutions of the South.

A larger attendance is anticipated for next session than for the past year. The new building for the Mechanical department will be completed. In a word the outlook for the Institution is most excellent.

A New Bridge.

Can't the city and railroad authorities come together on an agreement for a new bridge on Hillsboro street? The present structure is, at best, a very unsightly one and not at all in keeping with the surroundings. We must think that an iron bridge would in the end, prove a matter of economy, and certainly it would look better. As it is, almost constant repairs are needed to keep the bridge safe. There is now a great deal of travel of vehicles on that street, and during fair times this is very largely increased. Let us have a neat and pretty iron structure that will do credit to the city.

Important Meetings.

Regular semi-annual meetings of the State Board of Agriculture and Trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical College took place yesterday. The following members of the Agricultural Board were present: Col W F Green, chairman, W R Williams, Dr W R Capehart, W E Stevens, J S Murrow, A Leazer, Burwell Blanton and Dr C D Smith. Accounts for the past six months were audited. The usual appropriations were allowed.

Mr T K Bruner, secretary of the Board was granted two months leave of absence to attend the London Exhibition of minerals and take charge of the North Carolina exhibit. The Commissioner of Agriculture was authorized to call to his aid, members of the board in holding institutes.

In the evening the Trustees of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, met, but transacted no very important business.

Exemption Committee.

The tax exemption committee appointed by the General Assembly, met in the State Library yesterday, pursuant to adjournment. All the members were present except Mr Carter.

The matter of the Southern Express Company was taken up and discussed but nothing definite was arrived at.

The North Carolina Railroad was examined into, Col P B Ruffin, secretary and treasurer being present.

The charter of the company provides that if a dividend is declared exceeding six per cent, the company shall be liable to tax, and the object of the examination was to ascertain whether the company could any year have declared a dividend larger than six per cent.

It is understood that a proposition was made by the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, to compromise with the State. The matter was still under discussion when the board adjourned yesterday afternoon.

Personal Mention.

Mr C E J Goodwin is quite sick at his residence, corner Harrington and Lenoir streets.

Get ready and go on the grand bonanza excursion to Norfolk which leaves here on the 30th inst.

Miss Minor Lashley, left Sunday evening for Jackson, Tennessee, to spend the summer with her sister Mrs A H Johnson.

Miss Sue Denmark, of Goldsboro, is in the city visiting her brother, J W Denmark, Esq, on South Bloodworth street.

W H Pace, Esq, who was reported as being among those who went down to Morehead, has not been out of the city, but is at his office daily, where he will be pleased to have his friends call on him.

Another heavy rain.

Don't Get Left.

McKimmon, Moseley and McGee advertise some seasonable goods at reduced summer prices, in this issue of the VISITOR. An investigation of their mammoth stock will convince you that everything is just as represented and you won't find them "just out" of bargains, but plenty of every style.

A Cannon 900 Feet Long.

If we had a cannon 900 feet long and carrying 200,000 pounds of powder at a charge to fire off three or four times on the 4th of July, it would be a big thing and draw lots of people just to see and hear it go off. It would be a big thing without doubt, but as far as we are concerned we would prefer being at the North pole when it went off. Still, if the people would like it let's have it. If the community decide to have this cannon we shall not be here, but if not we shall fire some good sized pop crackers in the way of dress goods, clothing, slippers, white goods, lawns, challies, &c, &c, ourselves. We shall be very busy between now and the 4th loading up these crackers and the public may expect a brilliant exhibition at our store on that day. Don't understand that we will sell goods any cheaper on that day than we are selling them now for we could not do that unless we gave them away, but we shall offer some bargains then that we haven't got now. At SWINDELL'S

Russet Shoes.

For awhile there were doubts among shoe dealers, as to whether the demand for these shoes would last. Those doubts exist no longer.

The demands for Russet Shoes are such that a dealer is required to show liberal lines of this economical foot wear.

They show little signs of wear, require no blacking, and are as comfortable as can be.

We now show choice styles in these goods for gents, ladies and children, and at money saving prices.
