Rev Dr J H Cordon, will preach at the Union Mission next Monday night instead of tonight as stated in the morning papers.

We would be very glad to have any person whose names have not been given in to the census enumerators to hand or send in their names at the VISITOR Office.

The fourth of July committee say, that they are going to have the biggest celebration ever seen in Raleigh. They are the very gentlemen to look after it—none better.

Mr A D Jones has been selected to read the national declaration of Independence on the 4th of July. This is a most admirable selection. Now let us have the Mecklenburg declaration read, so that our folks can judge between them.

The railroad investigating committee has adjourned until December 2nd, at which time the matter of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad will be continued. The clerk of the committee has been authorized to issue subpoenas for witnesses, etc.

Personal Mention.

Misses Sudie and Lucy Farley, of Danville, Va, are in the city, visiting Miss Carrie Johnson and Miss Minnie Barber on New Berne avenue.

Mr John C Mangum's wife and child are both very ill on Fayetteville street, near Centennial graded school. Mr Z Vance Harris returned to his home yesterday evening from the eastern part of the State, whither he had gone in the discharge of his duties under the census bureau. His health is not improved, and he will remain at his home for several days.

Dr J W Vick, of Selma, spent last night with Capt W S Harris, on East Martin street.

Miss Mattie W Rountree, a teacher in Oxford Orphan Asylum, passed through the city today on her way to her home in Kinston and the teachers assembly at Morehead.

Mr C E J Goodwin, who has been quite sick for some time, we learn is much improved.

Col L D Stephenson was in the city today, looking bright and cheerful, and giving glowing accounts of crop prospect for 1890.

Miss Florene Baugh, of St Matthews Township, who has been quite sick for the past two weeks, we are glad to learn, is improving.

J D Boushell, Esq, has taken the house formerly occupied by Mrs by McVae, on Halifax street.

Mrs Col Heck, has gone to Danbury, Stokes county; from thence she will go to Piedmont Springs.

Mr W G Riddick, of Wake Forest, was in the city today.

Rev J A Speight returned last evening from a trip to Pilot Mountain, Mt Airy and Winston. He says the crop prospect throughout that section is the most promising; that Winston is destined to become one of the largest cities in the State. Mr Speight left this evening to attend the Sunday school convention at Fayetteville.

Agricultural and Industrial Notes.

The State Board of Agriculture, yesterday, appropriated $300 to the colored Industrial Association to be expended under the auspices of the Commissioner of Agriculture.

Resolutions of regret were passed at the resignation of Mr F B Daney, as first assistant chemist, of the Agricultural Department.

Prof F E Emry, of Geneva Station, New York, was elected Agriculturist of the Experiment Station and Assistant Professor of Agriculture. He will arrive here October 1st.

State Chemist H B Battle's entire corps of assistant chemists were re-elected, as were also the superintendent, matron and steward of the Experiment Farm.

A Balking Horse.

Yesterday afternoon as the 5.30 o'clock street car was on its trip up Fayetteville street, one of the horses became unmanageable, and despite all the entreaties of the driver, coupled with slight force, refused to move another inch in the right direction. He managed, however, to pull the car off the track and for a time it rattled over the pavement towards the eastern sidewalk of the street. The difficulty seems to have been that the horse was not well broken, and hence he concluded to break somebody's limbs, if possible. The best comment we can make, is to modestly suggest to the Street Car Company not to put such dangerous beasts on their line.

The Census Man.

"Pray what is your age?" said the census man sage,
And ye damsel spoke never a word.
"Are you foolish, insane, deaf, hump-backed or lame?"
And she smiled at a thought so absurd.
"Do you powder or paint?" and her smile it grew faint.
"Do you snore, Miss, and have you cold feet?"
Ye damsel yet she spake not, you bet,
But ye man he lay dead in the street.—Exchange.

The Latest Hold Up.

Chicago Tribune.

The two men who had been sitting together in the seat near the door of the car became engaged in an animated controversy, and their loud voices attracted the attention of all the other passengers. Suddenly one of them rose up and said:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I appeal to you to decide a disputed point. My friend here insists that not more than three persons out of five believe they have souls. I take a more cheerful view of humanity. Will all of you who believe you have souls raise your right hands?"

Every right hand in the car went up.

"Thank you," he said, with a smile. "Keep them up just a moment. Now, will all of you who believe in a hereafter please raise your left hand also?"

Every left hand in the car went up.

"Thank you again," he said. Now while all of you have your hands raised," he continued, drawing a pair of revolvers and leveling them, "my friend here will go down the aisle and relieve you of whatever valuables you may happen to have. Lively, now! Jim.

NORRIS & CARTER'S.

We Would be Glad to See

Every lady in Raleigh at our Store in the next ten days to see the most wonderfully cheap line of muslin underwear ever shown in the city. We can easily give you a margin of 20 per cent over the same class of goods offered elsewhere. It may seem to some that we are wonderful boasters on account of our saying so positively and so often that we sell our goods cheaper than others. But when you look at it from a business point you will see that it is simply a matter of business. We make it a study, day by day, to find these bargains; if we did as others do—that is buy our goods from the same old regulars from one year to another, we could not expect to sell you goods for any less than they do. We don't buy goods in that way. When we go to New York we go with the American money and we search diligently for bargains in every line of goods, and we always find them. Then, when we say that we have a bargain for you, you can take your pocket book and go right straight to SWINDELL'S.
