Death of Rev. Dr. T. M. Jones. liquor to friends; never sold it on Sun-The sad intelligence has been received of the death of this gentleman which took place at his resilence 'n Greensboro, yesterday.

It can indeed be said, in this instance, that death has stricken down a shining mark among our people. Dr Jones has been for a long series of years a most prominent man in the educational interests of North Caro- gave him five cents change. lina. In fact, it may be said that the Mr J C L Harris as attorney for best part of his life has been spent in that direction. At the time of his death he was 71 years old, having fendant was bound over in the sum of at 15c, and are worth nearly double been born in Franklin county in 1819.

He graduated at Randolph-Macon College and afterwards taught school in Warren and Franklin counties. He was licensed as preacher in the Methodist Episcopal church, and in 1853, was chosen Professor of Mathematics and Ancient Languages in Greensboro Female College. In 18'4 he was elected president of the Instihis death.

He has been a most valuable adjunct to the church in many ways and was an ideal President. In all the walks of private life he was a most estimable citizen and his loss will be a sad one indeed.

Mayor's Court.

His Honor, Mayor Thompson had quite a levee today, the principal case large majority. There was great being a charge against Wm Wallace, unanimity in the convention and percolored, for retailing liquor on Sun- feet harmony. The nominations give day without license. D P Johnson the highest satisfaction. testified that on the first Sunday in May he got a drink of whiskey from the defendant, and on several suc ceeding Sundays he also bought liquor. He got it from Wallace himself. Witness said he reported Wallace because he (Wallace) had reported him as not paying a dog tax. Witness said he did not make a secret of the matter, he paid the money for it. He boarded with Wallace.

Mr Dolan testified: Was with John. son when he said he took the drink; did not see him take drink, nor did he see the money; boarded with Wallace; both Johnson and himself boarded with Wallace; we drank liquor every Sunday morning, but we bou ht it Saturday night; on one occasion Wallace gave me a drink on Sunday.

Wm Wallace testified that he had never sold Johnson a drink of liquor in my life. On one Sunday mornin he told me he had been drinking the night before, and I gave him a drink, he asking me for it, and told me it would save his life; sometimes give day; Mr Saintsing has applied for whiskey on Sunday; don't know whether I gave him a drink or not; I never had any liquor to sell, and the tale would never have been told if I had not reported Mr Johnson for not paying dog tax.

A Young Heroine.

Charlotte News.

At the home of Mr C B Cross, at Burdette, this county, is a fish pond, which is a popular bathing resort for the children. Yesterday a lot of negro children were bathing in the pond, when a little chap only three years old fell into a deep hole. The little negro had sunk for the third time, when Mr Cross' daughter Mattie, a little girl nine years old, came by. She at once realized the situation and plunged into the water. She dived and brought up the little negro and got him to land. He was apparently dead, but after a considerable amount of work, he was resuscitated. It was a very brave and heroic deed of the young girl.

Three Young Persons Marry.

The weddings of two sons and a daughter of Geo R Bower, of Read ing, have caused quite a sensation there. The daughter, Annie, aged 16 years, was married to Elmer E Stauf fer, son of the late William H Stauffor. George L Bower, the oldest son, aged 19, was married to Miss Cora Geise, and Samuel L Bower, the second son, 18 years, was married to Miss Hannah R Schildt. A third son, aged 17, expressed his willingness to be married at the same time. The Revs F K Huntzing and S C Preyfogel were the officiating clergymen. -Philadelphia Enquirer.

NORRIS & CARTER

W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co. We will this week make it an item for one to look through our parasols. We show the novelties of this season, some are plaids, stripes, Vandyke effects, &c. The prices on these styl-Mr Johnson recalled: Said he gave ish goods will be so low that it will Wallace twenty five cents and he be desirable to possess one, not only for its style, but for the small cost for such an article.

Our French and Scotch zephyr, ginghams, which we let go now this price, makes them a big bargain in the gingham stock.

WH&RSTUCKER & Co.

What is a Bargain?

We suppose that if 50 people were asked this question hardly any two would give the same answer. The word bargain, as it is now considered by most persons is a kind of combination word that can be adjusted or used in any connection with no regard whatever to its significance. We believe and hold that 'a bargain" is a tuing that is worfh its faca value, but is sold lower than its market value by some one who has been enabled by unknown circumstances to secure it for less money than others pay for the same thing. For instance, take any staple article that has a fixed price like Coats' spool thread say. Every one sells this thread at 5c per spool. Suppose I should buy some merchant out who had failed in business and he had on hand 5,000 dozen of this cotton. He pays 45c per dozen for it and I buy it of him for 50c in the dollar, or 221c per dozen. I take that cotton and sell it for 21c a spool. That would be a bargain, because no one else could possibly sell it for the same price. It is only the wide awake man that is on the lookout for these things that has these bargains. No man can offer you bargains bought in the regular way like every one else buys. We make it a part of our business to look up these things, therefore we can and do often offer bargains to our patrons. We say that we sell everything cheaper than any one else does. This is so because we buy and Truth is stronger than error, right- sell everything for cash, and of course Hardware, &c.
