

Chained For Life.

Jay Hill died a few days ago at his home, five miles above Trinity College, N. C., aged seventy years. He was a most remarkable character. He was born an idiot, but since infancy has possessed physical strength to a rare degree, and was well formed in every particular with the exception of his head, which was so extremely illshaped as to give him more the appearance of a beast than of a man. When but a child he was often so violent that it was necessary to chain him to the floor. Notwithstanding this unnatural existence, he grew and strengthened day by day, until his chair was not sufficient to hold him, and two three times he broke loose and fled to the woods.

During his brief liberty he was as violent as a tiger, and it was difficult to recapture and return him to his place of confinement. He was fastened with stronger bands, and with the exception of a few days, he remained chained to the floor in the same room for about fifty years. He had an insatiate desire for tearing to pieces anything that he could get, and at times it was impossible to keep him clothed. Flax was spun up into coarse, strong threads and woven into cloth, which was doubled and quilted and made into garments for him, but with his teeth and his talon fingers he tore them into threads. He has been known to tear to pieces a solid stick of hickory wood with nothing but his teeth and fingers. He ate as ravenously as a lion, and could drink, without the slightest pain, boiling coffee.

On several occasions members of the family narrowly escaped being killed by him. One evening a sister started to go out of doors. She passed too near him and he sprang at her with great force, knocked her through the door into the yard, so badly injuring her that it was not thought possible for her to live. His father provided for him before his death, leaving property enough to maintain a wretched life through all these years. It was stipulated in the will that he should not be taken to an asylum, and that he should be kept on the old homestead.—Exchange.

Ice Cellar!

We have opened an ice cellar under the Henry Building, opposite the post office, where our Mr R H Murphy will be pleased to give every one full value for their cash or tickets. This ice is made on large iron plates, then cut into blocks, and has no porous or soft parts. This process insures wonderful transparency, great density and freedom from air bubbles. It is more nearly like natural lake or river ice than can be made by any other process, but is more pure and more durable, as demonstrated by actual experiments, with both under the same conditions.

Our White Covered Wagons go wherever wanted in town, both morning and evening.

FULL WEIGHT GUARANTEED. Car loads very low rates. Prompt shipments.
