LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

Index to New Advertisements.

Thos. H. Briggs & Sons—Alabastine. Barbee & Pope—New Candy Factory.

In and Around the City.

Beautiful day.
Fall is at hand.
Good by, watermelons.
The last rose of summer.
The festive oyster makes it bow.
Summer tourists at home again.
The school girls will soon be back again.

Are you working for the fair; if not why not?

Board of Aldermen meet in regular session next Monday night.

New goods coming in fast, and the merchants look supremely happy.

Good oysters at fifty cents a gallon will be one of the features of the completion of the Albemarle and Raleigh Railroad—fact.

Attempt the end and never stand to doubt. Nothing so hard but search will find it out—and then look after the Albemarle and Raleigh Railroad.

Lots of shows are booked for the coming season. These, with the Legislature promises a lively time in the city.

Think of the nice fish, oysters, game, etc., the Albemarle and Raleigh Railroad would bring to our doors at the most moderate rates, and then talk and work for it.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Thos. H. Briggs & Sons. They offer for sale the celebrated Alabastine for coating walls and ceilings. The best preparation for the purpose yet discovered.

There will be a game of base ball at Athletic Park next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, between the married and single gentlemen for the benefit of the Soldiers Home. A small admission fee will be charged.

Messrs. Ellington, Royster & Co. have turned over to the committee the mechanical building of the A. & M. College all complete and satisfactory in all respects. It was built on time. This firm is composed of most reliable gentlemen and are worthy of the confidence of the public.

The Raleigh Academy, of which Messrs. Morson & Denson are principals, will open next Monday under the most flattering circumstances. We hear that there will be considerable increase in the number of students in attendance. Most of the students, except those ready for College will re-enter, and many new scholars have been added. There is no better school in North Carolina, or indeed in the United States for the preparation of youth for College, or the business relations of life.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Barbee & Pope, who have a new Candy Factory at 105 Fayetteville street, the former stand of Mr. John C. Palmer. These gentlemen are so well and favorably known in our city as to need but very little endorsement at our hands. They are experienced business men and those who trade with them will find the fairest dealing in all respects. Give them a trial.

The Rev. Baylus Cade will occupy the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The sermon recently so kindly preached by Mr. Cade in the First Baptist Church and the Tabernacle have occasioned much favorable comment. He is a forcible speaker and always gives good food for thought and action.

Try some of C. O. Ball's Orange Syrup, 50 cents per gallon, No. 11 East Hargett Street.

Analysis.

Mr. J. J. Phoenix, the owner of the land near Greensboro, on which what purports to be an oil well has been found, will be in Raleigh next Monday with a sample of the earth and water taken from the well to have an analysis made by the State Chemist. Mr. Phoenix desires to settle the criticisms relative to the discovery and will not proceed with the work of sinking the shaft until a report is made by the Chemist.

The C. B. and L. A.

Messrs. Howard & Self, agents for the Covenant Building and Loan Association of Knoxville, Tenn., are in the city in the interest of said association, and have been very successful in their work having organized a local board here last night with a good number of stockholders. The board is composed of some of our foremost citizens and business men. The officers are:

President—G. H. Glass.
Vice President—C. F. Lumsden.
Sec'y and Treas.—C. E. Haskitt.
Attorney—C. M. Busbee.
Directors—B. H. Woodell, W. E. Jones, W. W. Briggs, C. O. Ball.

This association is managed solely by Odd Fellows, but membership is open to all, and we bespeak for it an extensive and successful business among our people.

What Will Raleigh Do?

The State Agricultural Society has its home officers, its grounds and other property in Raleigh. It holds its fairs each year in Raleigh. And when the time draws near for the holding of the State Fair other cities and towns, and in fact all parts of the State, begin to ask, what is Raleigh doing. This city may be considered the wisest; the movements of its citizens the pulse within on which the whole State will put its finger in order to determine what is being done, and how preparations progress for the fair. More, the movements of the people of Raleigh will very largely determine whether a fair is to be a success or a failure. If the people of the State know that the capital city is moving with a vim and a determination that the fair shall be the biggest and best ever held, then the people will be getting ready to come and see the biggest and the best. As goes Raleigh so goes the fair; and so comes the whole State.

Personal Mention.

Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall and wife returned to the city yesterday afternoon from a most delightful trip North. They are in the enjoyment of good health.

Col. L. L. Polk reached home yesterday afternoon and will spend several days in the city with his family.

Rev. Dr. L. L. Nash has just returned from Clayton, where he has been assisting Rev. A. R. Raven in a revival meeting during the past week. There was quite a number of conversions and a general interest in the community. This is the fifth meeting that the doctor has assisted in during the present season. He will fill his pulpit tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Armistead Jones, Esq., returned to the city today.

K. W. Weathers, John M. Womble and Walter Bishop returned on yesterday morning from their Northern tour and report having a most pleasant time. We are glad to see the young gentlemen home again looking so cheerful and so much refreshed.

Our esteemed young friend, Ernest Martin, has returned from Asheville and Blowing Rock. He is in the most buoyant of spirits, and says he had a most pleasant and enjoyable time. He is in perfect shape for future duties.

Mr. Chas. Crawford left the city this morning for Richmond where he will purchase a load of cattle for our market.

Crazy Tea and Butter Fly Festival.

Monday night, Sept. 1st, 1890, at Odd Fellows Hall, the young ladies will give an entertainment consisting of recitations from six young ladies, and speeches from several prominent members of the order. All the delicacies of the season will be served. All Odd Fellows and the public are cordially invited. Ten per cent of proceeds will be given to the Soldier's home.

Died.

Near Kelvin Grove, this county, on August 17th, after a brief illness of four days, Mrs. Maggie E. Hayes, wife of Mr. G. D. Hayes, in the 22nd year of her age. She was a true and consistent member of New Bethel Baptist Church in which she has been a bright and shining light since an early age. She was a sister of Mrs. J. L. Stone, and Mr. Julian C. Bevers, of this city.

Corner Stone.

The Methodists will have the Corner Stone of the Main Street M. E. Church at Reidsville, laid on Wednesday next the 3d of September. Addresses will be delivered and a Masonic celebration will take place, including a free dinner. Dr. B. F. Dixon will deliver the oration, and Rev. Dr. Peterson, of Danville, Va., will preach the regular sermon. Reduced rates on the Railroads have been secured.

Still a Candidate.

Correspondence of the VISITOR.
In an interview had with Mr. Geo. L. Tonoffski, who some time ago announced himself as an Independent candidate for a seat in the 52nd Congress from this district, we learned that the nomination of Prof. McIver by the so called Republican Congressional Convention of the 28th and 29th inst. would not in the least alter his course in the contest, the current report of his withdrawal to the contrary notwithstanding. He is rather inclined to the opinion, that the mode and manner in which the convention was convened strengthens his chances. He says the more respectable element of the party will not tolerate for a moment, any such disgraceful conduct as was resorted to, in order to appease certain "leetele bits-er" partisan politicians who are the plant tools of a certain element who have forced upon them a nominee who cannot under existing circumstances possibly be elected. Why, says he, its all bosh about his carrying Chatham by 500 votes, and offers to wager a 50 pound red meat watermelon that the Professor will not get 500 votes in the county; and if any man can be found who will take him up he wants him trotted out before the melon season is over. He further says, that he will in a few days issue a circular letter to the voters of the district, especially to the twenty thousand Knights of Labor and Farmers Alliance, who under the circumstances are pledged not to support either of the ring nominees in which he will tell them some plain truth calling the names of certain wily politicians who have been very active and conspicuous in denouncing and cursing out these two organizations, and who are ready at all times to sell out the people, for a less number of pieces than Judas received. George has been over a large portion of the district and seems to be pretty well posted as to its true condition. He proposes to make things lively for the two candidates, especially the Professor who, he thinks, stands in a worse condition before the people than Mr. Bunn, on certain lines. We gather from him that he will start out during next week on a regular bushwacking campaign, and will visit as many townships as possible by the time the canvass opens up in earnest. He will invite a joint canvass. George further says, that the feeling regarding the disgraceful method referred to will not be confined to this district alone, but will reach to other districts in which there is a disaffected element of the Professor's political persuasion. From all we could gather he is going to make somebody open their eyes, to the true inwardness of things, and the public may look out for something rich, rare and racy. "Vic."
