Has the contract been let out for the new depot? If so, who was the fortunate party to have the contract awarded them? And when will work begin? Will some one kindly inform us? As yet we have been unable to learn.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. Nick Deboy & Co., bakers and confectioners, No. 105 Fayetteville street. These gentlemen are well versed in the business and all who trade with them can rest assured of the fairest dealing in all respects. Give them a call.

At a meeting of the board of deacons of the Baptist Tabernacle church held last Monday night, it was decided to commence a series of meetings at that church commencing with next Sunday. The pastor, Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall, most earnestly desires the attendance of the membership of the church and congregation.

Arm Torn to Pieces.

We regret to learn that the son of Mr. Peter Pool, who lives near Auburn, Wake county, had his hand and arm severely torn to pieces, on yesterday evening, in the cotton gin of Messrs. Watts & Co., at Auburn. It is reported that his wounds are so severe that there are doubts as to his recovery. He is a young man just grown, and it is said that this was the first day's work he had ever done for himself.

Fast Day.

It was announced from Central M. E. Church on last Sunday morning that Friday the 5th inst. would be observed as Fast Day, that we might have an early visitation of the Holy Spirit. Services will be held at the church Friday at 12 o'clock. All the members are earnestly requested to be present. Announcement was also made that the meeting would be protracted from Sunday night to which all Christian workers are earnestly invited.

Death of Captain T. C. Evans.

It is with the deepest regret that we announce the death of this gentleman, which occurred at his home in Raleigh yesterday morning, aged 51 years.

It can well be doubted if there was a gentleman in North Carolina more widely known or more justly esteemed than Captain Evans. From early boyhood he had been identified with the newspaper business, and had earned for himself the reputation of a brilliant writer. Genial, social and kind hearted, almost to a fault, he goes down to the grave amid the sorrow of thousands who knew and loved him. To his surviving relatives we tender our most heartfelt sympathy.

Elected Superintendent.

The directors of the Oxford Asylum yesterday elected Rev. J. T. Harris, of Durham, superintendent to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. Dr. Dixon. Mr. G. Rosenthal was chosen a director in place of Col. Thos. S. Kenan, resigned.

Mr. J. H. Harden, secretary and treasurer of Big Falls cotton mills, is in the city to attend the marriage of Rev. J. L. Foster, which takes place tonight at Edenton Street M. E. Church.

Miss Mamie Speight, of Windsor, Bertie county, is visiting her uncle, Rev. J. A. Speight of this city.

Let Us Have It.

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, held last night, Mr. E. L. Harris, of Wilton, Granville county, submitted a proposition to provide the necessary machinery for manufacturing 300,000 pounds of tobacco annually, provided the citizens of Raleigh will take stock to the amount of $6,000. The money so subscribed by citizens must be used as a working capital. The committee, to whom the matter was referred, have reported favorably, and it now only awaits the action of our people toward subscribing for the required amount of stock.

The VISITOR hails this as a sign of coming prosperity, and most earnestly hopes that there will be no difficulty in securing the stock.

Drowning of Seventy Six Men.

The first detailed story of the loss of the ship Oneida and the drowning of seventy six Chinese in Cook's Inlet, Alaska, are given by John Ericson, one of the crew of the wrecked vessel, who has just arrived in San Francisco on the schooner Campier. "We sailed from here," said he, March 28. On April 26 a fog came down, and about nine o'clock at night, when we thought we were well out from land, the shock came.

"The water was flowing into the ship at a furious rate and the order was given to get out the boats. The scene that followed that order was simply terrible. Two hundred Chinese fishermen, who were in the hold, came swarming up on deck, and it was as if the imps of hell were let loose. They cursed and swore and cried and kicked and charged on the boats, and had to be driven off the deck by the crew. Some ran up into the rigging, then down to the deck again. They attempted to take possession of the boats, which by this time were manœvered.

"It was necessary to push out from the side of the ship. To attempt to hold them in check was impossible. They were like demons. Many of them leaped into the water and were drowned. None of the white men were lost.

"Twenty minutes after we struck there was nothing to be seen on the ship. She landed fairly on top of the rock and was broken in two. As the ship was settling three dories were washed out of the davits. There was a scramble for them by the panic stricken Chinese, but only four of them got into the boats.

"It was terrible to listen to the wails of the doomed creatures. We could give them no help. A number of them were caught like rats in a cage and went to the bottom on the Oneida. Thirty minutes after the ship struck we were all in the boats, and not a sound could be heard except the oars in the row locks. We reached land safely, and when day broke went out to see if we could find any survivors. We found twelve Chinamen floating on the wheelhouse two days later.

"Three of the Chinese had managed to reach the rock, but these were not found until seven days later, and two of them in the meantime had perished from exposure. The third had found a keg of spirits and kept himself alive on its contents."

Just for Fun.

Let Him Try It Himself.

Some years ago it was the custom in France to conduct the condemned criminals through gaping crowds of spectators to the public guillotine. On one such occasion the unfortunate seated upon his coffin in the cart heard a would-be wit in the crowd remark to a companion:

"Well, I'll bet that fellow don't feel like laughing."

The coarse attempt at a joke stung the prisoner, and when he arrived at the scaffold he asked that the procession be stayed a moment, as he had a confession to make.

"Although I denied it at my trial, I had accomplices in the crime for which I have been sentenced, and there," pointing to the joker, "is one of them now."

Great excitement ensued, and the party designated was seized by the gendarmes with no gentle hands. Out of the confusion somebody managed to drag order, and the wit was placed on the scaffold beside his accuser.

Such a fearful case to abject terror as the joker pretended was never witnessed in that sombre locality. After enjoying his helpless fright for a few moments the fated convict said to the official in charge:

"He tried to make sport of my sufferings, but the man is innocent. And as soon as he seemed to be sure that it was no laughing matter to be here, I was curious to see how much such a funny fellow would laugh under similar circumstances."
