There were nine or ten penitents at the altar last night in Central Church with four conversions; thus the good work goes on with increasing interest every service. "O, grant that it may continue until scores, and even a hundred precious souls shall have been saved, and the church wonderfully baptized afresh with the Holy Ghost."

A Handsome Sum

Dr. C. E. Taylor, President of Wake Forest College, succeeded in raising six hundred dollars a few evenings since out at Wake Forest, for the endowment of the college. He expects in a short time to make it one thousand. This, as we understand, is equivalent to fifteen hundred dollars under the proposition of Mr. J. B. Bostwick—to give one dollar for every two dollars raised for the endowment of said college. This offer, in our judgment, will largely increase the endowment fund.

The fruit crop this year has been almost a complete failure here as all over the country. Mr. T. W. Swan who is usually so successful says this year he has had nothing to sell in this line but about two bushels of pears. Last year he sold about as many every day besides shipping 100 bushels.—Goldsboro Dispatch.

Let the Ladies Move.

It has been shown many times, that when a church or any other organization is in straits, if the ladies take hold of it, the trouble soon disappears. Let us think what the ladies of Raleigh have done in days past for our churches and benevolent institutions. Our State Fair has not always been a grand success. It promises this year to eclipse anything before it. But to make it the largest success possible, we think the managers would do well to assign some of the work to the ladies of the city.

A Suggestion.

One hundred and seventy six students are now on the rolls of Wake Forest College, and every day new names are being entered. We would urge the people of Wake Forest to take advantage of the boom the College seems to be enjoying just now, especially the property owners to build up the town. Build handsome residences at once for which there is much demand just now. We understand that Prof. Lanneau is unable to procure a house for his family; also the Rev. Mr. Gwaltney, the newly elected Pastor of the Church, is unable to take his family there for want of a house. Build houses gentlemen and supply the demand at once. Outside of the requirements of the people for residences, it would seem to us that the erection of buildings would be a most admirable investment for capitalists.

Sam Jones' Sermons.

The Rev. Sam Jones will commence his meetings in Wilmington on Thursday, September 25th, and continue same for ten days. The Messenger will employ expert stenographers and reporters, and proposes to publish daily the sermons complete.

The Daily Messenger will be printed in enlarged form and mailed to subscribers for eleven days, commencing September 25th, and ending Sunday, October 5th, for fifty cents each subscription. We propose to let Mr. Jones talk to our readers, and shall endeavor to give his leading sermons without curtailment or garbling.

The Messenger will be sent on trial to new subscribers four months for $2. It is an eight page paper—a complete news paper.

THE MESSENGER

Personal Mention.

R. E. Gaines, of South Carolina, has been elected Professor of Mathematics of Richmond College.

Master Hubert Pauli, who was reported as improving a few days ago, is suffering from a relapse and is quite sick again.

We are glad to learn there is some improvement in Mrs. W. H. Johnston, who has been very ill at her residence on North Person street for the past three weeks.

Dr. W. E. Richardson, of Mark's Creek township, who has been sick for some time, has, we are glad to say, so far recovered as to be able to be in the city today shaking hands with his many friends.

Mrs. Lanneau, wife of Prof. Lanneau, the newly elected Professor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Prof. Carmichael, of Wake Forest College, passed through the city on yesterday evening on her way to Sylva, in Jackson county, N. C., where she will spend some time with relatives and friends.

The Editor's Bore.

He sat and looked at the busy editor for about fifteen minutes steadily. Finally he yawned sleepily and remarked:

"There are some things in this world that go without saying."

"I know it," snapped the editor, "but there are too darned many things that say a good deal without going." Pioneer Press.

Sweet Pickle.

A sweet pickle equal to that made of citrons, can be concocted from the rinds of watermelons, the portion of that fruit which is often thrown away. Boil two pounds of rinds in clear water until quite tender. Drain them well. Make a sirup of two lbs., sugar, one quart of vinegar, half an ounce of mace, an ounce of cinnamon and some roots of ginger boiled until thick. Pour over the melon rinds while very hot. Drain off the sirup the next day, heat it again, and again pour it over boiling hot. Repeat this for three days in succession, after which it may be left on and the pickles set away. They will keep for two years.

Hypnotism in Religion.

Atlanta Constitution.

Hypnotism appears to be spreading, and is assuming different forms, and the cranks have now given it a religious complexion.

A woman evangelist, Mrs. Maude B. Woodworth, who has been conducting a revival of religion in St. Louis, preaching in a tent to thousands, has created great excitement by her hypnotic powers. Men and women seemed to be completely under her influence, and during her preaching they became frenzied, and hundreds were found stretched on the platform, or ground, apparently in a dead stupor, while others cried, danced and shouted around the evangelist in the wildest manner.

What is the secret of this woman's power? The reasoning people of St. Louis were alarmed; the doctors were asked to investigate her case, and they pronounced her insane, and possessed of great hypnotic powers; that the trance in which she throws her auditors is hypnosis; that she is doing harm to thousands and should be locked up in an insane asylum at once.

That she is insane, there can be no doubt. She tells the people that she has held communion with God and conversed freely with the devil; and her energy and eloquence have captured them completely.

This feature of religious excitement, hypnotism, or whatever you may call it—is confined, for the most part, to the ignorant classes—notably, the negroes, many of whom, in the illiterate districts of southern and western states, do not believe that they have religion unless they become unconscious and "go into a trance."

There were 2,650 farm mortgages foreclosed in Kansas during the first six months of this year and they represent an indebtedness of over $2,000,000. The farmers of Kansas are naturally wondering where their profits come in under our scheme of protection.

Women are coming to the front in business life. There are nearly 15,000 of them engaged as commercial travelers in the United States. The demand for women to do clerical and office work increases all the while, and they are better paid for their work now than ever before.

Do You Believe in Dreams?

A good many people do believe in them, and undoubtedly things often do occur which bring vividly to your mind dreams that you have had. Now whether this is a mere coincidence or whether there is really a hidden power of the mind when reposing in sleep to penetrate the future and read events to come, is doubtful. We do know that we have dreamed of things that did afterward occur; and again we have had dreams that never have come true and which we sincerely hope never will. Sometime people dream when they are not asleep.—They may think they were afterward, but they were not. We had a dream not long ago something like this: We were taking inventory of stock in January, '91. We thought we were extremely well pleased at the showing of our years' work. We had nearly doubled the record of '89. We asked ourself why have we done so much more business this than last year. A hundred voices seemed to answer at once: "You have kept better goods, more goods, and you have sold them lower than your neighbors, therefore you are entitled to the success you have attained." When the voices reached this part we felt so good we awoke. Will this dream be a reality to us in January, '91? We shall see. SWINAKEL.
