THE OLD NORTH STATE.

Miss Mildred Lee, daughter of the great chieftain, R. E. Lee, is in Asheville.

Ms. A. M. Woodall has become one of the editors of the Smithfield Herald.

The Sampson county fair is to be held during the last week in November, and of course it will be a success.

The Alamance Gleaner reports the disappearance of Franklin Ingle, the storekeeper of the Beaver Creek Alliance, with cash amounting to $150 or $175 in his pocket.

Newton Enterprise: Fifty dollars was realized from the sale of Mr. Fife's pictures in Newton, which was presented to Dr. R. L. Abernethy for rebuilding Rutherford College.

The game of base ball at Winston, on Saturday last, was for the championship of the South and was played by Winston and Roanoke. The score stood: Winston 4, Roanoke 3. The game was hotly contested by the Roanokes.

The Republican county convention of Guilford Saturday last nominated the following ticket: For the Senate W. P. Bynum; for the House, G. W. Clapp and F. B. Chilcutt; sheriff, J. P. Hoskins; clerk, A. H. Holton; register deeds, J. W. Causey; treasurer, J. O. Murrow.

At Goldsboro, last Saturday, the Democratic county convention nominated the following ticket: B. F. Aycock for the Senate; J. W. Bryan and Hiram J. Ham for the House; W. T. Dortch, tax collector; Jno. T. Dees, treasurer; J. H. Grant, sheriff; C. F. Herring, clerk.

Among the nominations sent into the Senate by the President is that of Mr. Joseph Batchelor, Jr., of Raleigh, until recently Second Lieutenant of the Twenty fourth Infantry of the United States Army, who has been promoted to first Lieutenant of the same.

Charlotte News: The tower of the government building in this city is now being roofed over. The general cast of the roof is somewhat disappointing. A square top would have been decidedly more imposing. The view from the tower is a wonderfully fine one. Six mountain peaks can be seen to the west, and the chimney stacks at Gastonia are visible to the naked eye. A splendid view of Charlotte is had, while farms and farm houses can be seen for miles around. A great many people climbed to the top of the tower to enjoy the view.

If the end Were Near.

Chicago Herald.

If an authoritative bulletin were to be issued this moment from the court of heaven, that in just seven days the world would be destroyed, what passion, do you think, would survive during that final week? Would it be hate, or envy, or ambition, or the greed of gain? Oh, no; of all the passions that animate the human breast the only one to endure would be love. There would be frenzied rush to grasp love's final opportunity. Mothers would gather their children about them, and there would be no impatience, no cruel putting aside of bothering little arms, no withholding of caresses because they disarranged the well arranged hair and laces. There would be no turning the boys out into the street for the reason that in their play at home they were prone to make havoc with the tidies on the chair backs and the bric a brac on the shelves. There would be no lack of knowledge as to where the girls were at evening, or at train time when the depot swarms with idle loungers. Indifferent husbands and nagging, bickering wives would forego their coldness and their quarrels, to vie with one another to redeem the past, during the brief time allotted them. Friends would be more faithful, lovers more true, associates more thoughtful of each other's comfort, as the swift hours sped away. But we need no bulletin from heaven to acquaint us of the briefness of love's opportunity. The span of our days is already set, and I wonder if the thought brought home to us, may not quicken us to improve the chance to brighten up our homes with the full and constant shining of the love that is in our hearts, although dimmed and corroded by the sordid environments of life.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

From Yesterday's Dispatches.

The tariff conferees of Saturday disposed of the paper, hemp, flax and jute schedules.

Eighty tulle manufacturers at Calais have locked out 5,000 of their employees for demanding higher wages.

Senator Blair at Washington, D. C., has received the following dispatch from South Carolina: "The undersigned, delegates to the State Republican Convention of South Carolina, respectfully request you to protect the interest of the colored farmers and laborers of the South by using your influence to defeat the Conger lard bill."

At Amherst, Mass., on Saturday morning at 4 o'clock, while a party was returning from a dance, a man named Davis shot Miss Eva Holden and her escort, James Hardacre. The girl has since died and Hardacre's condition is serious. Jealousy was the cause of the crime. Davis has been arrested.

Money in Apples.

Western North Carolina is without doubt the finest apple region on the Atlantic slope, if not in the whole country. The whole South ought to get its apple supply from this section, and yet even the central and eastern parts of North Carolina get their supplies of winter apples from the North. The high rates of railroad transportation are blamed as the cause for this, and doubtless this is one reason. But the main reason is that the people have not learned to handle and ship apples. The following rules may be useful:

1. Gather all apples by hand. Those shaken off are not fit to ship.
2. Put only one variety in a barrel, and only good specimens. Keep the cullings at home for vinegar.
3. Use only good, clean and tight barrels; winter apples should not be shipped in slatted crates or ventilated barrels.
4. Place the apples in the barrel by hand, don't dump them in. Round them up well above the top of the barrel so that the head must be forced in with a lever or screw press. This is the essential point, for if apples are loose in the barrel they will not ship in good order.
5. Plant only a few standard sorts that are well known in market. There are too many kinds now grown in Western North Carolina.—W. F. Massey, Horticulturist, Experiment Station.
