LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

In and Around the City.

Cool.

Fair still booming.

Zeb, Jr., is here too.

Fall coming in earnest.

Fires comfortable this morning.

The city was ablaze last night.

They are here from all sections of the surrounding country.

Work on the new Baptist Chapel in the western suburbs of the city will soon be commenced.

The Hettie Bernard Chase Company played to a large and appreciative audience last night. It deserves success, and we hope will continue to receive it.

We have the privilege to state upon authority that all uniformed police from the State, will be admitted to State Fair grounds free of charge.

The Democratic rally and barbecue at Brookside Park today was quite a success, a large number of persons being present. Senator Vance and other distinguished gentlemen spoke.

What young lady was it who, while recently walking about the house had her nose to come in contact with a door, thereby causing a somewhat painful concussion? Will some friend inform us who the lady is?

Mr. Moses Fort, who very recently opened a first class grocery store on Wilmington street, is doing splendid business, fresh arrival of goods every day and his store we know from personal knowledge is almost continually filled with customers.

I. O. O. F.

Attention Odd Fellows. Second and third degrees will be conferred tonight. Candidates especially requested to be on hand. Secretary.

Editors.

We note the following brethren of the press in the city: St. Clair, of the Sandford Express; Haydn, of the Charlotte Chronicle; Dowd, of the Mecklenburg Times; Butler of the Clinton Caucasian and Thomas, of the Louisburg Times. They are taking in the Convention and taking down the barbecue.

Fire.

The cotton gin of Mr. Sam Watts, at the Rufus Ivey place, on Louisburg road was destroyed by fire yesterday evening. It is thought that the fire originated in seed cotton that had been brought to the gin upon which some one had been riding and smoking, having dropped some fire upon the cotton. Everything was destroyed—loss about $1,100; no insurance. Mr. Watts tells us he will have a gin running in a house near by the same place in about four days.

Personal Mention.

Congressman Bunn is here. Walter R. Henry, Esq., of Henderson, is in the city.

Adjutant General Glenn is in the city.

State Senator King, of Greensboro, is here.

Mr. Willie Correll, of Savannah, Ga., formerly of Raleigh is in the city visiting friends.

Maj. J. M. Crenshaw, one of the most prominent farmers of the northern part of Wake, is in the city.

Mr. M. Mial, of Varina, Johnston county, was in the city today.

Mr. C. B. Barbee, of Richmond, Va. is in the city; he is taking in the Democratic rally; he reports business good in Richmond, and that Raleigh's old residents in that city are doing well.

Among the many visitors in the city we were glad to meet our old friend, Dr. W. C. Melton, of Sanford. He tells us he has a very fine practice there and is doing well.

Guessing, Guessing, Guessing.

The next State Fair promises to make a race of guessers of the people of this State. Guessing for a church carpet, guessing for the Soldiers' Home and guessing for twenty five dollars in gold on the population of the State. Another guess from Raleigh, on the number of people in the State, was fled. Who next? Somebody will have that twenty five dollars. The guess, name, post office address, and a two cent stamp are the conditions. There are thousands in this city who can guess as near as Superintendent Porter can count.

Died.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. M. L. Parker, which took place at his residence on Jones street, yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock. Mr. Parker was for some years, book-keeper for the Oak City Manufacturing Company of this city, and had a large number of friends who will deeply regret his loss. His death occurred from typhoid fever. He leaves a wife and one child with whom we deeply sympathize. The funeral took place this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Baptist Tabernacle.

The deceased was a brother of Mr. M. A. Parker, of this city and was 27 years old.

At the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Perkinson, on East Hargett street, this evening at 3 o'clock of typhoid fever, Miss Carrie Perkinson, aged about 18. The death of this most estimable young lady has cast a gloom over a large circle of relatives and friends with whom we most deeply sympathize. The time of the funeral will be announced hereafter.

Blow, Blow, Blow.

The Woodason Bellows Works, of Philadelphia, Pa., give notice that they will exhibit a full line of their Insect Exterminators at the State Fair next month. They also offer six special premiums as below:

A Grand Reception.

The two lodges of Odd Fellows turned out in force today to meet Grand Sire Busbee, who arrived on the one o'clock train. They were accompanied by the Durham Cornet Band.

The procession marched from the depot to Fayetteville street, thence to Morgan and thence to Salisbury down which it proceeded to the residence of Mr. Busbee. On arrival at the residence Grand Representative J. H. Gordon welcomed Mr. Busbee in a most beautiful address alluding in most fitting terms to his elevation to the high and honorable position of Grand Sire of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the world. Mr. Busbee was escorted from the depot in a phaeton drawn by four horses, tastefully decorated. The committee of reception also occupied carriages. The Durham band discoursed most elegant music which was highly applauded by all who heard it.

The reception is but a merited tribute to one of our most highly esteemed citizens whose elevation in the noble order of Odd Fellows is a source of the highest gratification to our entire people. The VISITOR welcomes Mr. Busbee to his "native heath" and wishes for him a long life of usefulness.

LADIES WRAPS.—We are showing advance styles in Ladies Wraps for early fall wear. These are in intermediate weights for present use, and the variety we display enables one to make the most satisfactory selection. These are shown near our Fayetteville street entrance, and we would suggest an early inspection of these desirable garments.

An Opportunity.

A cash prize of $1,000 has been offered for the best short story or novel, having the Grandfather Mountain and the beautiful scenery of that locality woven into the plot.

This mountain, situated as it is in the most picturesque part of Western Carolina, furnishes a most attractive setting for an interesting story.

The selection will be made by a committee of competent reviewers, and the story must not be less than ten nor exceed fifty pages.

Detailed information may be obtained of the Linville Improvement Company of Linville, North Carolina.

He Did a Wholesale Business.

"One time while I was with a prospecting party out in the mountains of Colorado," said the miner, "winter came on us and we had to go into camp for the season. We remained there so long that our salt meat had grown to be monotonous, and so occasionally one of us would go out and shoot a mountain sheep or other game. One day Gunnison Jim took a stroll in search of fresh meat, but we were astonished to see him, very shortly after he started, coming down a hillside with leaps that would have done credit to Salvalor, the late turf winter, or a giant kangaroo. As he neared the camp we saw he was pursued by a huge black bear, and as he came into the stockade, ten feet at a stride, he exclaimed between short breaths, 'Here I come, boys, with meat enough for all winter.'"—Fairhaven (Washington) Herald.

Of the entire human race 500,000,000 are well clothed, that is, they wear garments of some kind; 25,000,000 habitually go naked, and 700,000,000 only cover parts of the body; 500,000,000 live in houses, 700,000,000 in huts and caves, and 250,000,000 virtually have no shelter.

A Faded Flower.

Chicago Post.

Just she and I alone were there beneath the stars so calm and bright:

I told her that to me her cheeks were like twin lillies, pure and white; But in the morning as I brushed my powdered vest for half an hour I realized the lillies must have been other kind of flours.

Couldn't Bluff George.

Pittsburg Dispatch.

"You would love me just as much, would you not, George, if I wasn't a rich man's daughter?"

"Sure," said George.

"Well, I ain't."

"No?"

"Father has failed," said the beautiful girl as she watched George closely.

"He has failed and has placed all his property in mother's name, and now I am a rich woman's daughter."

"I call all such bluffs as that," soliloquized George an hour later as he walked home bathed in the glorious light of the full moon.

The Wilmington Star says "no wonder there are a good many ups and downs in the city of New York when she imported last year 3,639,594 bunches of bananas."

A Georgia editor, in asking for a free pass, wrote: "If you cannot renew this pass, kindly send me a pair of thick soled shoes, as I have got to leave this place next week."—Atlanta Constitution.

Does it Matter With You

when you buy dress goods? Does it matter with you if you save money? or does it matter with you if you lose money? I believe that it does matter with you. I believe you have good sense, and if so it does matter when you do business; in this advanced age of progression. Every man, woman and child has an eye single to business, and just as soon as they are convinced there are money advantages to be had at any place, they readily take in the situation and they don't stop to inquire who it is, but where is it. Now if you will allow yourselves to look at things as they really are, we can convince you that our stock of dress goods and trimmings are the same goods, same style, same quality as all the first class houses of the United States of America and all of Europe, are offering this fall. There is but one difference and that is in the price. We are offering these goods for less money. All the new stripes and plaids in wool fabrics can be found in great profusion also an immense assortment of black goods at

In order to test the comparative merits of the various newspaper advertising mediums, and at the same time benefit the readers thereof, we shall consider this advertisement for one dollar in payment toward purchase of $20 or more worth of goods, if cut out and presented at time of purchase either in person or by mail.

SWINDELLS

It is reported in England that Maud, daughter of the Prince of Wales, is to wed a Rothschild. So it seems that a Rothschild with a fat bank account, stands on a social plane with the royal child who has a hankering for lucre. There is no Maullin sentiment about that; it is business.
