LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

Index to New Advertisements.

Stronach—Bakery.
Barnum & Bailey—Circus.
Ray & Dennis—Executors.

In and Around the City.

Heavy frost.
Hotel boom increasing.
Beautiful autumnal weather.
Have you seen the black collars?
Considerable real estate changing hands hereabouts. A good sign.
Hon. Josiah Turner is in the city today.

Reports say the new hotel scheme is progressing as well as could be expected.

The estimate is that the whites have a majority in registration in Wake county of over eighteen hundred.

There was a large crowd in attendance at the court house last night, to hear Ex-Governor Jarvis and Hon. C. M. Cooke.

The Oxford Orphan Asylum broom factory is now turning out one hundred and fifty brooms a day. Pretty good for the children.

The extension of Morgan street still hangs fire, although most extensive arrangements are said to be on foot for a boom on western suburbs.

Col. Wm. Johnston, of Charlotte, is in the city visiting his daughter, Mrs. Col. A. B. Andrews. The colonel is looking remarkably well.

The belt road enterprise seems to be on the wane. How about it? Can't our Chamber of Commerce stir the matter up some?

The North Carolina Car Company are turning out some splendid work. None better from the north or elsewhere.

The prophecy of an early winter is not entirely confirmed. All signs sometimes fail and even the katy didds have done so thus far.

There is still talk of a lease or sale of the Atlantic and North Carolina railroad, but to what corporation has not yet transpired.

Work on the new Baptist Chapel on the Hillsboro road near the Agricultural College is expected to commence in a short while. There are a considerable number of persons in that section belonging to the Baptist denomination to whom a house of worship will be a great convenience.

The boom is here. A large body of land in the eastern suburbs lying between Camp Russell and Oakwood Cemetery is said to have been purchased and will be laid off in streets, etc. A new town is in sight in that direction. Another rumor is that the place on Hillsboro road lately owned by Gen. W. R. Cox, has been purchased, and great improvements are expected in that quarter. These rumors are current talk—as such we give them.

Edenton Street Church.

The meetings at Edenton Street Church still continue with much interest, conducted by Rev. Mr. McCullers and the pastor Rev. Dr. Gordon. There will be services every night this week which the public are cordially invited to attend. Rev. Mr. McCullers is nightly preaching some excellent sermons.

Funeral.

The funeral services of the late J. J. Christophers, Esq. took place this afternoon at 8 o'clock, from the First Presbyterian church, and was attended by a large concourse of relatives, friends and citizens generally. The floral offerings presented by loved ones were beautiful and profuse. The burial rites were under the direction of the Masonic fraternity, of which the deceased was an honored member.

Guessing Match.

The disposition of the guessing match took place, yesterday at the Mayors office, in the presence of many ladies and gentlemen: The following is the result:

The handsome chamber set was won by Miss Mattie Baldwin, Richmond county; a subscription to the EVENING VISITOR was won by S. P. Boddie, Centreville; a fine buggy whip by Mrs. Pleasants, Louisburg; a sack of meal, by Miss Willie Miller, Raleigh; a bale of hay, by A. M. McPheeters, Raleigh; a box 100 pound Novel Soap by B. W. Thorn; a bolt of Lake George domestics, Mrs. Annie L. Davis, Kinston, a subscription to the Biblical Recorder by E. G. Nichols, Washington, D. C.; a barrel of flour, by Bras Ginnis; a subscription to the Progressive Farmer, by S. G. Kennedy, Cohonal; a subscription to Progressive Farmer by W. H. Holding; a barrel of flour by Mrs. Morson; half barrel flour by Robert Simpson. The articles for which no corresponding guess was made were numbered: 2, 37, 8,755, 11,111, 1,929, 15,322, 9,666, 7,897, 16,753, 12,439, 7,251, 6,247, 727, 835, 949, 1,143, 1,257, 1,347, 1,423, 1,613, 1,717, 1,850, 3,467, 4,587, 6,053, 7,060, 8,912.

Why Move It?

For some years after our annual fairs, there have been spasmodic talks about moving the exposition, and this year is no exception to what seems to be the general rule. Just what cause there seems to be for this, no one can positively assert except it be based on a spirit of jealousy which should not exist. Raleigh is the centre of the State, or, so nearly so, as to make but little material difference. It is as easy of access as probably any other city in the State, and, surely our people possess as much hospitality and cordiality for those who come into our midst as can be found in any other community. Besides all this there is another and perhaps a better reason for the retention of the fair in Raleigh. It is the Capital of the State and there are hundreds, or, we may say thousands who would come here, when perhaps they might not so readily go elsewhere. Again, the buildings and grounds are all ready, needing little else than a few repairs each year to put them in proper trim. A removal would involve much labor and additional expense, which, it is admitted the society is, at this time ill able to bear. Raleigh is the centre of the Agricultural interests of North Carolina, or, rather the department is here, ready at all times to render such aid and information as will be of valuable service.

In a word, there is no reason whatever for even the semblance of dissatisfaction, and certainly no cause for even a hint of removal. The fair is here, and we hope here to stay.

A Hale old Man.

P. T. Barnum at eighty years of age takes a more active personal interest in his Greatest Show on Earth than any man of equal age does in any other business. Since his return from Europe, where he was entertained by Royalty and dined in the most aristocratic clubs of London, he appears even more active than ever before. He reads all the "copy" prepared by the agents of the Show before it goes to the printer. When it is stated that that means reading 800,000 words in manuscript, one can easily see it is no easy job the old gentleman has undertaken. He personally attends every performance of the show when exhibiting in New York, and sometimes goes with it to the large cities. Mr. J. A. Bailey, though, is the master mind which governs the organization of the big affair and secures all the features and attractions. The whole show will be here on November 6th.

After next Tuesday the public mind can revert to material matters. Politics will be as dull as ditch water.

New Advertisements.

See notice of George C Ray and J. M. Dennis, executors of the late M. B. Royster.

Messrs W. C. & A. B. Stronach announce some agreeable facts to house keepers in connection with their bakery, and extend a special invitation to all lovers of good bread to give them a call. This firm is determined to please if earnest efforts can secure the desired end.

"The Galley Slave."

A large audience greeted the Baldwin Theatre Company last night to witness the rendition of the "Galley Slave." The performance in each and every particular was good and all present were delighted. The company comes to us with the highest recommendations, and, if the opening night is a fair sample, then our citizens may expect a rich dramatic treat during the week. Tonight the "Two Orphans will be rendered and there should be a crowded house. Popular prices prevail.

Collision.

This morning, as the incoming freight train approached the depot, a collision took place with the train standing on the track at the station in readiness to depart for Keysville. It seems that the switches had not been changed as usual, so that the freight train ran into the Keysville train causing a general smash up but fortunately hurting no one. Both engines were somewhat damaged, but not so much but what they can be repaired without much loss of time. But for the usual slacking up of the freight train at the switches, serious loss of life might have taken place.

Green Haired Men in Nevada.

Virginia Chronicle.
There is a curious effect wrought on the hair and beard of men engaged in the Martin White mine at Ward. The ore is roasted, but no disagreeable perfumes arise from the heating process, yet there is some unknown substance that changes the hair, beard and eyebrows as green as grass. The hair is not injured, but retains its softness and gloss. It is probable that the fumes of the green tint of copper continued in the ore change the hair to that color.

An Explanation.

As to the merit and popularity of Dr. Pepper's Phos-Ferrates, is unnecessary; a splendid iron tonic, and just the thing for these cool days. For sale at J. Hal. Bobbitt's Soda Fountain. Try it.

Lost.

On the streets today, between D. I. Fort's gate and court house, a roll of money. Finder rewarded by leaving at this office.

Three Big Circuses.

Two coming and one already here. Barnum's big show and the election will strike the city next week; they will both be big things, but there is a better paying show already here, its a grand display of lively dress fabrics, clothing, millinery goods, shoes, hats, etc., which you can buy at prices more reasonable than elsewhere in your knowledge. You will have decidedly more to show for your hard earned dollars by patronizing our show than you would otherwise. We charge no admission fee, and if you don't see what you like we make no charge for showing you what we have. We have a very large line of elegant wraps for ladies and children which we would like for you to see; our prices on these goods are fully as low this season as they were last, at SWINDELL'S.

The latest Industrial report is, that W. Duke, Sons & Co., will build a branch Cigarette factory in Chattanooga, Tenn. Hope they will add Raleigh to their list of ventures.
