The Daily Evening Visitor.

Local notices in this paper will be Five Cents per line each insertion.

LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

In and Around the City.

Eve of battle.
Weather rather coquettish.
When Greek meets Greek &c.
After tomorrow, then comes business.
The wires will be busy tomorrow night and no mistake.
Don't let the hotel matter rest. It will prove a bonanza for Raleigh.
See notice of W. D. Scarborough executor.

Most of the State officials whose residences are not in Raleigh has gone home to vote.

An electric railway, a through line and a belt railway. These are the objective matters for our city.

There will be very little business transacted in the city tomorrow. Make your purchases this evening.

Improvements on East Hargett street recently made and in process of making are verily improvements that have been needed for sometime. There are other sections that badly need the attention of the City Fathers also.

The Seaboard Air Line people have more than their hands full at their freight depot with their present force and yard room. They need five miles more of yard track at least. This large increase of freight business is to a considerable extent the result of the extension of the G. C. & N. Road towards Atlanta.

Rev. A. McCullen who has been preaching each night, for the last week and who has won the hearts of those who have heard him, left our city for his home today. The services yesterday were very interesting. Mr. McCullen preached two good sermons. The number who communed was large.

The political pot is surely hot. Both sides are hard at work and say they are sure of election, but the anxious expression of doubt can be seen on all their faces. The agony will soon be over and then we can all get to work again if the excitement of battle and the shock of defeat does not put some in bed. May they survive it.

Fire Company Meeting.

The Rescue Fire Company will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight. Members will make a note of this and be on hand promptly.

Closed.

The series of meetings at the Edenton Street Church closed last night. Yesterday morning and night Rev. Mr. McCullen preached two most excellent sermons to large congregations. In the morning regular communion services took place.

Prohibition Speaking.

There was speaking at the court house last Friday night participated in by Mr. S. M. Parish, candidate for the State Senate on the Prohibition ticket. There was a considerable crowd present and Mr. Parish's speech was listened to with much attention. The proceedings were opened with a solo and organ accompaniment and prayer by Rev. Alvin Betts.

Wake Superior Court.

The Superior Court has adjourned until Wednesday morning next and eighteen persons have been ordered to be drawn for the balance of the week. On Saturday the case of Larkin Smith, by his next friend, vs Chas. H. Smith, was disposed of, the jury having rendered a verdict that Larkin Smith was not incompetent by reason of mental incapacity to execute a good and valid power of attorney on the 26th of February, 1889.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 13, 1890.

I have this day sold out and transferred all my interest in the Raleigh Evening Visitor to Mr. T. C. Williams thereby severing my connection with the same.

In thus retiring from the paper, I take occasion to return my sincere thanks to a generous public for their patronage and kindness and ask for my successor, Mr. Williams, a like measure in that line, hoping that he may realize to the highest degree all the success that energy and perseverance may demand.

Very respectfully,

A. L. FERRELL.

In grasping the pencil for the columns of the VISITOR, we are not disposed to indulge very extensively in rash promises and hard-to-be-kept pledges. We will, however, try to make it a suitable and acceptable medium of conveying the local happenings to the family circle.

The public is a hard task master: To please all is next to impossible. We shall try to be impartial as far as practicable; and especially to avoid prosy elongation to fill up.

Mullum in parvo is truly the demand of the age; and to meet this demand is one of the most difficult tasks the journalist is called upon to perform.

The EVENING VISITOR has always posed before the public as a non-partisan newspaper and will continue to be so in the future, but does not promise to pass unnoticed and unexposed such practices and measures as may be against the public interest, though such practices and measures are the acts and resorts of party politicians.

Now that the end of the hard times is over which most of us have been whining and growling for a long time, has arrived bringing with it the most abundant crops that have been enjoyed for years and the prices obtained to the present are reasonably good, let each keep up his end of the log and step in precise time with all the others, that there be no jarring or unfair burden upon any, that public enterprise in all the lines available may be borne on steadily to a grand consummation in our fair city.

T. C. WILLIAMS.

Shall We Have Them?

It is now reasonably certain that at no distant day Raleigh will be on a regular through line between the North and South by virtue of the completion of the Georgia, Carolina and Northern R. R. This means a boom of no ordinary character for our city, and by proper effort, it should mean the establishment, in our city, of the workshops of the entire Seaboard Air Line system. This would give an almost incalculable impetus to the industries of Raleigh, and confer benefits, pecuniary and otherwise that can hardly be overestimated.

Now that the political campaign is about over we hope our people will take this matter in hand and push it to the fullest extent. Let our Chamber of Commerce have meetings of tenor than they have of late, and let them have argus eyes over a matter fraught with so much interest to our people. There can possibly be no better location for the work shops of the entire system, from every point of view.

Shall we have them?

Soldiers' Home.

We hope that the interest of our people in this noble cause, will not for a moment lag. There is room enough for the philanthropy of all in a cause that appeals so much to our patriotism and humanity. It is a special pleasure to note that the ladies are active in the matter, and are doing noble work. On Friday night last a concert was given at the residence of Mr. J. A. Askew, at Falls of Neuse for the benefit of the Home, and we hear that a snug little sum was realized. Thus it is, that the ladies are adding pleasure to business, and they should be patronized to the fullest extent.

Satan.

On tomorrow night the talented actress, Miss Rose Osborne will hold forth in Metropolitan Hall in an entirely new play entitled "Satan." The play is not of a sensational type nor either is it of the Faust style as its name may lead one to suppose. In reality it is a drama of the best type. Appealing to our intellect, the story is clothed in language that stamps it at once as the work of a masterhand. Its plot is new and intensely interesting; its comedy is of a high order, refined and clean. Of Miss Osborne herself, the New York World says: her acting is of great importance to man kind and is one that cannot be forgotten, when intelligent judgment endeavors to form an estimate of individual work and rank in the world of wit. Like master pieces in other kinds of acting, it reveals new beauties to those who examine it most closely and excites the greatest admiration in those who are familiar with it.

Attempt at Suicide.

Intelligence was received here late Saturday afternoon last, that a most estimable young man named J. B. Suttle, a student at Wake Forest College, from Asheville, had attempted suicide by shooting with a pistol, on Friday night. It seems that on the evening noted, young Suttle had retired as usual with no signs of anything in his actions to justify the tragic attempt on his life. When discovered it was found that he had placed the muzzle of the pistol just over his right ear, the bullet taking effect and lodging in his head. When found he was unconscious, but afterwards rallied a little. Two letters were found in his room, one of which was addressed to his parents and the other to his fellow students. In the letter he assured them of his high appreciation of their uniform kindness, stating that no act of theirs had impelled him to the rash act. The contents of the letter to his parents have not been made public. At latest accounts the sufferer was still living but his condition is said to be extremely critical.

Millinery Goods.

We believe we have the most complete line of millinery goods in Raleigh. We have every new shape in hats that has been put on the market this season in French felt and in frames. We have all the new things in plumes and birds, and last but not least, we have a trimmer from Baltimore who thoroughly understands all the new style of trimming and she is an artist in getting style on the hats, and what is more we do sell the millinery goods much cheaper than any one else in Raleigh. For instance, a hat that will cost you $6 anywhere else we will give you for $4. A hat that will cost you $4 elsewhere we will give you for $2.50, and so on all through, and then after you have bought your hat see the dress goods and we will save you money on a dress. On a carpet we will make you feel good, also on rugs. See the shoes
At SWINDELL'S.

Mr. W. N. Brockwell leaves tomorrow for his present home in Washington city. He has been in the city for several days on a visit to friends.

P. T. Barnum and J. A. Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth.

The British public are notoriously the most difficult on earth to please in the way of amusements. Every holiday season in London great spectacular plays and pantomimes are produced at the leading theatres, which are gotten up upon the most extensive and magnificent scale and at an immense expense, to meet the requirements of so exacting a people. In opposition to all this the Barnum and Bailey Greatest Show on Earth, at an outlay of $500,000 in cash for transportation alone across the Atlantic, and undertaking that required four of those big ocean steamers, exhibited in the City of London for a period of over three months and realized a business unparalleled in the annals of amusements. All the great plays and spectacles formerly produced there were, in very truth, made small by comparison with their tremendous American enterprise and not only England but the entire people of Europe was struck dumb with amazement. Never in their wildest dreams did the people of Europe conceive of such a magnificent exhibition as the one given them by Barnum and Bailey, for in addition to a triple circus, hippodrome, double menagerie, horse fair, two herds of elephants, elevated stage performances and all the other attractions that have made these shows the first in the universe, there has been added Mrs. Kivaly's "Nero, or the Destruction of Rome." Now to comprehend this regal part of the monster shows one must recollect that 1,500 people were required to perform in it. Just think! Was there ever such an overwhelming entertainment ever thought of in the history of the world? Fifteen hundred people, Rome gladiators, victors, charioteers, a ballet of three hundred charming ladies containing Italian, French, English, German, Spanish, Austrian, African, American, young ladies. The finest scenery ever constructed, the costliest and most charming costumes the finest horses and the most colossal and stupendous parade in the streets the mind of man ever conceived. Requiring a stage 450 feet long, a tent 600 feet long, and five trains of cars to transport it. No wonder the whole of Europe was amazed, as all others will who see it in this country, for it will be here precisely the same as it was in London on November 6th.

The great street parade will take place in the morning on the first day of exhibition in this city.
