RALEIGH, NOVEMBER 5, 1890.

The Election.

Never was there a more beautiful autumnal day than yesterday, and the people in their sovereign capacity seem to fully appreciate it. At an early hour the voters gathered at the polls, and all during the day deposited their ballots in a dignified and peaceable manner. No disturbance of any kind occurred. THE OLD NORTH STATE.

Mr. Fred Taylor is very low at his home in Guilford College.

Greensboro's Free Delivery system went into operation Saturday.

Mr. Vanderrbilt's manager came down from Asheville last Monday in a Wager private car and remained in Hickory during the day for the purpose of making purchases from manufacturing establishments in Hickory for his mansion at Baltimore.

Mr. W. R. Holland, who lives near Gastonia, has farmed more than 50 years, and never bought a bushel of corn or wheat, never went any one's security and never has been dunned for money by a creditor. You who can't get ends to meet, try Mr. Holland's plan.—Gastonia Gazette.

One hundred and one million (101,000,000) cigarettes made in one month! That is an enterprise to talk about. It is a Durham enterprise, too, for a large part. Besides that the Durham and New York factories of W. Duke, Sons & Co.'s Branch of the American Tobacco Company put up 305,000 pounds of smoking tobacco. As tobacco manufacturers they stand in the lead.—Durham Sun.

The Greensboro Daily Patriot announces that it will suspend after next Saturday. It has not proven a very remunerative venture. We regret to hear this because the Patriot was a sprightly, well edited daily and deserves a better fate. But people, without town pride, cannot expect a daily paper, with its attendant expenses to be met weekly, to live on wind. To make such an enterprise a grand success and an honor to its community, there must be a hearty co-operation by all and an earnest effort to make it pay its way to the front ranks. This can only be done by united efforts.—Durham Sun.

Mrs. Harrison has accepted the presidency of the Washington committee that is raising funds to endow the medical department of John Hopkins University so that women can be admitted on equal terms with men.
