LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

In and Around the City.

Business resumed.

Indian summer in all its glory.

Cotton receipts yesterday 234 bales with some depression in prices, the average being 8½ and 9.

There will be services at the Church of the Sacred Heart of Jesus as usual at 11 o'clock a. m. and 7 p. m. tomorrow, Father Francis, O. S. B., officiating.

Armour & Co., say that the cost of the tin they will use the coming year will be increased $250,000 by the operation of the McKinley bill. This of course consumers must pay.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Mr. C. A. Perkinson who carries a splendid stock of heavy and fancy groceries. We invite all who need anything in their line to give them a call.

The most singular part about the election is, that everybody seems in a good humor. The successful party are, of course, jubilant but not at all overbearing, while the defeated take matters in the most graceful style. Glad to see this. It is the right spirit.

The election news is about all in and the country is safe. There is great cause of rejoicing among the people all over the land, for only about one half of the candidates were elected; and we see by the papers that in one district in Rhode Island none were elected. Hurrah for the people.

One of the congressmen elect for Ohio has a rather odd name it seems. He has been spoken of as Thomas L. Johnson but it seems that his parents in naming him saved people from committing the ugly violation of the name "Thomas," by naming him just "Tom," dry so. It is a name with a course sound but better than Thomas abbreviated.

Reduced Rates to Durham.

The railroads have made reduced rates to Durham and return on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of Trinity College. Tickets on sale the 10th and 11th, good returning and including the 13th. A large attendance is anticipated. The following are rates from the points named: From Charlotte $6.75; Goldsboro, $3.85; Greensboro, $2.95; Henderson $2.45; Raleigh, $1.65; Rural Hall, $1.80; Selma, $2.95; Winston-Salem, 4.30.

Free Lecture.

At the recent meeting of the Synod of North Carolina at Wilmington, the Rev. Dr. Watkins of this city delivered a most highly interesting and instructive lecture on the Congo Free States of Africa or a Foreign Mission field. The great importance of opening up this immense empire to the religious and commercial world can hardly be over estimated. Dr. Watkins has maps to illustrate and will tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock repeat this lecture. All are cordially invited to attend.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Annie and Ella Rosenthal leave tomorrow for Harrisonburg West Va., to spend the winter.

Mr. J. S. Carr of the Blackwell Durham Tobacco Co., is in the city looking as fat and happy as usual.

We regret to learn that Mr. W. C. Norris has pneumonia.

We received a pleasant call yesterday afternoon from Mr. T. O. Kelley of the Rural Home and Sentinel, published at Goldsboro, N. C. Mr. Kelley is the editor and proprietor and his paper is a splendidly Alliance Organ.

We regret to learn that Mr. B. F. Moore of this city died suddenly today in Philadelphia. A despatch has been received announcing this sad news.

Hi Henry Minstrels.

A large audience witnessed the performance of this splendid company, and were extremely delighted. Aside from the magnificent costumes the performance in each and all particulars was excellent. The songs and jokes were chaste and good. We heartily commend the company as worthy of a public appreciation.

Board of Aldermen.

The Board met last night in regular session.

The fire committee recommended certain appropriations for the department which were allowed.

The finance committee was instructed to arrange for the renewal of insurance on the Centennial graded school building. This business being transacted, the Board adjourned to next Thursday night, when some very important matters, which were not ripe for consideration last night, will be taken up.

THE SOLDIERS' HOME.

Another Contribution.

The following letter explains it self.

MR. W. C. STRONACH,

DEAR SIR:—I send one bed quilt for the Soldiers' Home. Although it is a small gift, I hope it will be of use to the dear ones who fought for the "lost cause." I feel that I was a soldier many times, as I had both sons and a brother in the 27th Regiment.

Very Respectfully,

MRS. ELIZA RICHARDS,

Hillsboro, N. C.

Reduced Rates to the Cumberland Fair.

For the above occasion the Richmond and Danville Railroad will sell tickets to Fayetteville and return at the following rates for round trip from points named. Tickets on sale from Winston-Salem, November 9th to 13th, inclusive; from all other points November 10th to 14th, inclusive. All tickets good returning until and including November 17, 1890: From Charlotte, $3.40; Winston-Salem, $3.20; Durham, $2.60; Raleigh, $2.30; Henderson, $3.20; Goldsboro, $1.90.

Why Leave Raleigh?

There are instances in which persons having failed to accomplish business success in North Carolina, have gone elsewhere and succeeded, but the cause is to be found, more frequently in the change of the habits, the business habits, of the person, than in the advantages possessed by the country removed to, in soil and climate over his own State. Some young men have gone from Raleigh it may be, and made something by the move, but the cause of their success is that they have, in their new home, just gone to work and have adopted proper economic business habits. If they had done this at their old home, success would have come to them just the same. It is hard to find a grander climate, or a healthier country than we have right here in and around Raleigh. We knew, years ago, two young men, (brothers) who went to Texas and looked around for something to do till their money was all gone, and they among entire strangers, were forced to take hold of anything to keep from starving. In desperation they fled to the country and hired themselves to a farmer at $12 a month and their board; and when the bargain was made, these boys felt that a great weight was lifted from them, that a great deliverance had been accomplished. They realized real joy in the reflection that they had a shelter and food, and they went to work as they had never done before. The farmer, who was a cattle raiser also, soon found that they were valuable to him. In two years they went into the cattle business in a small way and are now well to do. If they had remained in North Carolina and had gone to work with that same energy and starvation hurry with which they served that farmer, and had exercised that same persevering, pushing energy and quick active judgment, they would be richer and happier at home in their native State today.

These young men were clerks in North Carolina and they spent their last cent in the towns of Texas, looking for clerkships; but when starvation and despair drove them to the country, they were ready for any menial position, so they could get bread and shelter. Go west or north and you will find men of intelligence and some means filling positions that you would scorn to fill. And if you do go west and carry with you your eastern notions of proper occupation for a gentleman of your cloth and do not flee from them as my friends in Texas did, you will come back (if you can) a poorer if not a wiser man than when you left. No, no, you need not go west, just go to work here with the same energy and push that is necessary to accomplish success there and you will achieve it here.

The Raleigh Land and Improvement Company.

We chronicle with pleasure the organization of this company. We believe it is the beginning of what will prove to be a movement which will place our city in the very front rank of Southern progressive cities. There is no reason why this shall not be so. The company is composed of some of our most successful and progressive citizens, and the property they take hold of is the very best about the city. The president of the organization is Hon. A. A. Thompson, mayor of Raleigh; vice president, Cornelius B. Edwards, Esq.; secretary and treasurer, W. N. Jones; attorney, Ernest Haywood. The directors and other officers are made up of such men as R. S. Pullen, J. A. Jones, C. G. Latta, J. G. Brown, W. H. Pace, E. G. Harrell, J. N. Holding, F. W. Habel, Josephus Daniels, N. B. Broughton and W. R. Womble. These gentlemen as will be seen are some of our most level headed and progressive business men, and we predict they will achieve the very best results for themselves as well as the city of Raleigh.

They have purchased and will develop first the Bache or Seawell property in northeast Raleigh, and one or two other tracts contiguous to the Bache property. These lands will be between Oakwood and New Berne avenues, and are intersected by Edenton, Jones and Lane streets running east and west and also by streets running north and south.

Col. A. W. Shaffer has been surveying the lands mentioned for two or three weeks, and maps are now being made showing the lots, streets, &c., of the property. Lots will be placed upon the market at once and we predict that they will find a ready sale. Let the good work go forward.

We call attention to the advertisement of Messrs. J. S. Wynne & Co., fire insurance and stock brokers.
