NOTES ABOUT THE CITY.

What Our Reporters See and Hear Worth Giving to Our Readers—News in Brief.

Feels like rain
Cold weather predicted.
Street cars stopped for the present.
"Man and Master" tonight at Metropolitan Hall.
Sheriff Page has appointed Mr. Mills H. Brown as one of his deputies.
The Board of Education has adopted Mrs. Cornelia Spencer's "First Steps in North Carolina History" for use in all the public schools of the State.
"Man and Master" a beautiful drama will be presented by the New York Theatre Company at Metropolitan Hall tonight. Let the house be crowded. Remember popular prices prevail—10, 20 and 30 cents.
J. C. Peace, a distiller in Granville county, was arrested this morning and taken before United States Commissioner Purnell, for failing to keep proper books and to make proper reports.

Mr. J. A. Ramsey, who for some time has been connected with the Progressive Farmer as associate editor, has gone to Salisbury, where he will take charge of the Watchman, one of the oldest papers in North Carolina.

We were much pleased to meet Mr. E. H. Plummer, of Knoxville, Tenn., but formerly of Warrenton, this State, at the Postoffice this morning. He has been on a visit to his old home and is now returning to Knoxville. He is looking remarkably well.

The mildness of the winter so far, has puzzled all the proverbial hard weather croakers of the country. It looks like we are to have a repetition of last years experience in the weather line, and, if it is followed by another year of abundant crops there can be but little complaint.

Two blockade stills were captured and destroyed last Friday, near Holly Springs, this county by Officers J. R. O'Neil, P. T. Massey, Jno. U. Church and Isaac W. Rogers. Two of them were bound over to court and the other two discharged.

Died.

Mr. Wm. M. C. Terry, at his residence, on the corner of Person and Davis streets, last night at 12:30 o'clock, in the 70th year of his age. Mr. Terry had been in bad health for most of the year, but his death was sudden and unexpected at the time. He was a tailor by trade, and stood well as a citizen of Raleigh.

The funeral will take place from the residence tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Theatrical.

The beautiful play of the "Pearl of Savoy" was rendered last night in splendid style by the New York Theatre Company. The costumes were elegant and all of the company performed their roles to the complete satisfaction of those present. Tonight will be presented the drama of "Man and Master."

Rev. H. W. Battle is in the city.

Handsome and Creditable.

Monday afternoon's EVENING VISITOR was a very handsome and creditable issue. It was a special Asheville edition and was handsomely illustrated with cuts of some of the new and modern buildings of our Queen City of the west.

The funeral of the late Jordan Wamble, Sr., took place this morning at 11 o'clock from the Baptist Tabernacle and was largely attended by relatives and friends. The floral offerings were beautiful and of appropriate design. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Hall, of the Tabernacle, assisted by Rev. Dr. Carter, of the First Baptist Church. The interment was made in Oakwood Cemetery.

The Weather Crop Bulletin.

The Weather Crop Bulletin, from the Signal Office at Washington, shows that November has been warmer than usual, except in northern New York and southern New Mexico, where about the normal temperature has prevailed. Unusually high temperature has prevailed throughout the Southern States and the central valleys of the extreme northwest, the excess in mean monthly temperature over these regions ranging from 5° to 6°. The temperature in the Northwest during the past twenty days has been continuously above the normal, resulting in the warmest period in that section observed during the month of November since the establishment of the Signal Service. On the Atlantic coast, although the month was generally warmer than usual, the excess was slight, ranging from 2° to 4°.

There was less rain than usual during the month generally throughout all districts east of the Mississippi.

The Street Railway.

The street cars have suspended, and when they appear again, will be propelled by electricity. The company will begin operations at once, removing the present iron and sills, and the laying of new sills and iron as soon as they are received. The present route will not necessarily be the route of the new company. They are now thoroughly looking the city over and such circuit, or route as may appear to them most practicable and advantageous will be adopted without regard to the present route, or track.

Dr Jacobs leaves in a day or two for New York in the interest of the company. He is well up on street railways, and we think we are on the right track now to have a first class street railway soon, or rather President Jones and Dr. Jacobs will soon put us on the right track, when they get their heavier iron laid and the cars on it.

All These Enterprises Help.

The VISITOR welcomes with peculiar pleasure, any effort or investment that will result in the upbuilding of Raleigh. The North Side Land Company of course was organized for the purpose of making money for the stock holders in the company, and so was every other business that has been projected in the city of Raleigh at any time, (if the projectors amount to anything) but as the prosperity of individual enterprises is the prosperity of the city, the prosperity of this company is to be rejoiced at by every right minded citizen. We must say that the location of the lands of this company cannot be surpassed by any around the city for desirability, from every standpoint. Certainly no lot within the area of the companys land can be found that would not be very cheap at the price charged. We expect this company to make money and accomplish a good work for the city.

Didn't Offer Enough.

Kansas City Times.

Senator Blackburn was out in the Indian Territory hunting. He went into Shelbyville, Ky., a few days ago to tell the boys about it. He said that one of the strangest things to him was the Indian's love of whiskey. He said: "You fellows all think that you like a good dram, but you are nothing to an Indian. I'll tell you what happened to me. I was riding along by myself when a great big Indian overtook me. He could talk a little English and I could talk enough Indian to pass a few remarks about the weather. He seemed to be such a pleasant old fellow that I took out my flask and gave him a touch up with some old Kentucky whiskey. Well, that Indian brightened up like a new dollar, and in less than five minutes wanted to trade for the whiskey. At first he offered me a deer he had killed, but I wouldn't take it. Then he threw me a pair of moccasins, but I wouldn't trade. He offered me his rifle and I refused that. And finally, gentlemen, that copper colored inebriate offered me his horse, saddle, rifle, moccasins and a dead deer for that half pint of whiskey. Did you ever hear of a man that fond of whiskey?"

The crowd thought it was wonderful, but one fellow said: "Say, Joe, why didn't you accept his offer?" "My God, man!" said the Senator, "it was the last half pint I had."

A Caterpillar Opinion.

The front part of the caterpillars was noticed to be of the original color this fall, while over three-fourths of the hind part of their body was black. This is a sure sign of a cold winter and a late spring.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Better Than a Bicycle.

New York Journal.

Charles L. French is a custom house broker of No. 72 Beaver street who devotes his leisure hours to inventions. He has recently contrived a "rowin carriage," which might be described as a racing boat on wheels.

On quiet moonlight nights in Brooklyn when the streets are free from people, he goes out with his rowing shell and spins through Bedford avenue at forty strokes a minute. He rows a great single scull race over the macadamized pavement, shooting by carriages and darlings, past astonished groups of people, and goes a mile in about eight minutes.

The rowing carriage is a combination of a racing shell and a tricycle. It has a sliding seat and car handles, being propelled by the handle instead of the feet. It is a quadricycle, having four light steel wheels. Very little expenditure of muscle is required to row it, and it goes over dry land at the speed of a racing shell.

Coney Capes.

We have just received by express another lot of those Coney Capes that have been so popular this season. We have sold a great many of these; there is no reason why we should not sell them, for they are real handsome and at the same time cost you but little; they are more convenient too than the heavier wraps and then, except in extreme cold they will give you as much comfort. We have many other kinds of capes besides the Coney and some of them are as handsome as you find south. We have the other heavier wraps too, and we sell the whole line at low prices.
