NEWS NOTES ABOUT THE CITY.

What Our Reporters See and Hear Worth Giving to Our Readers—News in Brief.

See advertisement of sale of wagons, mules, &c., by Messrs. Yancey & Stronach to-morrow.

Cotton in unusually large quantity is coming in and the prices are, we are informed, up to New York.

The attendance in the Senate continues rather thin, and a general coughing and sneezing of those present seem to indicate incipient "grippe."

Rumor now asserts most positively, that the electric street railway will be extended as far west as the Agricultural and Mechanical College. We give it as we hear it.

There will be an entertainment at Beulah Methodist Church at Garner for the benefit of the church tonight; good music, a large gathering, and a good time generally to those who attend. Everybody invited; don't fail to go.

Senator Williams, of Pitt, guards his interest bill with all the solicitude of parental fondness. The Senator says bills of incorporation give him more uneasiness than all else besides. He watches with Argus eyes to see if the interest feature (if any there be) exceeds 6 per cent.

We have never known a time when the ladies took more interest in Legislation than during the present session of the General Assembly. Every day finds a considerable crowd in the galleries of both Houses, and they watch the progress of law making with all the patience of trained politicians. Their presence lends a charm to all the surroundings.

We hope that the new route to Petersburg and Richmond by the way of Ridgeway may be an accomplished fact in a few months. It will save many miles of travel, and thereby be a great convenience in the way of passenger and freight transportation. Going to Petersburg and Richmond by the way of Weldon, is very much like going around the elbow to reach the thumb. Perhaps, too, when the R. & G. Railroad builds this connection, the Albemarle and Raleigh road will start hither from its hiding place in the woods. Who knows?

A New Station House.

We have heard nothing of late concerning a new station or guard house. Some year or so since, it was said that the city authorities had in contemplation the erection of a new place for the incarceration of offenders against municipal ordinances, but the matter seems to have been entirely dropped. That we need a better lock up than the one now used in the basement of the market house, is apparent to all who know anything of the matter. The present location is, in all respects unsuited to the wants of a city the size of Raleigh. Can't our worthy Mayor and Chief of Police set their heads together and impress upon our City Fathers the necessity of taking steps in the premises?

Street Dentistry.

This morning quite an amusing operation that didn't operate took place near the Cotton Exchange on Wilmington street. A sable country man, who complained of an aching tooth took his seat on the curb stone for Ex Policeman Goodwin to extract it for him. Mr. Goodwin secured a pair of pinchers, made for other uses, and getting hold of the tooth while a sturdy bystander took the sufferer by the chin and the top of the head or nose and then the pulling commenced. After pulling for some time as vigorously as if trying to get a ten penny nail out of an oak post, failed to bring it and then concluded it was the wrong tooth. The pulling and squirming was said to be very vigorous.

Personal Mention.

Miss Kate Endy left for her home at Jamestown on yesterday afternoon. Mr. W. P. Baum of Warrenton is in the city looking well and of much averdupois.

Mr. John Moore is ill at his residence on south Blount street.

Mr. J. B. Bostic, of Asheville, is at the Yarboro.

We regret to announce that our venerable citizen Mr. Sylvester Smith continues very ill.

Mr. Britton Sugg is very ill at his residence on south, Wilmington St.

Mr. J. A. Jones is confined to his home on Hillsboro street with sickness.

Mrs. M. J. Bellamy who has been very ill for a week or so, with pneumonia, is convalescing.

Salvini Before a Selma Audience.

Alexander Salvini appeared before a large audience last evening at the Academy of Music in "A Child of Naples." This is not the best piece in Salvini's repertoire, but by his masterful acting and with the excellent support of his fine company he charmed his audience with his artistic representation of the Neapolitan lazaroni, and in every scene he shows himself a master of his art. Salvini is by no means merely the son of his father, but the mantle of a great sire has fallen upon a worthy son. The support was exceptionally fine. Mrs. Arden, as Lucia, and Mr. Delamater, as Baron Della Rocca, being worthy of especial mention. The performance last night was a great and highly appreciated dramatic treat to those who witnessed it.

The management has secured the appearance in Raleigh of the great actor Salvini, at considerable cost, desiring to give our people the advantage of first class dramatic entertainments. It can be stated however, that no extra high prices are charged the admission being the usual scale of prices. Remember that reserved seats are now on sale at MacRae's drug store.

Battle With Six Shooters.

NEW ROADS, La., Jan. 25.—On Saturday, the 17th inst., there occurred at the store of Messrs. Mains & Riley on bayou Latanache, in this parish, one of the bloodiest and most desperate fights ever recorded in the history of this parish. The participants were J. B. Davis and Sam Davis, two brothers, and David Leatherman, a very estimable young man, a brother in law of J. B. Davis. The three men came to the store together, seemingly on friendly terms with one another. After remaining there some time J. B. Davis and Leatherman became involved in a dispute about settlement with some colored laborers. In the heat of the quarrel J. B. Davis, addressing his brother, said:

"Sam, it is time to begin," and both simultaneously drew their pistols and covered Leatherman, who, quick as a flash, knocked J. B. Davis' arm up with his left hand, causing the bullet therefrom to lodge in the ceiling, and drawing at the same time, shot him twice in the side and breast, killing him instantly.

In the meantime, the other Davis keeping up a steady fire at Leatherman, nearly every bullet from his pistol however taking effect in the head of his brother, who was between the two.

Leatherman, without a scratch, turned his attention to him, and shot him twice, inflicting very dangerous wounds.

This terrible affair is the more deplorable by reason of the family connection between the parties. J. B. Davis was buried the next day. His brother is in a critical condition and may not recover.

Leatherman surrendered to the authorities and will be given a preliminary examination.

Two Special Sales.

My dear friend, do you know why there are so many poor people in this world? Do you? I hear you answer, No. Well, I will tell you. First, they never see a good thing till some one else has taken it in. Then, they rub their eyes and say, why did I not see that before. Then if they do see it their brain is so tough they cannot comprehend it in time. Some one comes up and secures it while they are looking at it. Now our special hat sale and special white shirt sales are plain proofs of this. Some come in and walk up against our pile of hats marked in big red letters "Special hat sale—6 cents for choice," and say what are these hats worth, 50 cents? But you see one of those sharp, shrewd women come in and her keen eye sees all in the store at once. Hallo! Special sale, 6 cents, and she says not another word but selects what she wants, takes her little purse out and pays the bill.—Same way with the white shirts. Some fellow comes in, sees the advantage of buying these shirts while they are cheap, takes what he wants. The numb skull says, well, you won't sell all of them before I need them. Profit by this little lecture while it is not too late. D. T. SWINDELL.

Buy your oil, needles and parts from W. O. Uzzle, No 12 East Hargett street.

A Child Badly Burned.

TUSCUMBI, Ala., Jan. 25.—An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. White Hamlet was badly scalded yesterday. It overturned a tea pot filled with boiling tea, burning its neck and breast in a horrible manner. The child now lies in a critical condition.

It Snowed Fish in Nashville. NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 24.—During the snow storm here this morning countless small fish fell. They were about an inch long and resembled the carp. The greatest number fell on Broad street. Some were found on Union street, several blocks away.
