What Our Reporters See and Hear Worth Giving to Our Readers—News in Brief.

Another terrible drawback in the way of weather.

The first german of the season came off last night at the Capital Club.

How about the weather? What next.

The regular monthly prize drill of the Governor's Guard will take place tonight at the armory at 8:30 o'clock. A large number of ladies generally attend these drills.

Dr. G. W. Blacknall has kindly given a lot of books to the Soldiers' Home; others might follow the good example set by the Dr. and make the old soldiers glad.

The first meeting of the Railroad Commissioners was held at their office in the Agricultural building yesterday. Mr. Henry C. Brown, of Stanly county was elected clerk.

Advertising enables a business man to place his goods before the eyes of thousands who would otherwise never know of their existence, or that of the owner. Special facilities are to be found in THE VISITOR.

The mass meeting of the Democratic voters of the city for tonight promises to be a full one. It is important that all be represented in this meeting. If any change is made, it should be made by the people, by all the people, and being fully warned, let everybody go.

Guy Bros', street parade attracted the admiration of every one. They gave a first class minstrel performance in the Opera House last evening. This entertainment pleased the ladies as much as it did the sterner sex—Times, Port Hope, Canada.

Guy Brothers will appear in Metropolitan Hall on Saturday night. Seats on sale at MacRae's drug store.

The appropriation made by the last General Assembly for the Agricultural and Mechanical College, was for the special purpose of adding more rooms to the building. Franco Russian Alliance.

It is reported that an Alliance of offensive and defensive has been entered into between France and Russia. This report has gained some credence in high circles. Such an Alliance is not looked upon favorably by Germany and other powers.

A Chance for Raleigh.

We take the following from the Manufacturers' Record: "The Cleveland Wheelbarrow & Truck Company of 110 Detroit street, Cleveland, Ohio, manufacturers of wheelbarrows, trucks, etc., write that they want to move their works to some well located Southern point with good railroad facilities, where wood and iron can be had at the lowest cost. They will be glad to hear from Southern towns."

It would be a good idea for some of our progressive citizens to correspond with the above concern.

Rev. John E. Edwards Dead.

The Richmond Dispatch of March the 31st says: Rev. Dr. John E. Edwards, whose death we announced this morning, (which occurred on the afternoon of the 30th at Lynchburg) was a preacher of wonderful magnetic power. From youth to old age he possessed great power over the multitudes, and had few superiors in earnest pleading and picturesque, impassioned oratory. He was an earnest and sincere man, and, while devoted to his own denomination, had a kindly heart and helping hand for all who labored in the Master's vineyard.

Here in Richmond he spent many years of his life. Here he has great numbers of loving friends, and these, with the general community, will lament that his eloquent tongue is forever stilled, while they rejoice in the belief that his more than a half century's pastoral work has entitled him to enter into that kingdom the glories of which he so long preached.

Death of Col. W. L. Saunders.

The announcement of the death of this distinguished North Carolinian which occurred at the Yarboro House in this city, this morning at 1:30 o'clock, will carry pangs of regret to the hearts of thousands throughout our State. Such has been the physical condition of Col. Saunders for several years past, that it is a matter of wonder that he has survived so long. In spite of this, however, there were lingering hopes that he might yet be spared for still more service to the grand old commonwealth he has so well and faithfully served. We are not in possession of sufficient facts to enter into full details of the life and character of the lamented deceased, and, hence, we must confine ourselves to such a limited sketch as our imperfect information will afford.

At the time of his death, Col. Saunders was in the 56th year of his age, having been born in Raleigh, July 30th, 1835. He was a graduate of the State University of the class of 1854, and was during life the firm and lasting friend of the Institution.

In 1856 he was admitted to the bar, having studied under that most learned jurist, Judge Battle. Up to the time of the breaking out of the Civil War he was a resident of Salisbury. He soon left the dry technicalities of the law to enter upon what seemed to him the more agreeable life of a journalist. He became one of the editors of the Salisbury Banner, in which capacity he served until his State called him to her defence. Passing over many of the events in his military career, it can be stated that he served in the most honorable capacity, having been twice wounded—once seriously. In 1873, in connection with his life long friend, Maj. J. A. Engelhard, he conducted the Wilmington Journal with singular ability. In 1876, he became connected with the Raleigh Observer, in connection with Maj. P. M. Hale. On the death of Maj. Engelhard, in 1879, Col. Saunders was appointed by Gov. Jarvis, Secretary of State, a position which he held at the time of his death.

But the main great act of his life was in the arrangement of the Colonial Records of North Carolina, a duty of pure disinterestedness, and one which has rescued from oblivion much historical information of great interest to the present and coming generation.

In a personal point of view we feel a delicacy in expressing all that we know of the grand character of the deceased. He has, perhaps been as great a sufferer as usually falls to the lot of humanity. In 1864 he led to the hyemial altar Miss Florida Call Cotton, daughter of Mrs. Laura P. Cotton. This estimable lady only survived her marriage about a year.

There were virtues in the life of the distinguished deceased, of a nature not to be unearthed. They are known to Him who rules the destinies of all. Charity which we are taught to believe covers a multitude of sins was a shining trait in his character, and truly could it be said that he dispensed it with a willing hand.

The remains were deposited in Christ Church today, and, we learn, will be taken to Tarboro tomorrow for burial.

Norris' Dry Goods Store.

With the blossoms and roses of spring, comes our grand display of dress goods and spring offerings—noted for novelty, artistic shadings and superior qualities. Encouraged by a flattering winter trade we anticipate an immense spring business. The condition of the country was never better, nor the farmer more independent, nor our offerings more profuse. We carry a large stock, great variety and make low prices. Close buyers, prove their economy by a rigid inspection of our stock; they are greeted with irresistible values and unconpromisingly low prices. Space forbids enumeration, but the stock in its entirety will meet the ordinary demand for female attire in its comprehensive term. Dollars invested with us means dimes saved in your pockets.

Comprehend Your Own Interest.

My dear friend, use your brain, assert your rights, let no man lead you, trade with no store for love or friendship, be a man or woman, be independent when it is merely business, make it your business to find out who are selling good, honest goods for the least money, regardless of whose store that is. (It is not the store or the man you want, but the goods.) Now dear friend the point we want to make, is, that if you will take the trouble to post yourself, and find out, you will find Swindell is selling good reliable goods some cheaper than any one else in Raleigh. Then at Swindell's you will probably find the largest stock of new spring goods in town and you know Swindell buys his goods for cash, and that he sells for cash and has no bad debts to loose; hence you do not have to pay for goods some one else got.

Our millinery department is complete; a competent artist to trim, and all the new things to trim.

Our dress goods department cannot be surpassed, and our clothing department is without an equal in Raleigh.

Yours truly,
D. T. SWINDELL.

Four Good Things.

DR. KING'S ROYAL GERMETUET differs from ordinary medicines in four very important things:

1. IT DOES NOT TASTE LIKE MEDICINE. It is as pleasant as lemonade, and, sweetened, makes a most refreshing drink. Persons who object to all other medicines take this with real pleasure, because it is good.

2. IT NEVER NAUSEATES. The most delicate stomach finds in this a perfect remedy without a single objection.

3. IT NEVER SWAPS OFF ONE DISEASE FOR ANOTHER. It does not set up one form of disease in order to relieve another, as is the case with so many deadly drugs.

4. IT DOES NOT PATCH SIMPLY. IT CURES. It reaches, as nothing else does, to the hidden sources of disease in the blood, and removes the cause. It does this with an ease and power that have never been equaled.

NATURE, in her secret laboratories, has never produced a finer chemical compound, nor imparted to one such matchless gifts of healing. It is absolutely without a rival or peer in its superb mastery of disease. It is truly, as Henry W. Grady said of it, "THE ULTIMA THULE OF MEDICINES."
