THE ITALIAN TROUBLE.

The impatience of the Italian government in regard to the New Orleans lynching is the most prominent feature in all the correspondence between the two governments. Baron Fava, the Italian Minister, has in the name of his government, made demand upon the United States that a fair legal process should be instituted against those who participated in the lynching at New Orleans, and that the obligation to pay indemnity to the families of the lynched men, be recognized. This the United States government has, as far as it can practically, without interfering with the constitutional rights of the State of Louisiana, agreed should be done. The reference made in the diplomatic correspondence, however, to the necessity of awaiting the action of the grand jury in New Orleans, was unsatisfactory to the Italian Minister, and he cabled his government that its instructions had been carried out, and that the Washington government had not fulfilled its duties as a civil government; that his presence was unnecessary at Washington.

Dispatches from Rome, of the 1st, state that influential Italians advise the Italian government to send a circular note to the friendly powers denouncing the United States as being confessedly unable to insure justice within its territory and as impotent to fill the duties of a civil government.

Others have suggested that the Italian government should break off all negotiations with the Washington government, and in the future, so far as the New Orleans lynchings are concerned, deal direct with the State of Louisiana, and that the latter's government should be held accountable.

Premier Di Rudini said to an Associated Press correspondent, at Rome: "The report that Americans have been insulted and arrested in Italy as the outcome of the present negotiations, is ridiculous and false. Americans always receive the best, kindest hospitality, both upon the part of the Italian government and the Italian people; both knowing perfectly the duties of a civilized country."

LONDON, April 1.—The St. James Gazette, commenting on the recall of Baron Fava, says: "If Italy is disposed to send her ironclads to the Mississippi, the Americans would have no ships to face the Lepanto and Dulio for forty minutes. The withdrawal of the Ambassador is the next thing to a declaration of war, and was evidently meant to convey to the United States information that Italy will not be trifled with."

"The Star says the United States are in an extremely difficult position, though the lynchings at New Orleans were justifiable. The withdrawal of Baron Fava is the easiest solution of the problem. The Globe thinks that the United States have been taught a vigorous lesson in diplomacy. They must learn that they cannot ignore Old World ideas."

and less punished than in any civilized country on the globe, a country from whose shores, more sneaking stealthy murderers, land in the United States than from all other civilized countries; that the Prime Minister of such a country should be canting about our impotency to fulfil the duties of a civil Government.

Our immigration laws have great need of being vigorously legislated upon. Our Government should be very cautious about allowing such people to come to our shores. This embargo with Italy may be turned to good account yet.

Italy's Next Move.

LONDON, April 2.—A dispatch from Rome says that the next move on the part of the Italian Government, should satisfaction not be given for the New Orleans tragedy, will be to place an embargo on American goods, and prohibit their importation into Italy. Much indignation exists in Rome against the vatican party for the utterance of the papal organ to the effect that the government was influenced by secret societies. The Clerics are said to be doing everything possible to weaken the prestige which the government has gained with the people by its action. With the exception of the Clerics, the newspapers without regard to party, support the government in its course.

Virginia's Resources to be Exhibited at Raleigh.

The Charlotte Gazette of Virginia, is moving to have a county display at the Southern Exposition. It is proposed to establish a permanent exhibit, at the General Headquarters of the Southern Immigration Bureau at Raleigh, where specimens of Southern industries and products may be found, and all matters illustrative of the resources of different sections may be deposited.

It is desired to secure the services of some one who will make an active canvass of this county and collect specimens of grain and other agricultural crops, grasses, woods, minerals, and manufactured goods, to be preserved in glass cases at the headquarters of the Bureau. It is desired that these specimens be forwarded within the next thirty days. It is also desired to collect a fund for the purpose of forwarding these specimens to Raleigh, and for this purpose we have left a subscription paper with B. P. Eggleston, the delegate from this county to the Asheville Convention, at the drug store in this village, for signatures.

This matter is in furtherance of the plan suggested at the Asheville Convention, and is designed to be a permanent exhibit of Southern resources, to invite attention to the resources of each particular section. It is hoped that special attention will be given to this matter, and that Charlotte county will be represented at the Southern Immigration Bureau.
