NEWS NOTES ABOUT THE CITY.

What Our Reporters See and Hear Worth Giving to Our Readers—News in Brief.

Let's have another mass meeting; there is fun in it.

The Domino Ball last night was a complete success. A large number of Raleigh's young people participated.

All the public buildings in the city are draped in mourning, in memory of Governor Fowle.

Thousands of people are on the streets today enjoying the beautiful spring weather.

The bell on the City Hall was tolled today in honor of our lamented Governor.

The fire at Bingham School is thought to be the work of an incendiary.

A knock down and drag out fight occurred on Fayetteville street last night about 9:30 o'clock. No damage except to noses and eyes.

The Harlequin party to have been given at Maj. Tucker's this evening will be postponed until Friday evening next.

Mr. Armistead Jones has been elected Attorney for the County of Wake, by the County Commissioners. Mr. Jones is an able lawyer.

The resolutions offered last night at the mass meeting were like new years resolutions; they didn't last long.

The city is mourning. Never before was there so much black and white bunting displayed on the public buildings and stores. The Chronicle and VISITOR offices were draped.

A handsome oil portrait of Gen. James G. Martin, was yesterday placed in the State Library. It was presented by his son Col. J. G. Martin, of Asheville.

Dr. Talmage is to meet with the North Carolina Teachers at Morehead this summer. It is expected that over 3,000 people will be in attendance.

As the VISITOR now has twice the largest list of subscribers of any other paper in the city, it would be well for advertisers to look well to their interest in advertising their goods &c. The VISITOR goes to nearly every house in the city. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Spring is here and all the ladies are thinking about getting a new bonnet. Miss Maggie Reese has an ad in this issue, which should be read by every reader of the paper. Miss Reese has the largest stock and greatest variety of millinery ever seen in this city. Her goods are all fresh and new and the very latest styles. Give her a call.

Postponed.

The performance of the Raleigh Amateur Minstrels has been postponed on account of the death of Governor Fowle.

Services are also held at 3:30 every afternoon and the public are invited.

The Meeting Last Night.

An adjourned meeting of citizens was held last night to receive the report of the committee appointed at a previous meeting for the purpose of deciding upon an election at which Democratic voters might express their choice for city officers. The report of the committee provided that on a certain day to be decided upon, an election be held at which Democratic voters be allowed to express their choice in separate ballot-boxes for the following officers: Mayor, Aldermen, Chief of Police, City Clerk and Tax Collector.

Mr. W. H. Sutton, who is a Republican thought everybody should be allowed to vote. The chair ruled that the meeting be confined to Democrats. After discussions by Mayor Thompson and others, Mr. D. Rosenthal moved to lay the report of the committee on the table which was carried. Thus the matter stands as at first, and the elections will be conducted as heretofore.

DEAD!

GOV. DANIEL G. FOWLE IS NO MORE.

The Old North State in Mourning.

At 11:30 o'clock last night, His Excellency, Daniel G. Fowle, Governor of North Carolina, died suddenly at the Executive Mansion on North Blount Street in this city. This was the sad intelligence that spread throughout the city late last night and caused the most profound sensation and the deepest regret. Scarcely had the people of North Carolina recovered from the shock caused by the death of the Secretary of State, when this additional blow comes with crushing effect.

PARTICULARS.

For some time past Governor Fowle had been suffering from indigestion, but this was not thought to be of sufficient gravity to cause alarm to his friends. He did not go to the Executive Office yesterday, but thought best to enjoy a day of quiet repose. Yesterday afternoon he left his bed and spent the evening up to 10:30 o'clock in hearing the lessons of his two younger children, Mary and Dan. He retired for the night in apparent usual health.

I FEEL FAINT.

About 11:15 o'clock the Governor rang the electric bell of his chamber. The call was answered by his daughter, Miss Helen, to whom the Governor said: "I feel faint." She saturated his head with water, and noticed that a sudden change for the worse had set in. His head soon fell back and he expired.

COUNCIL OF STATE.

The news was quickly spread throughout the city and Treasurer Bain, Secretary Coke, Auditor Sanderslin, Attorney General Davidson, Judges of the Supreme Court and others repaired to the Mansion where a council was held. A message was sent to Lieut. Gov. Holt who was advised to come hither at once and assume the powers of Governor.

A SHORT SKETCH.

Gov. Fowle was born in Washington, Beaufort county, March 3d, 1831, being just past his sixtieth year. He graduated at Princeton College, studied law under Judge Pearson, and settled in Raleigh in 1854. He first married Miss Helen Brent, daughter of Judge Pearson, who died in 1863 leaving two children, now Mrs. P. H. Andrews and Mrs. D. B. Avera. In January 1866, he married Miss Mary E. Haywood, daughter of the late Dr. F. J. Haywood, who died in 1886 leaving three children, Miss Helen, Miss Mary and Master Dan.

HIS RECORD.

During the administration of Gov. Vance, Gov. Fowle was Adjutant General of North Carolina. In 1864, he was elected to the House of Commons. At the close of the war he was appointed Judge of the Superior Court by Provisional Governor Holden, but soon resigned. The more recent facts of Gov. Fowle's career are too well known to our readers to require recital.

His loss will be deeply felt throughout North Carolina as it can be truly said that one of our great men has fallen.

He Captured the Dollar.

Much fun was caused on E. Hargett street yesterday by the wager of a dollar william, that a certain clerk couldn't climb a telephone pole sixty feet high. Mr. clerk off with his shoes and started on his perilous journey. When near the top he began to slip. Some one in the crowd remarked that his eyes were as large as pewter plates, another exclaimed that his feet looked like yams. With all his mishaps he gained the top of the pole, and now a clothing merchant is mourning the loss of his dollar william.

Well, you should buy your spring suit of clothes of Swindell, for many reasons; one reason, and the most important is, that you can get it for a great deal less money, and at the same time get as nice suit as you can get at any other store in Raleigh. Another reason is, you have about the largest stock in town to select from. Ladies should buy their dress goods and millinery goods from Swindell's, for the same reasons.
