NEWS NOTES ABOUT THE CITY.

What Our Reporters See and Hear Worth Giving to Our Readers—News in Brief

April showers seem to be the order of the day.

The Minstrels tomorrow night promises to be a grand success.

Bids have been called for building the new Union Depot. Track laying and grading goes merrily on.

Edenton Street church was again filled last night to hear Evangelist Fife. The singing is improving.

Dr. Hall preached to a crowded house at the Tabernacle last night. The meeting is growing in interest.

The Governor honored a requisition from the Governor of South Carolina this morning.

The large team of the Centennial graded school were did up in fine style yesterday by the small boys of the R. M. A. by a score of 52 to 18.

Special term Superior Court for Watanga county, term to begin June 22d, Hon. W. A. Hoke to preside.

Wood and coal is very scarce in these parts. You don't have to purchase but very little of either, to find your pockets quite full of emptiness.

Auditor Sanderlin left for Henderson today to deliver a lecture before the young people of that town. A rare treat is in store for them.

The Governor today made the following appointment: S. M. J. Robinson, to be commissioner of Wrecks, Dare county, 5th district, for a term of two years.

From engineer Hood who has the work in charge, comes the assurance that the new Union Depot would be ready for use by the opening of the Great Inter State Exposition.

The small boy is happy. He can now go bare footed. They should all have a good lecture on profanity, when they first take off their shoes. They will cuss when they stomp their toes.

Another large crowd attended Edenton street Methodist church last night, where Evangelist Fife is holding a series of meetings. The services are of the most interesting character and the religious interest is on the increase.

Tonight, twenty six years ago, Abraham Lincoln was assassinated in Ford's Theatre, Washington City, by J. Wilkes Booth. The news was received in Raleigh on April 15th, and we will in our issue of tomorrow give some of the incidents of the occasion.

On yesterday we were shown a Onija Board. We worked old man Onija for all he was worth. He told us our name, our age and answered nearly every question put to him. He is certainly a curiosity; if you care to have your fortune told, don't fail to try a Onija Board. It is a good pastime, and affords a plenty of innocent amusement.

Capt. E. R. Stamps.

We deeply regret to announce that this gentleman was paralyzed yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock in Tarboro, where he was attending the Presbyterian Synod. A dispatch from Tarboro received in this city yesterday afternoon by the State Chronicle says:

"Capt E. R. Stamps fell suddenly in Howard, Pender & Co's., store this morning with an attack of cerebral congestion. He was taken to Judge Howard's residence, where medical aid was immediately summoned. He is resting more quietly tonight and hopes are now entertained that he may recover."

The intelligence was a sad blow to the many friends of Capt. Stamps in Raleigh. We sincerely hope that he may recover.

The latest news is that Capt. Stamps is some better.

The Surrender of Raleigh.

A REMINISCENCE.

[CONCLUDED]

The writer would state, just here, that it was hoped by all of us, that General Frank Blair would be the man to whom it should fall our lot to surrender the city, because he had in early manhood, been a friend and fellow student of Dr. Raywood at Chapel Hill, and we naturally thought, that old associations would have some weight towards securing favorable terms.

The officer with his escort then returned to the main body of troops who had halted on the brow of the hill, doubtless awaiting the result. But a very short time elapsed, when a body of men, considerably larger than the first, were seen rapidly approaching. Coming up, a small sized man encased in a rubber overcoat and overalls of the same material (for it continued to rain) dismounted and turned the reins of his horse over to an orderly. This man was General Judson Kilpatrick, the notorious Federal cavalry commander. At this juncture Mr. Rayner stepped forward and said:

"This is General Kilpatrick I presume."

"That is my name," replied Kilpatrick, "whom do I address?"

"My name, Sir, is Rayner, Kenneth Rayner," replied our spokesman, "and I have been selected to formally surrender the city of Raleigh, the capital of our State, to Gen. Sherman's army."

"I have frequently heard of you, Sir."

"I am glad to make your acquaintance Sir," replied Kilpatrick, extending his hand.

Mr. Rayner then introduced him to each of the committee. After a pause of a few moments, Mr. Rayner addressed Kilpatrick in a short and feeling speech, the substance of which was about as follows:

He said, that by the fortunes of war our beautiful city had been uncovered and the lives and property of its citizens were at the mercy of an invading army; that the flower of its manhood were either following the war path under their respective commands or had fallen upon the field of battle; that those of the inhabitants who were left were non-combatant males and helpless women and children that our city contained two asylums, one for the insane and one for the deaf and dumb and the blind, the unfortunate inmates of which had special claims upon his protection; that our State Capitol was a beautiful specimen of architecture, the destruction or mutilation of which, while it could not in any manner add to the chance of the success of the Federal arms, would devolve great loss upon the State and be a severe mortification to the people and, finally; that he asked for our people all the leniency usually in vogue among the most civilized nations in similar emergencies. This speech was delivered by Mr. Rayner in the most emotional manner. The speaker, as well as the others of the committee found it difficult to repress their feelings. Tears moistened the eyes of all. Some cried freely. Kilpatrick stood with head bent during the time, but seemed to receive the words of the speaker with cold indifference. In response, he said he would protect the lives and property of all who yielded obedience to law and order, and who recognized the "old flag" of the country, but that he should pursue to the bitter end, and with relentless fury, all traitors in armed opposition to the integrity of the Union. The speech abounded in excessive egotism and the pronoun "I" was pronounced with italicized emphasis.

At a later period the substance of his remarks was communicated to a Federal officer of equal rank with Kilpatrick, who immediately replied that "Kilpatrick was looked upon throughout the army as a most consummate braggart."

At the conclusion of the formalities incident to the occasion, Kilpatrick requested the committee to return, stating that he would at once send an advance detachment for the purpose of taking possession of the State House and hoisting the National flag thereon. Acting under this suggestion, the committee re-entered the carriage and started back to town.

Board of Aldermen.

A meeting of the Board was held last night, to consider a request of the several railroad companies, erecting the Union Depot, to grant them five and a half feet on the north side of Martin Street, so as to avoid a change of plans for construction, etc. After some discussion the request was granted.

Manteo Lodge, No. 8, I. O. O. F.

Holds its regular session on this evening, and will confer the second degree. Other matters of importance to every member will be considered. A full attendance is earnestly desired. Come.

Copyists Appointed.

Gov. Holt has appointed the following ladies and gentlemen to go to Washington City for the purpose of copying the names on the stubs from which the direct tax receipts were issued: Mr. A. L. DeRosset, Mr. David Anderson, Miss Annie Jones, of Wilmington, Mrs. Minnie Haywood Bagley, and Miss Burkhead, of Goldsboro.

Johnston's Memorial Day.

W. P. Smith, Grand Commander of the Confederates Veterans of Virginia has addressed a letter to Col. Julian S Carr, President of the North Carolina Veterans Association, requesting his co operation in making April 26th 1891 at 5 o'clock a memorial day in honor of the late Gen. Joseph E. Johnston. To this, Col. Carr has responded as follows:

HEADQUARTERS OF N. C. VETERANS' ASSOCIATION.

Comrades of North Carolina Veterans Association:

In agreement with the above, I invite the Confederate Veterans of North Carolina to take suitable action, in their respective communities to carry the above patriotic purpose into effect.

Respectfully,

J. S. CARR,

President of North Carolina Veterans' Association.

Personal Mention.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Watkins and daughter have gone to Tarboro.

Mr. A. W. Dennis, of Durham is in the city visiting friends.

Mr. S. J. Betts left for his home at Bayone city, N. J. today.

Mr. Wm. H. Walker, of Henderson, is in the city.

Mr. Wm. H. Carter, of Wilson, is here.

Dr. J. B. Dunn is convalescing quite slowly, but, we hope, surely.

Gov. Holt returned to the city yesterday afternoon.

We are pleased to learn that the condition of C. B. Root, Esq., has considerably improved. We hope he may be out soon.

Mr. C. M. Busbee, the Grand Sire of the I. O. O. F., has gone to Richmond to attend the Grand Lodge. A royal time will be given him.

We deeply regret to state that our highly esteemed friend R. W. Wynne, Esq., is quite sick at the residence of his son, W. W. Wynne, Esq., corner of Elm street and Oakwood Avenue.

What is the Use?

What is the use for you to pay more money for goods than Swindell is selling them? If you can go to Swindell's and get a dress and all the trimmings for $8, then is there any reason why you should go to some other place and pay $7 for the very same kind of dress and the same kind of trimmings? Well, you are ready to say no; but this is just what you are doing every day. If you can go to Swindell's and get a nice suit of clothes for $10, is there any good reason why you should go to some other store and pay $15 for a suit no better? If you can go to Swindell's and buy a carpet for 50 cts per yard, is it good judgment to go to some other place and pay more for inferior carpets? Now this kind of poor judgment is brought to our attention every day. In our dress goods department we have instructed our salesmen to sell nice dress goods regardless of the cost.

Yours truly,

D. T. SWINDELL.

Spring is Here,

and W. G. Separk is fully abreast of the times. He has in his establishment the finest selection of spring goods ever brought to this city. The best of it is, he is selling goods at such prices as are bound to attract the attention of the public. Just think of it. Ladies' nice shoes of first class make, only $2.00 unlaundried shirts at 50 and 75 cents, and laundried shirts at $1.00. All other goods at corresponding low prices and of as good quality as can be found in the State. Let our people call at Separk's and judge for themselves. Remember the place.

GENTLEMEN.—Don't forget that you can buy of us all the leading shapes of E and W collars, that you can get Virgoe, Middleton & Co., English made collars 3 for 50c. and there are no better wearing collars manufactured than these. Remember that our stock of dress shirts is all that it should be, and that our shirts for full dress, are in greater variety than ever before, and we have got some of the nobbiest styles that you have laid your eyes on. Now if you haven't bought a new hat this spring come and get a Dunlap, you can't get Dunlaps hats anywhere else in Raleigh, except of us, and none of the hat manufacturers beat Dunlap in either styles or quality.

A WORD ABOUT SHOES.

The moderate prices for such excellent qualities which we have uniformly placed on every pair of our shoes generates an enthusiasm among bargain hunters which has greatly increased our trade. It is the popular place now for good honest, serviceable shoes in all styles of last, of any cut, for all ages, of either sex. The new prices and new styles make Norris' shoe department a general resort for footwear. A customer once obtained is always held—because they get the truth about every pair of shoes they buy and a guarantee of satisfaction.
