LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

RALEIGH, N. C., MAY 13, 1891.

The Wilmington Star says:

"The South and West are taking vastly more interest in the world's fair to be held at Chicago than the older states of the north and east seem to be doing. If the fair is a success it will be due to the efforts of the first named sections.

The VISITOR doesn't think this is to be wondered at, at all. The idea in exhibiting at fairs and expositions is to attract immigration to the sec tion exhibiting. By the recent occurrences at New Orleans and elsewhere, the desire for foreign immi gration has received a set back. The north has for long years looked to no other source for immigration than foreign countries, hence, the reasons for them to exhibit does not exist as heretofore. While the south is looking almost entirely to the north and west for immigration and those sections are aware of it. It is to be hoped that the south will make a grand success so far as she can. It is our interest to be there with all our attractions.

From Tragedy to Comedy.

Mrs. Mary Buckholtz, the three weeks old bride of William Buckholtz living on Second street, near O'Donnell, in Baltimore county, while in a despondent mood Sunday night drank a small quantity of a mixture of arsenic and morphine. Her husband hurriedly summoned Dr. Robert Luck, the druggist, corner of Clinton and Elliott streets, who after giving her an emetic, advised that she be walked about for awhile. The excited husband took her in hand and gave an exhibition of pedestrianism on a lot near his home, which, being free, attracted quite a large crowd of interested spectators. The exhibition lasted 15 minutes, and fully 1,000 people looked on.

By midnight the bride of three weeks had recovered sufficiently to be taken home. Last night she and her husband visited one of the theatres and laughed as heartily as anyone in the audience.

Held up by Masked Men.

GUTHRIE, O. T., May 10 .- The south bound passenger train on the Santa Fe road was held up last night by five masked men. The gang is supposed to have been the notorious Dalton boys, who have been seen in this neighborhood recently. They boarded the train at Wharton and detached the engine and express car and then proceeded two miles south and robbed the express car of all the money it contained. It is believed that the amount stolen is not very large. The passengers were not molested, but a more frightened lot cannot be imagined. The bandits informed them when they proceeded down the train to the engine and express car that they were to remain within the coaches in order to secure themselves. They obeyed.

A New York Judge Renders a Decision in Favor of the R. S. Peale Reprint of the Encyclopædia Britanica.

New York Special.

Judge Wallace, in the United States Circuit Court has rendered a decision refusing to grant an injunction against the Ehrich Bros., to restrain them from selling the "Encyclopædia Britanica," published by R. S. Peale & Co., of Chicago. The complainants are the firm of Black & Co., publish ers of the original work at Edinburg. Scotland. In his decision Judge Wallace holds the right to use the contents of the original edition, except such portions of them as are covered by copyrights, secured by American authors. The defendant's work, he finds, has substituted new articles for these copyrighted ones.

This decision is a square set back to the book trust, and directly in the interest of education and general in telligence. As an educational factor in every household, no work in al literature is so important and desirable as this King of Encyclopædias of which it has been said that "If al other books should be destroyed, the Bible excepted, the world would lose very little of its information." Until recently its high cost has been a bar to its popular use, the price being $5 per volume, $125 for the set in the cheapest binding. But last year the publishing firm of R. S. Peale & Co., of Chicago, issued a new reprint of this great work at the marvelous price of $1.50 per volume. That the public were quick to appreciate so great a bargain is shown by the fact that over half a million volumes of this reprint were sold in less than six months. It is the attempt of the proprietors of the high priced edition to stop the sale of this low priced edition, which Judge Wallace has effectually squelched by his decision. We learn that R. S. Peale & Co have perfected their edition, correcting such minor defects as are inevitable in the first issue of so large a work and not only do they continue to furnish it at the marvelously low price quoted above, but they offer to deliver the complete set at once, on small easy payments to suit the convenience of customers. It is a thoroughly satisfactory edition, printed on good paper, strongly and handsomely bound and has new maps, later and better than any edition.-We advise all who want this greatest and best of all Encyclopædias to get particulars from the publishers, R. S. Peale & Co., of Chicago.

Her Temperature Reached 158

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 12 .- One of the most extraordinary cases in medical annals is that of Miss Tolleson, a student at a leading institution in this city. The young lady was attacked with tonsilitis a few days ago her temperature rising to 106 and then to 108, her death being momentarily expected, but, to the utter consternation of the attending physicians, her temperature continued to rise steadily to 158 Fahrenheit, break ing the record, also several thermometers, which could not record any higher. Strangest of all is the fact that the young lady is improving and may recover. There is but one par allel case on record, that of a victim of peritonitis at Omaha, Neb., whose temperature reached 152 degrees.
