NEWS NOTES ABOUT THE CITY.

What Our Reporters See and Hear Worth Giving to Our Readers—News in Brief

Attention is called to the advertisement of the Covenant Building and Loan Association.

The sheriff of Cumberland county brought several convicts to the penitentiary today.

Several colored persons were baptized in Dr. Lewis' pond just beyond the city last Sunday.

Mr. John T. Davis was the lucky competitor at the prize drill of the Governors Guard last night.

A case of disorderly conduct was promptly dealt with by the Mayor this morning.

Tomorrow being a legal holiday, all the State departments and banks will be closed.

Some fine specimens of gold ore can be seen at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court. It was found near the neighborhood of Cary.

The mad dog scare has not abated much in the western part of this county. Several rabid animals are reported around Cary and Morrisville.

For boys clothing Whiting Bros., cannot be surpassed in North Carolina. Read their advertisement in this issue.

The next Superior court in Wake county will not convene until September. It will be for the trial of criminal causes only.

Is there anything being done looking to the establishment of the Odd Fellows Orphan Asylum in Raleigh? It would be a most desirable institution for our city.

Railroad men are here in numbers all looking after the interest of their respective lines in connection with the decisions of the Railroad Commission.

Talk about the electric street railway has been suspended. We hear very little about it, but presume work will soon commence.

The literary address at the commencement of Greensboro Female College, will be delivered by Gen. R. B. Vance. The commencement takes place May 26th to 28th.

A considerable crowd from this city, anticipate attending the celebration at Charlotte, tomorrow. The fare is low, and the trip will no doubt be a delightful one.

The teachers of the First Baptist church Sunday School have under consideration a picnic at an early day. The place has not been decided upon, but will probably be either Oxford or Greensboro.

We hope our worthy city fathers will not let the matter of an auditorium slumber. Their predecessors, took the initiative; now let the scheme be pushed forward to an early success. The interest of our people demand it.

There is very little doing now in the Real Estate line in Raleigh and vicinity. In this respect the Registrar of Deeds is having a most quiet time. Perhaps the building of the electric railway will spur up operations some. It ought to.

The Sanitary officers are determined to do their entire duty in the matter of looking after the cleanliness of the city. It would be well for those whose lots are encumbered with refuse matter, to be on the look out and have the proper remedies applied. The health of our city is too precious to be endangered by neglect. The warm season will soon be upon us and delays may be dangerous.

The colored base ball clubs of Durham and Raleigh had a match game this afternoon at Athletic Park. It is in progress as we go to press.

The market this morning was flooded with strawberries of the finest varieties. We saw some nearly as large as hen eggs, they were cheap too, only ten cents a quart.

C. O. Ball & Co., one of Raleigh's enterprising young grocery firms have removed from No. 11 to No. 7 East Hargett street, W. B. Mann & Co's old stand. These gentlemen make this move in order to get more room for their increasing business.

It is requested that all contributions made to the Oxford Orphan Asylum during the session of the Kings' Daughters be sent to Mrs. W. S. Black, Oxford.

Almost time to be talking about the Fourth of July. What a glorious thing it would be if we could have the electric street railway ready by that time and have a general jubilee over it. It might be, if pushed at once.

Died.

Last night at 11:40 o'clock at her residence 215, West Lane street of peritonitis Mrs. Lizzie J. Separk, wife of Mr. W. D. Separk, aged 31 years. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn their loss, with whom we deeply sympathize.

The funeral will take place from the First Baptist church at 10 a. m. to-morrow, Wednesday the 20th. The friends and acquaintances of the family are invited to be present.

Father Boyle.

It is stated that the editor of the Martinsburg, W. Va. Herald has written to a prominent gentleman of this city, which says: "I am threatened with a suit for saying that worldly living caused the downfall of Rev. J. J. Boyle in Raleigh in 1890. Could you tell me how to get correct evidence as to his moral and social standing and behavior in Raleigh."

A Vast Crowd Attend Daily.

Almost every minute of the day you will find a large crowd attending the great slaughter dress goods sale that is now going on at Swindell's great emporium, and there are a great many that live too far away to attend, and who send us their orders for nice dresses, which always receives our prompt and careful attention. It will certainly be to the interest of every one wishing anything in nice dress goods, to examine our mammoth stock before making their selection, as we are now offering our entire stock of fine dress goods at less than one half its real value. In our millinery department we are constantly receiving new attractions of the very latest and most fashionable styles in millinery goods, in this department. We are now prepared to please any lady wishing a nice stylish hat. We are now showing a large and elegant assortment of white goods in all styles, and each piece is a genuine bargain. When you want anything in clothing, gents furnishing goods, hats, carpets, straw matting, or shoes and slippers at a real bargain you can always find it at our great emporium
D. T. SWINDELL.

Cloverdale Dairy Farm.

We took advantage of the delightful weather and a favorable opportunity yesterday, for an "outing" which we spent on the splendid and admirably conducted "Cloverdale Dairy Farm," owned by Dr. R. H. Lewis, and now under lease by those enterprising and accommodating gentlemen, Messrs. Davis and Bradshaw. We were taken in charge by Mr. Davis, the senior member of the firm, and we can truly say we have never spent a more pleasant or more instructive day. The farm is situated about two and a half miles beyond the city limits, lying to the left of the village of Oberlin on the waters of Beaver Dam Creek. Those acquainted with the locality fifteen or twenty years ago, or even later, no doubt will remember the rocky, barren waste, apparently unfitted for any cultivation whatever. Those who visit the premises now must be struck by the magical change. It can be said that the place has been made to "bloom as a rose" under the hands of skill and industry. As far as the eye can reach can be seen broad acres of clover and grasses, besides immense fields of grapes and other products.

But, the most attractive feature of the place is the "Dairy house" situated over a cool, bold branch which furnishes the motive power for running the machinery used for the separation of the milk and cream. The machine, wonderful to relate, makes eight thousand revolutions a minute. After the separation the milk is ready to the calves. The cream is readily sold at fifty cents a quart when sold by the single quart, but reductions are made when engaged in large quantities. Mr. Davis informed us that he turns out from six to eight hundred pounds of butter a month, which he hopes to increase at no distant day. The butter is rapidly engaged at forty cents per pound and, it is really worth it, for no such is rarely ever seen in our market. It is put up in blocks of a pound and half pound each, and packed as closely as if it had gone through a compress. There are, we learned, on the farm about 63 cows and calves. About thirty cows are regularly milked every day.

In addition to the dairy, Messrs. Davis & Bradshaw are paying great attention to the fruits of the vine of which they have a large acreage. We are pleased to know that the outlook for a tremendous crop is splendid, and about fifty tons of fruit will be shipped the present season. Taken altogether, we spent a most delightful time, and we cannot close without tendering to the proprietors our obligations for the courtesies extended us. We hope for them the most unbounded success, and if they receive the merit due to their energy they will most surely secure it.

Our Fine Furniture.

We are now showing some of the handsomest furniture ever exhibited in this city. Parlor suits, upholstered in Tapestry and Brocatelle, Louis XVI Chairs, &c. The class of furniture here shown is different from that ever before displayed in Raleigh, and we extend a cordial invitation to our friends in the city and near by to come and see this most creditable exhibition.
