Edgerton Snuff in bottles, cans and bladders at C. O. Ball Co., Hargett street.

The Raleigh Male Academy.

We must not omit to notice the closing exercises, on Friday last, of the Raleigh Male Academy, Messrs. Morson and Denson, Principals. Many of our most eminent citizens were present. The oration was to have been delivered by Wm. S. Primrose, Esq., on "The Halcyon Days of Youth," but the sad family affliction of which our readers are aware, prevented his attendance. The principals gave an account of the labors of the school for the past year in its many and varied departments. It had maintained its high standard of scholarship, and had enjoyed its most successful year, having an enrollment of 120 pupils. A number of these are from the country, chiefly from Wake. A very gifted class is ready for college, some of whom have completed the freshman course, and many others have taken a thorough business course. Five of its students had graduated at the University the day before—Messrs. Andrews, Ashe, Fleming, G. Graham and P. Graham. The list of distinctions were read, and Rev. N. B. Cobb presented the certificates of honor. Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall made a most admirable impromptu address, in which, after expressing his pleasure at the superb organization and management of the school, and the lofty demeanor of the pupils as scholars and gentlemen, he attributed its success to the true cause, the close individual training which each pupil receives for the development of his powers. He paid an eloquent tribute to the principals, and warmly congratulated the patrons of the school and the city upon the existence of an institution which, in the opinion of the professors of the colleges, is not excelled in the results it receives in moral and mental training anywhere in the country. We understand that the prospects for next year are bright, and the opening will occur on the first Monday in September.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.

Correspondence of the VISITOR.
As a member of the Raleigh Baptist Tabernacle Sunday School and as one of the managers of an excursion given by them the 26 inst. I desire to express through the columns of your paper my appreciation of the services rendered by P. J. Brown, of the R & D. R. R., and in doing so, I say without the slightest hesitation, that I voice the sentiment of the entire party, (who was cognizant of the service he rendered on our homeward trip,) that but for his vigilance and efficient service, instead of reaching Raleigh at 2:30 in the morning, it is highly probable we would have been somewhere on the road when the sun rose next morning. Capt. Brown was not only attentive on his own road, but equally so on the Atlantic and North Carolina.

It is not our desire to detract from any one else connected with the roads, but we want Peyton to know that we especially appreciated his services on that occasion and that this is not the sentiment of "B" only, but that of scores of others B.

A Handsome Testimonial.

A memorial in the shape of a brass and silver altar cross has been placed in Christ Church commemorative of Aldert Smedes and his wife, Mrs. Sarah Lyell Smedes. Mr. Smedes is well remembered by our elder citizens as the beloved principal of St. Mary's school, in which capacity he was succeeded by his son, Rev. Bennett Smedes, the present principal. The inscription engraved on the base of the cross is: "To the glory of God. In living remembrance of Aldert Smedes and his wife, Sarah Lyell Smedes. Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints."
